Alma Mater Boasts Active Grads

Joan Logsdon

Joan Logsdon, a junior at Buena Vista College at Storm Lake, was one of the 67 full-time students who was cited by the dean as having achieved a grade point average of 'B' or higher during the fall. A 'B' is 2.0 out of a possible 3.0 or 'A'. A full time student is one who carries 12 or more semester hours of academic work.

Dean Canakes

Dean Canakes, of 1121 Story Street, Boone, will play the role of Joey in the 1955 Grinnell College student musical production, 'There Was a Man in Our Town,' to be presented March 29.

The student musical, written, produced, directed, and financed entirely by Grinnell students under the supervision of the Student Council, has a cast of 26 this year, the smallest in its history.

Canakes, a freshman at Grinnell, is a 1954 graduate of Boone High School.

Don Olson

Don Olson, of Boone, who sings baritone, will appear in two concerts with the Iowa State Singers at 4:00 p.m. and 8:00 p.m., on Sunday, February 27, in Memorial Union on the Iowa State College campus.

The 82-voice chorus is under the direction of Robert McCowen, assistant professor of music at the college. The Singers will present a variety of songs in their two campus appearances.

Lloyd Courter

One of Boone High's former students received a very high honor recently at the University of Iowa. During the half of the Iowa-Purdue basketball game, which was televised, several athletes representing the various sports, were awarded trophies for having the highest scholastic rating in their particular field. Having lettered in tennis and having over a 3.5 average, Lloyd Courter was one of those presented with a scholastic award.

Lloyd is not only active in tennis, but, as a sophomore, he is secretary of Phi Eta Sigma, national scholastic honorary society; he was awarded the Air Force R.O.T.C. military scholastic medal, and is chairman of the alumni relations board and vice-president of the Delta Upsilon fraternity. He is also a member of the Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity and largest Greek letter organization in the world, composed of Boy Scouts.

Lloyd is majoring in accounting and commerce at the Iowa University.

P-T.A. Meets

Set for late Monday night, February 21, was a meeting of the senior high P-T.A. Starting at 7:30 in the high school library, the program consisted of a panel discussion. Mr. Abbott was the moderator with the panel members Mrs. Longworth, Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Mower, and Miss Pagel. The topic, 'Let's Attack the Problem—Not the School,' had as one of its phases the problem of promoting better relations between the home and school.

Superior Ratings For Boone Speakers

Speech students had a work-out Tuesday, February 15, at the preliminary speech contest held in the Ogden High School auditorium. Sponsored by the Iowa High School Speech Association, all Boone students who participated received superior ratings. Those taking part in extemporaneous speaking were Keith Josephson and Darrell Kruse. 'Pink and Patches,' a one-act play, was enacted also with Shirley Caywood, Janice Brown, 'Chuck' Johnson, and Charlene Anderson the participants.

Jim Tait, Dave Fitzsimmons, Larry Coglin, Rock Severtson, Wayland Swain, and Sherwood Salem will travel to Eagle Grove March 12, for the pre-district debate meet. This will be sponsored by the Iowa High School Speech Association.

Mason City will be the location for the district speech meet next Saturday, February 26. This contest will be sponsored by the Iowa High School Forensic League. Those going as delegates will be Jim Tait, Dave Fitzsimmons, Larry Coglin, Rock Severtson, Wayland Swain, Sherwood Salem, Keith Josephson, Carolyn Elsberry, and Ruth Josephson. The extemporaneous speaker will be Darrell Kruse with Pat Mudge and Jim Tait the interpretive readers. Art Robey will take care of original oratory, and Darrell Murken and Rock Severtson will do the radio speaking.

B. H. S. Host to History

Social studies classes, grades seven through twelve, saw the famous collection of historical newspapers and Americana, 'America in the Making,' Thursday, February 17, in the high school gymnasium. This was the sixth annual tour for the United America Historical Foundation. Helping to direct the students at the exhibit were Kenny Sparks, Merrill Peterson, and Denny Collis.

The three hundred original piece collection consisted of authentic historical papers, starting before the American Revolution up to the World War, and authentic American historical facts.

The exhibit showed the first American casualty sheet after the Battle of Concord, 1775. Actual first-hand accounts of the War of 1812, Mexican War, Civil War, Spanish-American War, Armistice, and near Armistice Papers of the World War were also among the collection's trophies. Many more of the items were recordings of the great American disasters, sea battles, pirates, Aaron Burr, slave trade, curious ad illustrations, gold strikes, Lafayette, and the first American newspapers.

The staff wishes to apologize to the following whose names were erroneously omitted from the honor roll list in the last issue: Jo Ann Hamilton, Ann Clausen, Irene Morello, David Sebring, and Joan Stotts.

It matters more what's in a woman's face, than what's on it.

Talent Showed Again

Once again the student body enjoyed a variety type pep program in an assembly presented Friday, February 18. Performers from different fields created additional interest. Not only did the program consist of members of our own student body, but business men, J.C. students, teachers, and Ames High students participated as well.

Starting the program was the emcee Mr. Brookhart (better known that day as George Gobel). He introduced to the audience a musical foursome composed of John Clark, Dr. Parks, Dr. Westfall, and Dr. Howard. Dr. Johnson and assistant, Mr. Roloff, entertained with a clever magical act.

Bob Clark, Joe Combo, Dick Hamilton, Ed Harris, Bill Herman, Jack Kelly, Glenn Lee, Jerry Lind, Dick Long, James Louk, Bob Musser, Alan Roeder, Bruce Tohill, and Richard White portrayed early basketball tactics with pantomime. A junior college student, Ken Murken, delivered a comic impersonation skit, which was followed by Larry Anderson with another characterization.

Deserving two curtain calls, four members of the Boone High faculty, Mr. Stock, Mr. Mische, Mr. Fitzgerald, and Mr. McIntyre, did a hilarious and talented song and dance routine.

Accompanied by Wally Pratt, Carolyn Bell, Dixie Enslow, Danielle Hartsell, and Lynn Hohenshell honored the girls' basketball team with a toe-tap dance.

Since this was an exchange assembly, four girls representing Ames, sang two songs, 'Sincerely,' and 'Bermuda.' Friday morning, four students from Boone, Jon Ewing, Helen Foltz, Carolyn Achenbach, and Marlene Sesker participated in a similar program at Ames.

In addition to these, the cheerleaders provided further enthusiasm by leading several cheers.

Appreciation should be shown to the seven teachers on the committee: Miss Thompson, Mrs. Brunner, Mrs. Hartley, Mr. Jones, Mr. Fitzgerald, Mr. Hokanson, and chairman, Mrs. Taylor, for the work they contributed.

Konrad Scholl's Protege

Miss Phyllis Jenkins, of Springfield, Ohio, child protégé of orchestra conductor Konrad Scholl, appeared as solo pianist at a concert given by the Boone High School Orchestra at an assembly of senior high students on February 16. Miss Jenkins has played the piano since she was eight years old. She met Mr. Scholl at a music clinic last summer at Ohio University. Previously she had played in numerous recitals and concerts, and once won an audition to play with the Springfield Symphony Orchestra. Last Wednesday was the first time she had ever played as soloist with an orchestra. Miss Jenkins also plays the violin. She takes lessons at the Ralph Gerke Studio in Springfield.

Straight 'A' Student

In addition to being a straight 'A' and practicing the piano a minimum of two hours a day, she belongs to the Booster Club, similar to Boone's Pep Club, the Latin Club, History Forum, orchestra, and choir.

When asked if she had future plans for work in piano she stated that she definitely did. In the immediate future are plans to appear with another orchestra, possibly two, back in Ohio.

Miss Jenkins arrived in Boone Saturday, February 12, by air which was her first ride in a plane. She left for Ohio Saturday, February 19. She has been staying with the Scholls.

Critic's Corner

On Tuesday, February 16, the people of Boone were treated to a program not soon to be forgotten, as once again the Boone High School Symphony Orchestra, led by Konrad Scholl, thrilled a near-capacity audience with its annual concert. The program featured Phyllis Jenkins, concert pianist from Springfield, Ohio, in the well-known 'Piano Concerto in A Minor,' by Edvard Grieg. Miss Jenkins played with a maturity that belied her age of 14, and won both adults and students not only by her artistry, for indeed she is an artist, but by her sincerity as a person.

Annual Concert Given

Konrad Scholl and the Boone High Symphony Orchestra presented a concert featuring Miss Phyllis Jenkins, of Springfield, Ohio, on February 16 in the high school auditorium at 8:00 p.m.

The program began with an overture, 'Libuse,' by Smetana, followed by a 'Serenade in E Flat' for string orchestra by Suk. Miss Jenkins and the orchestra played the 'Concerto in A Minor' for piano and orchestra by Grieg. Miss Jenkins was called back for an encore. She played 'Dream of Oelwein.'

Following intermission they presented an overture, 'The Merry Wives of Windsor' by Nicolai, and Karl Ahrendt's 'The Old Canal.' Next the string orchestra played 'Dance of the Russian Sailors' by Gliere, selections of Fritz Kreisler's 'Apple Blossoms,' and an encore, 'Sandpaper Ballet.'

The orchestra personnel consists of Cay Munn, president; Carita Stroble, vice-president; Mary Longworth, secretary-treasurer; and Carolyn Herman, librarian.

Other members are: violins: Carita Stroble (concertmistress), Mary Longworth, Cay Munn, Jeanette Stotts, Pauline Smalley, Barbara Beckett, Mary Lynn Hauge, Keith Josephson, Darrell Kruse, Diane Morley, Marilyn Pesek*, Caroline Stephenson, Joyce Anderson, Carolyn Kirk, Sonja Reedholm, Barbara Nelson, Don Josephson, Paul King, Mary Wiemer, Millicent Stutzman, Sandra Suthern, and Melba Winans; violas: Caryl Achenbach*, Helen Foltz, Judy Loveless, Duane Eckhart, Kay Brightwell, and Kae Nelson; cellos: Karen Ingalls*, Patricia Braklow, Sandra Richmond, Joan Stotts, Elizabeth Hinz, Carolyn Herman, and Mildred Gregory; bass violins: Richard McCoy*, Gloria Peterson, Suellen Tonsfeldt, and Joyce Peterson.

Flutes: Donna Whitaker*, Bonnie Pestotnik, and Ruth Josephson; piccolo: Bonnie Pestotnik; clarinets: Judith Reed*, and Barbara Long; bass clarinet: Raymond Guenther; oboe: JoAnn Hamilton; bassoon: Lynn Anderson.

Trumpets: Richard Alber*, Richard Conard, and Mary Ann Moeller; horns: Shirley Carter* and Janet Carter; tuba: Richard Harvey.

Tympani: Rex Chadwick; percussion: Janice Runyan* and Frank Whitman.

*Section principal.

Pay for Prom Fun Now

Juniors, remember that next week is collection week for the Prom. A homeroom will be announced for one day when the collection will be done. Only $2.50 buys the high light of your high school career. Count your pennies and hoard your nickels for a million dollar night of fun.

Juniors will pay for partners later, as will seniors who did not pay last year, and Junior College students who did not go. These collection dates will be announced later.

As in the past, conductor Scholl led his musicians through a well-rounded program of excellence, to which local audiences look forward each year. Sterling Mische

Junior Spotlight

This week's favorite high school male is that active man about town, Bill Larson. Like our girl of the week, Bill is an avid sports fan and participant. He is active in three sports, as a matter of fact, basketball, football, and track, which might explain why his favorite pastime is loafing.

Judging from his list of 'favorites,' a perfect imaginary day for Mister Larson would go something like this—rising early in the morning, he begins his day with a heaping dish of ice cream. Then out to the backyard for a few football passes. Along comes best friend, Frank Lorentzen, and on to school. All day at B.H.S. is spent on mechanical drawing with time out for sundaes and malts, of course. Then with one ear glued to the radio, playing 'Hearts of Stone,' naturally (it's his favorite song), back to mechanical drawing.

All kidding aside, the 18-year-old senior of unknown dimensions lengthwise is really working toward his life long ambition, to be an engineer.

Upon hearing some witty or unusual remark, you might turn around and find the bearer of these bits of humor to be none other than Karen Menough.

Karen, a senior this year, devotes a great deal of her time to her favorite activity as manager of the girls' basketball team. She also belongs to the Future Nurses Club and is secretary of her home-room. A well known cafe takes up quite a bit of her leisure too, as she is a waitress there—and a god one, so we hear.

Everyone who knows Karen will vouch that she is one of the most enthusiastic sport fans in Boone High (to say the least). Karen explains that she and the referee always see eye to eye, but that his aren't always in focus as well as hers.

This teen's favorite pastime, as most of us might expect, is watching sporting events. She definitely contributes her share of cheering to the local squads.

Karen also enjoys listening to songs of which her favorite is 'Tweedle Dee Dee.' It's also quite obvious to those who know her, that Karen is a fervent George Goble fan. We know this because she is continually acknowledging the fact that, "there you are!"

Benji Looks Back

Gosh, you know we're lucky people! Oh, I know, there's that government test tomorrow or those arithmetic problems you just can't solve. And there's always that mean little brother or big sister to pester you. But besides all these seemingly important troubles to worry about, we still are awfully lucky. "What am I talking about?" or "Is this another lecture?" you say? Well, not exactly, I guess. It's just that I've been doing a little thinking, and I guess some of it IS serious.

You know, we have more liberty and freedom than most people. That word 'freedom' is a stereotype, as they say in problems classes. But to you and me 'stereotype' doesn't mean very much.

No, I think the word 'freedom' means not just the Stars and Stripes, but something we've inherited through the courage of our grandparents. They fought for that wonderful thing called 'freedom' so that we, yes, you and I, could live without being afraid.

Yet to most of us, those arithmetic problems and that government exam or whether or not we'll have dates for that next dance are still the most important things to think about. Such minor details loom up so importantly while the item of most significance our ancestors fought and died for—our freedom—sits quietly in the background.

Then there was the paper doll who committed suicide because she found out her mother was an old bag.

B's Sting

Did you notice anything familiar about the 'dress,' worn by 'Fairy May' in the last high school play? If you remember 'The Robe,' you might have realized that one of the gowns worn in that production was making its second appearance. It could revolutionize the entire dress-making industry. Drooping becomingly low on one side, it also featured the new look in sleeves this year, one up and one down.

The customer at the lunch counter was struggling valiantly with his not-so-choice steak and said to the proprietor: "It's a shame to fry a tire that still has so much tread on it."

Poor Mrs. Stevens. It seems she is in constant danger that all her pupils, well, only the boys we guess, are going to become bald. She believes if the top of your head is visible through a flat top or crew cut you're in danger of losing that beautiful stuff (although you cut it short anyway!) But, cheer up, boys, she'll give you five or six years before you start thinning out.

It was Junior's first day in school, and when he got home his mother asked, "Did you learn anything today?"

"No," he replied in disgust. "I have to go back again tomorrow."

Toreadorettes End Season

Ending their 1954-55 basketball season with a 10-9 record, the Toreadorettes dropped a close decision to the Valley High girls of West Des Moines 50-47.

The local six led during the opening minutes of the first quarter, but were quickly subdued and trailed three points at the end of the first period.

Trailing by 15 points at the half time, Boone made its comeback early in the third stanza with a lay-up shot by Ann Clausen, sparking the Toreadorettes. The Boone forwards pumped in 11 straight points only to be interrupted by a charity toss by Sharon Luther which closed the margin to 32-30 with two minutes remaining in the third quarter.

The final period was a see-saw battle all the way with neither team being able to take complete command. A desperation shot in the final seconds failed and the visitors left the floor triumphant.

Romey Chance, Joan Cornelius, and Jackie Conn closed the season with a top rebounding performance and all around good floor play. Ann Clausen led the Boone scorers with 19 points, and Mary Courter, playing her last game, totaled 14 digits.

SED by JED

Boone High's girls' basketball team wound up their season with 10 wins and nine defeats. Four of the losses were very close games and could have gone either way. Also four of the wins could have done the same.

One of the proudest achievements was the win over Slater, the 1950 Iowa Girls' Basketball Champs. Gilbert was about the toughest team the girls had to meet. On January 28 the Gilbert sextet tramped over Boone 54 to 44 and in the last game in the sectional tournament Gilbert won a 63 to 36 dispute. This knocked the Toreadorettes out of any more tourney play for 1955. In the county tournament the Boone sextet was knocked out in the first round by Jordan. Our high school should be proud to have such a fine girls' basketball team and coach. Maybe next year, with more encouragement our team will have a no defeat record.

Ted Schulz, Mike Bell, Larry Sovereign, Wally Arringdale, Tom Reed, and Dave Nelson gained recognition February 19, as they participated in the state swimming meet held in Iowa City. Boone came in eighth place. Congratulations, boys, you did a fine job of representing Boone.

She: "Does he know much about sports?"

He: "No, he thinks a pole vault is a bank in Warsaw."

An ex-basketball player in his executive job said to his secretary, "Miss Brown, take a ladder."

Bobcats Topple Boone

The Marshalltown Bobcats clinched at least a show in the Central Iowa Conference title as they toppled Boone in a 63-62 thriller at Marshalltown.

The contest was exceptionally close as the two teams see-sawed back and forth all through the game. Neither team held more than a five-point margin and the lead changed hands at least 10 times during the game.

After holding a 38-35 midgame lead, the Toreadors were able to keep the third stanza lead by a 50-48 margin.

Denny Collis, Jay Peterson, and Merrill Peterson collected 17, 15, and 14 points respectively for the Toreadors.

What are those strange smells that have been coming from the homemaking?

Finalists Drop Newton

Friday, February 18, the Boone Toreadors played their last conference game by defeating Newton 81 to 71.

Rebounding was the main factor of the game, as the Boone men seemed to do a good job of it. In the first quarter we were hot in making both free throws and regular shots. Throughout the game missed shots were kept at a minimum and a four-per cent average was totaled up at the end of the battle.

Jay Peterson was high point man with 24 points and also hit 10 out of 11 free tallies.

Seventh Graders Show Talent Galore

There is talent galore in the seventh grade as was revealed in today's assembly presented to the junior high by students from Mr. Lovin's, Mr. Roloff's, Miss Rasmussen's, Miss Thompson's, Mrs. Martin's, Miss Handy's, and Mrs. Bullock's homerooms. Announcers for the program were Donald Dutton and Tom Blumberg.

First on the program was a string ensemble consisting of Lu Ann Hauge, Marilyn Smith, Susanne Frohardt, Deloris Craven, Ann Senholz, Patricia Wilson, Jean Goepfinger, Cynthia Case, and Karen Bennett. They played 'Old Folks at Home' and 'The Merry Widow Waltz' under the direction of Mr. Scholl. Next, 'The Gaylordettes,' a quartet made up of Janice Jones, Evelyn Wright, Beverly Peter, and Janice Ward, sang 'Hearts of Stone.'

Third on the program was a skit, 'The Blackbird.' It was about Anchony, a not too brilliant army private, who lets a spy, the Blackbird, ransack the General's private papers yet unwittingly got credit for capturing the scoundrel. A beautiful blonde, and the general's wife arrived on the scene at the last minute. Players were Jim Pritchard, Jim Pollard, John Capps, John McIntyre, and Thomas Rose.

'Who Did' and 'The Glendy Burke' were sung by the Seventh Grade Chorus, under the direction of Mr. Mische. Accompanists were Lu Ann Hauge and Ann Senholz.

'New Shoes' was a skit about some ambitious young people in a shoe store who wanted new shoes but found them all too big. The Master Cobbler was played by Ralph Patterson and the Store Manager by Berger Nelson. The clerks were David Graves and Robert Price, while the customers were Mary Jo Caldwell, Larry Cook, Lois Howard, Kay Wiley, Patricia Wilson, Karen Shafer, Don Franklin, Linda Hutson, Susanne Frohardt, Gail Nystrom, Sharon Williams and John Lee.

Seven tableaux illustrated the different kinds of shoes a seventh grader has worn since childhood. Among them were baby shoes, play shoes, gym shoes, tap dancing shoes, dancing shoes, school shoes, and Sunday shoes.

There were many working behind the scenes such as the promoters and stage hands, plus many other students who helped to produce such a fine program.

Girls' Basketball Tryouts

Once again the junior high girls swing into action. This year their coach, Mr. Lovin, is going to have quite a headache. The reason is that at the beginning of their practice there were 62 girls out. After two weeks there are about 40 girls left. Among these 40 girls are four eighth graders and the rest are seventh graders. Mr. Lovin said the junior high girls would have no weeks of practice they will have games, but at the end of the eight some intra-squad games. Since they won't have any regular games, Mr. Lovin is going to spend the entire eight weeks on the basic fundamentals such as shooting, passing, dribbling, and pivoting.

Lately there has been a rumor that there wouldn't be any junior high county tournament, so just to verify it I asked Mr. Lovin. He said it was true that it had been voted out.

Coach Lovin said that in one of the later Bumble 'B's' he would have the list of names of the girls who have gone out, but at the present time he is trying to get the names himself. Let's wish all the junior high basketball girls good luck in the following weeks of practice.

Betty Lincoln seems to like 'Per-y Como.' Good luck, Betty!

On Saturday, February 12, the Boone High ninth grade basketball team won over Webster City 49 to 37. The game was played on the Matadors' home court. 'Buzz' Lee headed the Boone scoring column with 15 points, while Burnett, of Webster City, made 11 points for the losers. The starting lineup for the Matadors was: forwards, Jack Langmade and Bob Musser; center, Dick White; and guards, 'Buzz' Lee and Rod Von Krog.

The eighth grade algebra aptitude tests were given Thursday, February 10, to the entire eighth grade. They were taken in the math classes, so no other classes were interrupted. This test is only one of the determiners as to whether a student will take ninth grade algebra. Others are previous grades, attitude, and ability to work.

The girl of the week is Judy Parisho. The boy of the week is Larry Olander.
