PARENTS SEE WORK OF SHS STUDENTS DURING NATIONAL EDUCATION WEEK

Students Take Pledge As Sodality of Mary

"To consecrate ourselves to a lifelong service in the Sodality of the Blessed Virgin Mary" was the prayer in the hearts of all the candidates Wednesday, Dec. 5, as they were received into the Sodality.

The Sodality, which is especially dedicated to the Immaculate Conception was increased in membership when 23 candidates were found worthy of this great privilege after Father Ryan interrogated them and found them correctly disposed.

Grades 7 and 8 Present "Birth of the Carol"

To set forth the true meaning and origin of Christmas carols, the seventh and eighth grades will present "The Birth of the Carol" at the December PTA meeting on Friday evening, Dec. 21.

Four living tableaux are interspersed with narrations by Wm. Ryan and singing of carols by a vested choir. The first tableau presents the nativity scene with Patricia Keller and David Longergan in the roles of Blessed Mother and St. Joseph. As on the first Christmas night Angels, —Sharon Shuster, Julie Alex and Ro Carol Tornabane—appear in the second tableau to pay homage to the Baby Jesus.

Shepherds — Dennis Murphy, Kirby Flanagan, and Herman Schmidt—come to see the new born Babe.

Bringing gifts of gold, frankincense, and myrrh, three wise men — Michael Pestotnik, Richard Barry and Terry Ferry—follow the star to the manger and Christ the King.

Pianists for the presentation are Alice Kay Carver, Susan

In observance of the annual National Education Week, Sacred Heart held open house for all parents and friends.

Peter Fleming welcomed the parents, who assembled for a planned tour of the class rooms. Senior girls, Rosalie Day, Marilyn Fitzgerald and Eileen Ryan acted as ushers while two junior girls, Delores Headley and Patricia Lacey were in charge of the guest book.

TV was the medium chosen by the first graders to present a program of modern art featuring drawings of various domestic animals.

Smoke and flying cinders were on the program of the second grade as they boarded a Religion train.

Speed in addition and spelling was on the roster in the second and third grades with the second taking spelling and the third highlighting in the numeral column.

Three-dimensional art was the attraction in third and fourth. Since Thanksgiving was just around the corner, these youngsters designed turkeys. Profiles of each child were drawn by Sister Mary Baptiste and hung on the bulletin board with initials attached for identification.

Proceeding to grades five and six, the tourists enjoyed a dramatic reading in which many of the students took part.

The pinks proved to be the winners in the mental arithmetic contest in grades seven and eight.

As part of their world history lesson, the ninth and tenth grades featured Hannibal's crossing of the Alps.

Displaying the new physics equipment was the main objective of the junior-senior physics class as students performed informative experiments in the science of physics.

Kane, and Sue Cooper. In charge of lighting is Don Garvey; Bill Selzer has charge of props and curtain.

Choir members will wear new robes of bright red material with full skirts, long flowing sleeves, and a white linen blouse. To touch off the gay colors a green bow will be worn at the neck of the robe.

New Adult Choir Opens Christmas With Carols

Before the six o'clock Mass on Christmas morning, the newly organized adult choir will herald the celebration of Christmas by singing Christmas carols.

As Mass begins the high school choir will sing the Mass of the Holy Rosary, and during the distribution of Holy Communion, the hymns: "Birthday Of A King," "O Holy Night," and "When Blossoms Flowered Mid the Snow."

Organists for the high school choir are Delores Headley and Coleen Bennett.

Noel Jones Coaches SHHS Basketball

Noel Jones, a graduate of Westmar College, LeMars, Ia., where he lettered in football, baseball, and track, has accepted the position of basketball coach at Sacred Heart High for the 1956-57 season.

After coaching at Graettinger and Lake City, Coach Jones came to Boone in 1947. From 1947 to 1949 Jones coached girls' basketball at Boone High and since then has been in charge of junior high football and ninth grade basketball in addition to helping with sophomore football.

As a teacher, Jones is in charge of both carpentry and machine shop at Boone High.

CSMS Unit Launches Seven New Projects

At the first CSMS meeting of the year seven projects were launched by the Sacred Heart unit. Peter Fleming, chairman of the month, welcomed the freshmen into the club.

Santa will be welcomed into the Indian orphanage at Winnebago, Neb., as a result of the Butternut coffee strips saved by the students of SHS. The idea of the club is that the coffee strips be saved and then sent to the Butternut Company. Then the company sends gifts to a designated charitable institution in sufficient number that each child will be remembered on Christmas. On Dec. 15, the day on which the strips were mailed, 1,846 strips had been collected. 475 of these from second and third grade put these young missionaries out in front, and 411 from the zealous third and fourth grades won second place for that group. In charge of this project were Pat Donovan and Mary Sue Rolfe.

Prayers for missions are also an important part of mission work. Each Tuesday the students gather in the church at 12:15 to say a rosary for the missions. Chairmen for this project are Eileen Ryan and Mary Kay Keller, who lead the rosary on these days.

Pat Brice and Rosalie Day, chairmen of the cancelled stamps drive, reported that 3,756 stamps have been turned in by the grades. In collections, 1,425 put the first and second in the lead followed by the fifth and sixth with 645 stamps.

Plans for the White Elephant Sale to be held in January were presented to the students at the second meeting of the CSMS conducted by Beth Fangman, chairman for the month. Duke Conway and Cecelia Hick head the committee for this project.

Reports on other projects will appear in the next issue of Listening In.

In the above picture are the second grade trainmen as they presented their "Religion Train" for the Education Week open house.

GIVE BIRTHDAY BACK TO CHRIST!

As the Christmas season approaches all children seem to be in their best behavior. The idea that Santa Claus is generous to those who are good is very real to them. As a child's mother tells him the story of the first Christmas he feels very close to the Child Jesus who was a Babe in Bethlehem. The story is never repeated too many times for the child.

For many children, as the myth of Santa fades from their minds, the spiritual side of Christmas also diminishes. Christ is being left out of the day which is celebrated only because it is His birthday. From the humble surroundings of His birth has arisen one of the greatest commercial ventures the world has ever known.

As Catholics, we should put Christ back into Christmas. Let this Christmas of 1956 be a challenge to us. If each of us could bring Christ back into Christmas for just one other person, this Christmas would indeed be a happy one for Christ.

New Year Brings New Hope Through Resolutions!

With the coming of the New Year, we like to reminisce over the past year's joys and sorrows.

New hope is born in our souls as we let the old year die permitting backward glances at our past faults and failures to serve only as stepping stones to our resolutions to avoid making the same mistakes in the new year.

Resolutions should be expressions of hopes we have in the new year. Many do not think of them in this way, but consider them as jokes to be spoken of flippantly and forgotten as soon as last year's Christmas tree ornaments.

When making resolutions for 1957 two good rules to follow are: First, make very few resolutions—in fact, one sound resolution that will set a tone for our whole life is enough. Next, think of all the reasons there are for keeping this particular resolution.

So, let's let the old year die with a fond good-bye, and keep our hopes in 1957 as high as a kite.

TIMELY TOPICS

to visit Sacred Heart. Yes, that's right; Santa is scheduled to visit Sacred Heart this year just as this release from the Claus Courier states.

Arriving after a two hour's journey from the North Pole, Santa will come to the school hall to visit all the children.

The PTA has asked Santa to bring enough treats for everyone.

Deck the Halls with Polyhedrons . . .

is the song the geometry class has in mind as its members fashion and design ornaments for the traditional tree. With all the class rooms overflowing with Christmas spirit some is bound to spread into the halls where a large Christmas tree receives beauty, sparkle, and glitter from tetrahedron, hexahedrons, octahedrons, dodecahedrons, icosahedron in assortments of Christmas colors and variations.

Getting into the Spirit . . .

of Christmas was not a hard job around Sacred Heart this year.

Two weeks before Christmas decorations in the form of bulletin boards and cribs depicting the Nativity scene, as well as the traditional Christmas trees began to appear in the classrooms.

Silhouettes of Nativity scenes are found on the bulletin boards in Sister Mary Gabrielle's, Sister Mary St. David's rooms, and in the typing room. Formed around the statue of the Blessed Virgin are cribs in the third and fourth grades, Sister Mary Dolorine's and the freshman-sophomore room. On the first floor in front of the school office is a crib complete with lights. In the first and second grade room is the only other complete crib.

To keep everyone in the mood for Christmas and to keep the festive spirit high, beautiful carols echo through the halls as classes gather at the main crib to sing carols and to pray for world peace. Christmas is literally "busting out all over" Sacred Heart this year.

The Freshman Boys . . .

Mr. Jeffrey Clark . . .

Journalism Director at the State University of Iowa, visited the junior-senior class at Sacred Heart to discuss their school paper with them.

Pointing out the most common errors which appear in high school papers in general, Mr. Clark gave the journalists pointers on writing and producing a worthwhile school newspaper. He also gave solutions to problems which the students presented to him.

"Romans Capture . . .

chariot-racing title. Greeks despondent at losing."

Capturing the life of a Roman or Greek and his actions was the difficult task of the freshman-sophomore classes as they drew up papers in the style of the Greek and Roman days.

Variety as well as artistic ability was expressed in the papers. Outstanding were those edited by Janet Barger, Annette Carroll, Karen Fitzgerald, Mike Fitzgerald, Michelle Miover, and Joe Tornabane.

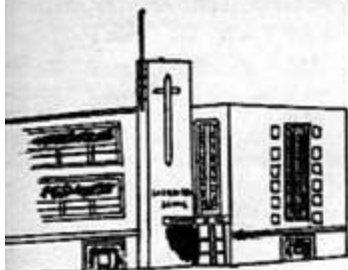

Once each month in the school hall lunch is served cafeteria style by the P.T.A. A different group of mothers help with the lunch each time. Pictured above are: Mrs. Carroll, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Fitzgerald, and Mrs. Hick.

Boys Outnumber Girls in SHHS

Statistics show that for the first time in a great number of years the boys outnumber the girls in Sacred Heart High by 3 1/2%.

The biggest odds are in the senior class with 67% boys and 33% girls. In the junior-senior room, also, the boys outrank the girls by 8 1/2%.

There are high hopes among the girls that odds will continue to grow with the years.

THEY WERE HERE

JUNIORS-SENIORS EDIT FIRST SCHOOL PAPER

In September, 1904, the junior-senior classes had thought that publishing a monthly newspaper or magazine was a wonderful idea.

November, 1904, brought the first edition of "The Echo," first school paper at Sacred Heart, to the students and public.

Chosen to staff the paper were: Editor-in-chief Winifred Scanlin Manager . . . Blanche Korengor Literary Editor . . . Sadie Stevens Treasurer . . . Helen C. Jordan Advertising Manager . . . Lola Matt Assistants . . . Jennie Matt, Helen C. Jordan, Alice Rogers, Mary Lacey, Alice Matt, Baptiste Coppoc, Gertrude Lynch, Mildred McConehey, Irene Conway.

J. C. Petersen Helps Sponsor "The Echo"

In 1904 as well as in 1956, the school paper was dependent upon advertisers. At that time J. C. Petersen ran this ad:

TRADE MARK REGISTERED

J.C. PETERSEN CO.

BOB GARVEY ASSUMES PROJECTIONIST DUTIES

Projectionist at Sacred Heart this year is Bob Garvey, a senior student in physics. As a part of his job, Bob operates the projector when the News Magazine of the Screen is shown to the student body.

After school and on Saturdays Bob can be found working at Boesens. It is a well-known fact that Bob likes Chevys and wouldn't take a Ford if someone gave one to him.

Next fall Bob plans to enroll at Iowa State College or the local Junior College to pursue a course in engineering.

SHHS SPARTANS LAUNCH NEW ATHLETIC ERA

St. Edmond's Game

With but a few weeks of practice, the Sacred Heart Spartans launched a new athletic era as they opened the basketball season against St. Edmond's Junior Varsity.

Ed Brice, Duke Conway, Dan Garvey, Jerry Cooper, and Larry Conway formed the starting squad for the Spartans.

Shooting was the main weakness of the Spartans; however, they did yeoman-like service in the rebound category.

Soph forward Cooper popped in nine points and was a tower of strength under the boards. Duke Conway tallied 11 points to lead the scoring column. Center Ed Brice held his own in the rebound department.

Musical Thoughts Come As Snow Brings Santa

"It's a Marshmallow World" we find our friends in as we look in on them at the "Winter Wonderland" park. Some are skating while others are sitting by the fire doing a little "Christmas Dreaming" of a "White Christmas" with "Jingle Bells" and "Santa Claus Comin' To Town." Little Jimmy is "Singing The Blues" because he is afraid "Santa Won't Get His Letter" and fill his order for "Two Front Teeth" that he lost when he bumped into a door in his sleep. And Jimmy's sister says, "Let It Snow" because she wants "Frosty The Snowman to stick around a little longer. Everyone is thinking of that "Silent Night" when Santa comes down "Santa Claus Lane" with "Rudolph The Red Nose Reindeer" adorned in "Silver Bells."

Down the chimney, through the "Green Door," and into the "Decked Halls" comes "Jolly Old St. Nicholas." He will fill Jimmy's order and say to all the rest, "We Wish You A Merry Christmas."

As quick as a flash he'll be on his way singing, "God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen." Yes, all are thinking of what will be in their stockings on that wonderful day that will bring "Joy To All The World" once again.

Granger Wallops SHS Team 54-30

On Nov. 22, the Sacred Heart five got into action again against Granger Assumption at Granger, and slumped to a 54-30 loss marking their second defeat of the season.

Flicking in 17 points, 11 of them free throws, Duke Conway led the Spartans in defeat. During the entire game Sacred Heart managed only 9 field goals while the host team bucketed 22.

Sacred Heart Suffers Third Straight Loss

While the offense clicked for top point production of the season, the Spartan defense allowed St. Joseph of Bode to tally more points than any of their previous opponents in bowing to the host team 74-47.

Constituting the third straight loss, the Sacred Heart team, who was never able to score more than 34 points, bagged 47 points.

Two boys, Jerry Cooper and Dan Garvey, scored in double numbers, Cooper pitching in 10 and Dan Garvey 11. Ed Brice parked 9 points in the mesh, an important addition to the offense.

A WORD OF THANKS

The Sacred Heart basketball team, cheerleaders, and students wish to thank those who have taken them to the out-of-town games, and also those who have attended the games and supported the team.

Carroll Tramples SHS Spartan Team

A powerful Carroll Kuemper reserve team handed Sacred Heart its fourth setback of the season by a score of 56-22.

Poorest offensive output of the season occurred in this game when the varsity scored only 22 points. Never really in the game, they trailed 15-4 at the first quarter. By halftime the Kuemper reserves had gained a 37-7 lead.

Bagging 6 points each, gave Ed Brice and Duke Conway a tie for leading position for the offense.

Nine field goals in the final quarter constituted the best offensive display for the Spartans.

FRIGID HALF CAUSES SPARTAN DEFEAT

Although the Sacred Heart Spartans outscored their opponents in the second half, they were unable to overtake Mt. Carmel as the host team posted a 59-38 victory. A frigid first half proved fatal for the Spartans.

While it was their fifth loss, the Sacred Heart team played better basketball than in previous games.

Firing in 19 points, Dan Garvey captured team and game honors.

Students Merit Honors For Exceptional Work

Honors were given to the many students, who did exceptional work during the first quarter. Requirements for first honors are an average of 90%, an A in conduct, and no tardiness. An excused absence of one day does not disqualify a student for honors. Second honors have the same requirements except for the average which is 85-89.

Those who achieved these goals are: Second grade: Jonell Fitzgerald, second honors. Third grade: Mary Margaret Mahoney, first honors. Fourth grade: Billy Hale, Vicki Strain, Linda Fitzgerald, first honors. Fifth grade: Diane Carroll, Rita Healy, Michael Loehrer, Jude Rolles, Anne Seiler, first honors. Sixth grade: James Donelson, Kathleen Dahlgren, Ronald Keller, Marilyn Pestotnik, Philip Seiler, first honors. Karen Elsberry, Linda Fleming, Paula Pestotnik, second honors. Seventh grade: Sharon Shuster, first honors. Mary Lynn Payne, Steve Duffy, second honors. Eighth grade: Linda Hopkins, Barbara Pestotnik, Kathleen Collison, Kay Elsberry, first honors. Michael Lacey, Judy Loehrer, second honors. Ninth grade: Janet Barger, Ed Dittmer, Pat Douroumis, Karen Fitzgerald, Cecelia Hick, Gary Mullins, Thomas Payne, Janet Steuerwald, first honors. Rosemary Culver, Pat Duffy, Linda Hale, Mary Sue Rolles, second honors. Tenth grade: Pat Price, Larry Conway, Marcia Day, first honors. Kathleen McDonald, second honors. Eleventh grade: Coleen Bennett, Delores Headley, Beth Fangman, first honors. Sue Casserly, second honors. Twelfth grade: Eileen Ryan, Peter Fleming, first honors.
