

Queen Will Be Named Tonight

Vitt Elected S.C. Head

Following three days of the most vigorous and extensive campaigning ever seen in Boone High, Fred Vitt was elected president of the Student Council. The other candidate for this office was Carolyn Kirk.

Carolyn is active in various groups including chorus, vocal groups, orchestra, speech work, and the Methodist church choir. She is also president of Ti Tri, vice-president of Pep Club, and is a member of the Scholastic Honor Society.

Fred is also in many activities, some of which are mixed and boys' chorus, boys' quartet, Booster Club, Scholastic Honor Society, and is on the swimming and golf teams.

Signs for both candidates were plastered all over the halls and many were carried by various students. Campaigning was done over the intercom during classes and in the lunchroom. The day before the election, the napkins in the lunchroom were stamped 'Vote for Carolyn.'

Campaign speeches were given at an assembly on Wednesday, September 20, by Carolyn and her campaign manager, Joyce Clarke, and Fred and his campaign manager, Larry Jackson. There was a standing demonstration for each of the candidates and a pep band played for Fred.

The other student council officers for this semester are: vice-president, Mike Ferry; secretary, Bill Herman; treasurer, Joy Pollard, and sergeant-at-arms, Denny Ferry.

Election to Be Held

Since this is an election year, the Kiwanis Club of Boone is sponsoring voting in both junior and senior high. Students vote for president, senator, governor, and representative. From October 1 to 12 junior high students may register for voting in the study hall and senior high in the library. The registration cards will be the same as those filled out by adults when they register. No student will be required to register but no one who has not registered will be able to vote.

The senior high will vote during the week of October 15 through 19 and the junior high from October 21 to 26. A regular voting machine will be used.

Room 127 will be used for the voting. The voting will be done during the social studies classes in every grade, except 10th where it will be done during English class. Upon arriving at the voting place each student will fill out a voting certificate which will then be checked to see if he has registered.

During this time a voting machine will be on display at the Boone State Bank. It is hoped that many adults will vote there so that each day the results there can be compared with the results of the voting here.

We are sorry to say that the name of Mr. McLean, the new band director, was left off our list of new teachers.

Ike Writes Thanks

On September 20 the Boone High band, under the direction of Mr. McLean traveled to Des Moines to welcome President Eisenhower when he arrived at the airport. The band lined up on the airstrip and played 'Hail to the Chief,' as he stepped off the presidential airplane, the Columbine. During the official greetings and until the President and Mrs. Eisenhower drove away from the airport, the band played a number of Mr. Eisenhower's favorite songs. The original plan called for the band to be at Eighth and Story to play when the Eisenhowers and Mr. and Mrs. Hoegh drove past but because of the heavy traffic they were not able to be back in time.

Mr. McLean received the following note of thanks from President Eisenhower:

Dear Mr. McLean:

To you and the members of the Boone High School Band, Mrs. Eisenhower and I extend grateful thanks for your warm welcome upon our arrival in Iowa.

With our appreciation and best wishes to all of you.

Sincerely,

Dwight D. Eisenhower.

On September 29, the Boone High F.F.A. Dairy Cattle Judging Team received a bronze award. The Boone team ranked as follows: first, Dave Williams; second, Junior Stotts; third, Bill Schell.

Dear Editor:

We hear a lot these days about how badly our teen-agers act and what little respect they have for anyone. I wonder if any of these adults who make such accusations were at the Carroll game. If they were, I'm sure that they would have to admit that the adults there did not set the kind of example any teen-ager should follow. Who did the booing when a Boone play was called back? The students? Only a few. On the whole, it was those same adults who say that the younger generation is going to the dogs. When the referees walked off the field, who made the smart remarks? No, it wasn't the students; it was the adults!

What gripes me is that these booing adults seldom yell for the team. It seems that if they aren't booing the refs, they're telling the coach what he should do or handing out some free advice on how the last play should have been run.

Sure a referee can make a mistake because he's only one person with only two eyes. So sometimes he may miss something, but he can definitely see more than any spectator. A referee is only human and when he's booed he finds it harder to call the next decision without prejudice.

When our coach and most of the students and players are doing their very best, it certainly is a shame that some adults who don't really care should penalize the coach and team and give our school a bad name.

—A Student.

A lot of trouble in this world today is produced by those who don't produce anything else.

J. C. NEWS

Final enrollment in Boone Junior College is 105 students which is two students less than last year. This includes 57 freshmen, 44 sophomores, and four special students. Men students outnumber women students 60 to 45. Seventy are graduates of Boone Public High School and 35 are graduates of various schools in and out of Boone County. The number of students enrolled in the various courses are 41 in the teacher education course, 35 in the liberal arts course, 25 in the pre-engineering course, and four special students, taking one or more courses to increase their vocational or cultural knowledge but are not working toward a college diploma.

Students held one of their more popular activities last week when they paused for a morning coffee break and get together.

Junior College class officers were elected Friday, September 28. The results were: president, Tom Anderson; vice-president, Daryl Murken; secretary, Joyce Williams; treasurer, Lawrence Frederick.

The Boone Teachers' Club awarded Marilyn Martin, a graduate of Woodward High School, a scholarship to Boone Junior College. This scholarship, given each year to a worthy student planning to become a teacher, pays half the tuition costs.

A moron was watching the sun—he kept watching it—he was still watching it, when it suddenly dawned on him.

Tonight the suspense will be ended and everyone will know who has been chosen by the student body to be homecoming queen. The crowning will take place at Goepinger field following a big bonfire and pep rally. In case of rain the crowning ceremony will be held in the auditorium. The girls, who were selected by the football team to be the candidates for queen, are: Sandy Chance, Judy Houston, Betty McElyea, Dot Reedholm, and Janice Stevens.

Sandy Chance is in Pep Club, Hi-Tri, and Future Teachers' Club.

Judy Houston's activities include Pep Club, Hi-Tri, and speech work. Cheerleading, Pep Club, and Hi-Tri make up Betty McElyea's list of activities.

Dot Reedholm is president of Pep Club, president of Dolphin Club, and a member of Hi-Tri.

Janice Stevens' activities include Pep Club and Hi-Tri.

This year as last the homerooms are being decorated. The theme for these decorations was 'Fantasyland.' All decorations must be completed by this evening and will then be torn down on Monday morning. Judging of the decorated homerooms will take place Friday afternoon and the winning homeroom in the Junior and Senior High will be announced during the half-time of the game. Each member of the homeroom winning first place will receive two tickets to the Rialto and each student in the second place homeroom will receive one ticket to the Rialto.

Friday afternoon the queen and her attendants will be presented to the student body at a pep assembly during the fifth period. All alumni and interested townspeople are invited to the pep assembly and the tea which will be held following it in the homemaking room. Afterward they will be able to look at decorated homerooms.

During the half-time of the homecoming game the queen and attendants will ride around the track in convertibles. The band will also put on a special half-time show. All senior high and junior college students and alumni are invited to the homecoming dance which will be held in the cafeteria after the game. The Pep Club is sponsoring this dance.

F.F.A. Wins Awards

On September 15, the Boone F.F.A. attended the county and district Soil Judging Contests. The Boone chapter was judged in the first place chapter in both the district and the county. Boone boys won the top three places in the judging. They were: first place, Bill Schell; second place, Dave Williams; third place, Larry Stotts.

Officers for the coming year are: president, Bill Schell; vice-president, Sherwood Selim; secretary, Roger Adams; reporter, Dave Williams; treasurer, Larry Stotts; sentinel, Junior Stotts; assistant secretary, Donald Peterson; assistant reporter, Melvin Murken, and assistant treasurer, Gary Bryant.

Student Congress Election

For the offices in Student Congress, the junior high students have elected Kay Wiley, president; Mary Jo McLeod, vice-president; Linda Boyd, secretary; and Judy Harvey, treasurer.

Editorial Comment

Does the high school student today, who has a reputation for 'brains,' pay a price in loss of acceptance by his classmates? Many parents fear that this is true. For example, some students, afraid of being ridiculed, do not recite well.

No group would be better qualified to comment on this troublesome situation than the 1956 high school graduates entering college this season as national merit scholars. These students are labeled the 'cream of the crop,' and must pass two rounds of competitive exams.

Thirteen of the 18 winners' replies indicated that in some high schools brains are respected, while in others any student who does more than 'get by' loses face. Top scholastic marks can give the student prestige, enabling him to be independent of the 'cliques' by which he might otherwise try to gain recognition.

However, to quote one senior, "There are pressures put on students to refrain from too much studiousness, but a person with any individuality will not respond to these pressures. To study hard is one thing, and to show off one's brilliance is another."

Said one boy of his reputation as a superior student: "It hurt me only when I tried to seem the smartest. When I tried to get good grades but still more or less 'cover up,' there was no difficulty. And when I seemed to get good grades without trying, I was almost admired."

In general, it boils down to this: Expect kidding and some sarcasm about good marks, and don't be thrown by them. Try to show that you're human by friendliness, helpfulness, and humility.

Letters to the Editor...er... Editor

(The opinions expressed here are not necessarily those of the editor.)

Dear Feacher Editor;

I'm ritin in regards to a article in yore last issue by name of 'Fashuns for Jannyters.' Them fashuns ain't new! I been awearin' them kind o' wrappin's sence I was knee-high to a toad stool, that's nigh onta 17 yare, now; I remember so good cuz 'twas round th' time Aunt Fanny died, an' i jus' want yew t' know I have a high disregard fer them kind o' mistakes, so I tuk an' decided t' tell yew so. Ef'n yew city-slickers can't keep them fashuns o' yourn in right good order, het's up t' us hill-folk t' straighten yew out. An' that's the way I feel about it. An' thet's how I think about th' matter. So I done wrote an' tole yous what I think.

Also, I shore would be proud, an' th' folks back home shore would be proud, t' see my name in print. Are yew gonna print my letter in yore newspaper? I shore do hanker t' see my name in print. Yessir, I shore do. I could maybe send a pitcher o' me I had taken at th' county fair, too, ef'n yous wanted me to. It'd only cost yous 25 cents, th' price o' th' pitcher. Yessir, I shore would. Course I ain't hintin' nor nuthin', unnerstan'; I'm too well brung up fer thet, but I shorely would be right proud t' see my rightful, Christian name all done up in print.

Truely yourn,

Conversations I Know Take Place

By Betsy Lorentzen

"Say, Mr. Cunningham, do you have that girl over there in any of your classes?"

"Which girl?"

"That one standing over there by the trash container; with the pink socks and red skirt and orange blouse."

"Oh, yes. She's in my fourth period physics class."

"Well, listen. She's in my second-year algebra class first period and I happen to know that all forms of mathematics are hard for her, so why don't we both give her double-doses of homework on the same night? Nothing like the incentive to work to prod someone out of a rut, you know."

"Say, now that's a right good idea."

"Say, Leo, does that girl that's always trying to read Mrs. Stevens' short-story assignments sit at this table this hour?"

"Yeah, I think so. Why?"

"Well, I just cooked up a new little gimmick that I know will drive her crazy."

"What?"

"It'll take perfect timing, of course. You try to crack your gum every five seconds, and I'll drum my fingers on the table and kick my toe against her chair leg. By the end of the hour she'll be ready for the nut-house!"

"Say, that's a pretty good idea. And I'll crack my knuckles a few times, just for good measure."

"Oh, here she comes now! Ready?"

"Yeah."

"Go!"

"Oh, Sandy. How's that new staff member making out? The new feature editor?"

"Oh, that one. Well, she's a little bit slow getting her material in. Why?"

"Good! Just what I was hoping for! What do you say we move her deadline up two days? That way she'll really have to hustle, and we can put in plenty of jokes to fill up the empty spaces."

"Say, that might improve the quality of the paper. More tried-and-true jokes and less original stuff."

"That's the general idea. Just move her deadline up a few days, and then watch her running around like a chicken with its head cut off."

"I'll hunt up some good jokes, too. You know what a corny sense of humor she has."

"Yeah. Good idea."

Fall Fashions

School opened last month with a grand display of colors that would make even a rainbow pale by comparison (the girls' skirts are as colorful and as full as ever, while blouses can be interchangeable with several outfits). Much in demand are dropped waistlines and princess styles, but the newest rage seems to be the slim sheath dress. These come in a variety of colors and fabrics, some with clever necklines or collars, and some unadorned, if the person is the tailored type. A word should be said about the dainty skimmers or flats that most girls are wearing these days. They come in a variety of colors to match different outfits and are inexpensive enough so that several pairs aren't beyond the average allowance.

As for boys, the ivy league pants seem to be the thing with ever popular levi's running a close second. B.H.S. lads seem to prefer heavy wool and rayon sports shirts and bright cottons, flashy argyles, and wind breakers. These days, haircuts are as personal as clothing. Each boy's head seems to fit his personality, and in many instances reflects his originality and patience in training his hair to behave. They range from 'butches' and 'crew cuts' to ultra long 'duck tails' with some rather wierd variations along these lines. Make no mistake, modern boys are proud of their tresses and spend long hours creating and re-creating before they consider themselves presentable.

At the football games a majority of the girls will be protected from the cold by car coats with wooden toggle buttons, suede jackets, sometimes heavily be-fringed, are always in demand, also toppers and heavy cardigans.

Each year you wonder 'what they'll think of next,' but fashions seem to outdo themselves when fall arrives. As long as there are students with imagination and foresight, designers will be kept hopping to create new styles and wrinkles.

TEENS of the WEEK

This week's Girl of the Week is Lyla Swain, known to practically everyone for her sparkling personality and sweet disposition. She was born June 28, 1939, in Ogden, and has grown until she now tips the scale at 110 pounds, hitting the five-foot three-inch mark. "Going out with Tom" is her hobby (haven't we heard that name before?), her favorite food is French-fried shrimp, and 'Love Me Tender' and 'Secret Love' rate high on her record list. Favorite pet peeve is having people say "I gotta tell you something" and then forget what they were going to say.

Lyla is taking the secretarial course, and, being a senior, is almost through it. She's editor of the Scroll and her favorite subject is physiology, with Mr. Stutzman. After she graduates, she plans to get married and attend Boone Junior College. Best of luck to you, Lyla.

The tall, dark, and handsome Lad of the Week this week is, as acquaintances well know, a man of few words. In fact, so few words that we could hardly gather enough vital statistics to compose an article about him. We're referring, of course, to Don Stevens, better known as 'Blackie.' He's quite a prominent figure in the B.H.S. sports world, having lettered in football, basketball, and track.

This brown-eyed senior is six feet tall, weighs 161 pounds, and belongs to the Booster Club. Tennis is his hobby (sports again!), he's taking the general course, and his favorite pet peeve is getting in at 9:30. (Coach, please note.) He was also chosen one of the captains of the football team.

'Blackie' is quite a versatile eater, and has a long list of favorite foods, but from the looks of his thin frame, you'd never guess it.

He hopes to go into a specialized field in mechanics.

Marshalltown Will Be Homecoming Foe

Sophomores Win

Dolphin Probate Tests

Nineteen hopeful dolphin probates took tests last September 24. About 12 more are expected to try out in the next few weeks.

The tests consists of swimming 10 lengths; showing proficiency in front crawl, back crawl, side stroke, breast stroke, and sculling. Candidates must also be able to back float for one minute, tread one minute, do a standing front dive, two kinds of somersaults, two kinds of surface dives, a back dolphin, and their choice of one optional stunt. Grading is done by the present members of the Dolphin Club. Each probate must have an average of 6.5 to pass these tests. The final test will be held in several weeks and is graded on the same basis.

Membership of the present Dolphin Club consists of 25 girls. It is usually about 30, but there is no limit on the number of members. New members have not yet been chosen.

The Boone-Webster City sophomore game resulted in a victorious 15-13 score for Boone, Monday, September 24.

Left end Bob Hunter caught a deflected forward pass from quarterback Bill Monen and gained 28 yards for the Boone sophomore's winning touchdown. Boone's top linemen on defense were Ends Bob Hunter and Jim Clark. Standouts on offense were Fullback 'Chuck' McGriff and Quarterback Bill Monen. Steve Shaler as a defensive back, played well, too.

Since Webster City fell victim to Ames last Saturday with a 13-6 score, this made the sophomores' second loss.

Webster City, with the help of a 54-yard touchdown, had a 160-105 yardage lead after Boone had an 80-48 margin at halftime.

Boone, hitting four of six passes, picked up 102 yards passing compared to 88 for the Lynx on five of eight connections.

One of the most celebrated and interesting football games of the season will be played tomorrow night when the Boone Toreadors play host to the Marshalltown Bobcats. The Toreadors won over the Bobcats last yea with a scoe of 7-0.

Coach McLeran doesn't know exactly what line-up will be used because of injuries. The Toreadors use a 'T' formation while the Bobcats run from an unbalanced wing 'T' formation.

Coach Carroll scouted the Marshalltown game September 28 against Ames. The 'Cats were again defeated making their third loss this season. They make many mistakes but have an outstanding desire to win. Their offense is built around Nash, a 205-pound fullback. Their backs are larger, but as a whole their line is smaller than the Toreadors.

Due to injuries Morgan Tomkins will be watching the game from the sidelines again this week.

The Bobcats will be a tough team to conquer, so let's boost the Toreadors to a decisive Homecoming Victory by filling the bleachers with Boone High Spirit!

Toreadors Lose Second

The Toreadors traveled to Carroll Friday night to suffer their second loss of the season. Carroll tallied 26 points while Boone netted seven.

Lady Luck was not with the Toreadors as a flag was dropped by an official late in the second half wiping out a 69-yard touchdown pass play that went from Dale Elsberry to Don Stevens. The receiver was well in front of the Carroll defense when Dick Ray threw a beautiful block and stopped two Tigers. Two officials ran past the spot of alleged violation and then the third tossed a flag as Stevens sped into the end zone. When it seemed as though the Red and Green was on their way, they were stymied by a fumble or a penalty.

Jon Ewing turned in a good performance as well as Rod Von Krog and Dale Elsberry. Dick Ray and Don Stevens did well on defense. Tackles Mike Hyatt and Gale Price turned in good performances.

Statistically, Boone would appear to have the ability to make it mighty tough on the rest of its opponents since it out-gained 142 to 91 yards in rushing; 59 to 45 yards in passing.

Boone Loses to Oskaloosa

The Boone Toreadors received their third consecutive defeat of the 1966 football season Friday night September 28, when the Oskaloosa Indians were victorious by a score of 31-12.

The Indians scored 25 points in the first half while the Toreadors made very little progress. Jim Wake led Oskaloosa to victory by sneaking two touchdowns and passing for three more.

Boone's 12 points were made by Jon Ewing in the last half of the game. This game left Oskaloosa undefeated this season.

TOREADOR CREED

We the undersigned, hereby promise to back our team, the Boone High Toreadors, to victory by:

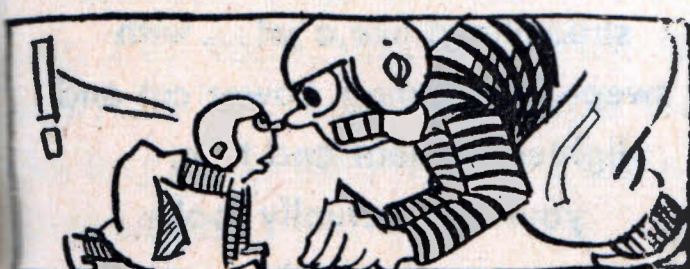

1. Attending all home games.
2. Going to as many out-of-town games as we possibly can.
3. Yelling loud and long with our cheerleaders.
4. Refraining from booing the referees or the opposing team members no matter what.

LET'S GO, TEAM!"

EDITORIAL

Last Saturday morning a crowd of enthusiastic seventh, eighth, and ninth grade students watched and cheered for the teams. There were more students attending the first game this year than last. But, that's not enough! What our teams need is support! Let's really show our school spirit! Show the boys we're backing them! Every Friday, wear our school colors to show we are for our teams and loyal to our school. Even if you can't attend the games because of a Saturday morning job, give the boys a boost the day before by telling them that they are good, that you're behind them, etc.

As the quarterback for the ninth grade team, John McIntyre said: "Come on, Boone Junior High! Let's go!" Show our school spirit! Back our teams! Go! Boone, Go!

Boy of the Week

Who is the boy of the week? See if you can guess. He lives at 604 Linn Street. He is 13 years old and in the eighth grade. Oh, by the way girls, he already has a girl friend, who is Marcia Bohlen. But just in case, his telephone number is 2065. He is only 4 feet 11 inches tall, but he can really put away the French fries and chicken, which are his favorite foods. He takes a lot of interest in sports, but has no particular favorite. During the summer he played on a Little League team. He likes to dance and is really good at it. Horseback riding takes up some of his time, also. He likes school, and his favorite subject is arithmetic. Guessed who it is yet? If not look elsewhere on this page.

Girl of the week is Susan Morgans.

Junior High Cheerleaders Chosen

The junior high held their cheerleading tryouts September 26. There were to be three chosen from the ninth grade, two from the eighth, and one from the seventh, with an alternate from each grade.

The ninth grade cheerleaders are Mary Jo McLeod, Janet Smith, and Mary Jo Caldwell. The alternate is Martha Fields.

The cheerleaders from the eighth grade are Pam Parrish and Mary Shaler, with Karen Oliver as the alternate.

Vicky Garretson is the seventh grade cheerleader and her alternate is Helen Sinn.

Girl of the Week

The popular girl of the week is 13 years of age and is a student of the eighth grade. Boys! Her telephone number is 2444, and she lives at 210 Story Street. Her favorite hobbies or pastimes are horseback riding and dancing. I hear she's quite good at both. Favorites on her list for foods beats them all. She likes hamburgers, French fries, and hot fudge sundaes. She's just like every other girl and naturally Elvis Presley is her tops in singers. Her favorite record is 'Love Me Tender,' also by Elvis, seconds on her list are all of his records, which run into quite a few. If you haven't guessed who this popular girl of the week is, look elsewhere on his page.

New Teachers

From Dayton High School, Dayton, comes the new ninth grade English teacher, Mr. McCargar. He has attended William Penn College where he received his B.A. degree. He is married and has three children, two boys and a girl, ages eight, seven, and five. His hobbies are reading, golf, and art. He also gave Boone a compliment. He said that Boone was the friendliest town he has seen.

Mrs. Engen, a former Boone resident moved back here from Livingston, Montana. She attended the University of Iowa where she received her degree, a B.A. She is married and her hobbies are music and dramatics.

Mr. McLean is the Boone High band teacher. He has a Master of Music Education degree. He got his degree at Drake University. Muscatine is his home town. Photography and being a part-time farmer are his hobbies. He has taught at Northwood for two years and Muscatine for four years. Mr. McLean is 32 years old and is married. He has two children, both girls. Their names are Glendon, who is four, and Krista, who is two years old.

Mr. Lyness, also a new teacher, appeared in the last issue of the Bumble 'B.'

Junior Orchestra News

The members of Junior Orchestra held an election of officers on September 20. The following were elected: president, Susanne Frohardt; vice-president, Lu Ann Hauge; secretary, Karen Bennett.

This group meets under the direction of Mr. Scholl, every Thursday afternoon from 3:26 to 4:15. At the present time, there are approximately 30 members in the organization.

An annual concert is given by the orchestra in the spring.

Boy of the week is Tom McGriff.

Wow! Catch a load of this new look in saddles. Sleek and streamlined like a jet...with swept-back styling. Lower cut and lighter, so neat and trim, your feet actually look smaller in them.
