

Christmas Concert Slated for December 16

JUST BUZZIN'

Suggestion boxes have been placed on first and second floors. This is to give the students a chance to express their ideas and suggestions concerning the Bumble 'B.' We urge all students to make use of the boxes.

Character Education assemblies were held December 4, during the fifth hour with speaker the Rev. Thomas Hulme, from the Grace Episcopal Church. Student chairman was James Taylor.

Senior High held a pep assembly on November 27, at 3:50. The basketball teams were introduced by their coaches: the girls' basketball team by Coach Carroll, the sophomore team by Coach McIntyre, and the varsity team by Coach Clifton. The pep band played and cheers were led by the cheerleaders.

Future Teachers Club held a Prospective Teachers Day on November 13. There were 42 colleges that could be visited, and all the clubs throughout Iowa could attend. Among the colleges visited by Boone students were Iowa State Teachers College at Cedar Falls, Iowa State College at Ames, and Drake University at Des Moines. The day consisted of lectures, question and answer sessions, tours of the college and campus, visits to elementary classrooms, and a social hour.

On November 30, Mr. C. E. Jones presented his annual science assembly to both junior and senior high. His program this year, 'Beyond the Rainbow,' was a study of electromagnetic waves. The assembly featured a demonstration of music and color combined in a real fountain. Color and light also were shown by the use of a stroboscope and a peristoscope.

Mr. Jeff Clark, a journalism instructor at Iowa University, talked to the Bumble 'B' and Scroll staffs about ways to improve their publications. Mr. Clark travels all over Iowa talking to school newspaper and yearbook staffs offering them helpful suggestions.

Talent Wins Prizes

Over $200 was collected by the Bumble 'B' from its two-hour-long variety show of November 21. A variety of acts competed for cash prizes of $15, $10, and $5. Ruth Josephson was awarded the first prize for playing Mendelssohn's 'Rondo Capriccioso' as a piano solo. Second prize went to Mike Herman who sang 'Garden of Eden' and 'The Old Master Painter.' To capture the third prize, a combo composed of Rex Chadwick, Gary Cook, Donald Cross, Kathleen Gibbons, Ray Guenther, Bob Hamilton, Ray Morley, Gloria Peterson, Larry Stotts, and Fred Vitt, played 'Little Brown Jug' and 'Prom Polka.'

Judges for the acts were Mrs. Al Herman, Mrs. Ralph Kirk, and Mrs. Bill Westfall.

The campaign for Scroll sales closed November 1 with a final total of 365. This number of sales over the previous 225 brings the price per copy down from $7.50 to about $3.60. The excess over the purchase price will be taken up by advertising.

Members of the orchestra (bottom), band (middle), and mixed chorus (top), are busy practicing for the Christmas concert.

Assembly Will Feature Explorer

On December 11, at 1:20 p.m., Mr. Quentin Keynes will present an assembly for grades eight through 12.

The title of Mr. Keynes talk is, 'Journey to the Skeleton Coast,' and deals with Southwest Africa. Mr. Keynes is one of the few white men ever to go into Southwest Africa, a very barren place with no civilized tribes. During the course of the program he will show a film he took during his travel.

A young man, Mr. Keynes has been making a career of exploration. Although he has done some exploring in Greenland, most of it has been done in Africa and Madagascar.

Mr. Keynes claims to be the only man who has explored all the islands between Madagascar and Ceylon. He has also taken many photographs during his travels especially of rare animals and birds.

During the past year Mr. Keynes has had two articles published in the National Geographic Magazine.

Since Mr. Keynes is making only three or four appearances in high schools in the state of Iowa, Boone High is very fortunate to be able to have him present his assembly here. Because of this and the fact that this promises to be such an interesting and unusual program, the eighth and ninth graders will be permitted to attend.

Larry Meyers's name was inadvertently omitted from the list of the basketball team members. Sorry, 'Chimpy'.

On Sunday, December 16, at 4:00 p.m., the Boone High Music Department will present their annual Christmas concert in the auditorium.

First on the program will be the string orchestra playing the 'Christmas Concerto' by Corelli, and the full orchestra playing 'Adagio' by Godard.

Next the girls' chorus will sing, 'No candle was there and no fire,' 'Jesus, Jesus, rest your head,' 'Jesus Christ our Savior is born,' and 'The angels we have heard on high.'

The songs sung by the mixed chorus represent many different lands. They will sing three French carols, 'Jacques come here,' 'Now the Holy Child is born,' and 'On this good Christmas morn.' A German song, 'Good Christian men rejoice,' and a Russian one, the 'Cherubim Song' will also be featured, as well as the familiar, 'Away in a manger,' and the 'Gloria Patri' sung in Latin.

The band will close the program with 'Joy to the World,' 'The Holy City,' 'Three Songs for Christmas,' and 'Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring,' from Bach's 'Christmas Cantata.'

Boone Grad In Movie

Foremost among Boone graduates who are achieving success is Mary Ellen Dowd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Forest Thompson, of Boone.

Mary Ellen, or Mel, as she is called in professional circles, graduated from Boone High in 1951. During the two years she attended Boone High, Mary Ellen took an active part in speech and dramatic work and won a number one rating in the Iowa speech contest. She was a cheerleader during her senior year and also belonged to Pep Club.

After her graduation from high school Mary Ellen studied and appeared in plays at the Goodman Memorial Theater and the Playwright Theater Club in Chicago.

She then went to New York where she appeared in several Shakespearean productions at the Jan Hus Auditorium. She played Lady Macbeth in 'MacBeth,' Lady Capulet in 'Romeo and Juliet,' and both Titania and Hippolyta in 'A Midsummer Night's Dream.' Last winter many Boone people saw her when she appeared on television in the Circle Theatre.

The biggest event in Mary Ellen's career so far is the movie she has just finished making. She has the part of a nurse in Alfred Hitchcock's 'The Wrong Man,' starring Henry Fond and Vera Miles.

Hollywood agent Mrs. Paul Small, sister of MGM Producer Dory Schary, quickly took Mel on after seeing her screen test. Her adventures since arriving in Hollywood include being pushed in the nose by Marlon Brando when she went out a studio door as he was coming in.

This year the Student Congress will again collect canned goods for the needy families. The food collected at the tea dance will kick off this project. Money will be collected later for meats. This year let's all get behind the Student Congress and make it a Merry Christmas for all.

The following benefits will be yours, if you drive within the law: You spare yourself arrest; a court appearance; the cost of a fine. You are less likely to be the cause of an accident yourself.

Is Your Life Worth Sixty Dollars?

By Wanda Eklund

Do you consider safety belts and other safety devices hoaxes? If you do, you are mistaken. The experts say that auto safety devices would cut down casualties on the roads.

In a survey compiled by the American College of Surgeons (whose members give aid to the accident victims that turn up in hospitals ever 15 seconds) in which 75 cases were involved there were eight fatalities. Of those eight, four had belts that were not fastened; three were the result of convertibles overturning; and the eighth plunged off the road falling 50 feet into a lake. There were 25 collision accidents where no deaths occurred and in only three cases where the injuries were serious. Forty-two of the crashes involved going off the road, most of which were multiple turnovers, and in only two cases did moderate injury occur. In all the other cases there were very slight injuries or none at all.

If you are not yet convinced that you should have safety devices, these following figures should prove to you the need of them. The police in Indiana studied 130 accidents during a 90-day period in which 153 persons were killed and 220 automobiles involved. Skilled investigators probed into each accident to determine whether safety belts would have helped the victims. Their final conclusion should prove to you that safety belts are worth every cent they cost. Of those killed, 69% would have survived and another 12% may have survived if safety belts had been used.

Are you now convinced? There are many other stories which tell how someone may have been killed had it not been for safety devices. Seven states, our own among these, are making strong moves to have seat belts mandatory. One insurance company, the Industrial Indemnity Company of San Francisco, gives an immediate discount to policy holders who install two or more seat belts in their cars.

About $60 may save your life. A pair of seat belts is around $25, including installation. New door latches are standard equipment on all new cars, and according to the experts who have studied thousands of injury producing accidents, effective door latches on 50% of the cars would have given the occupants a better chance to survive. Padded dashboards, which are optional on all new models, cost about $35 and are effective against head injuries caused during collision.

Other safety device projects are under way by the automotive industry. Most of these are not known to the world but a Detroit engineer has come up with a radar device that automatically slows and stops a car when an object gets in its path. Professor E. F. Buhn of Pur-

Stoplight Needed

By Barbara Keys

In the past there have been many cars waiting to cross the street at Ninth and Story in Boone. Quite a number of pedestrians have waited impatiently until the cars have passed. Although I have never seen an accident happen on these streets, I have seen cars come close to having one. One way of solving the problem would be to put a stoplight on both corners of the intersection.

There are stoplights on all intersections on the main street of Boone except on the intersection of Ninth and Story. It is just as busy as any other intersection. If a stoplight were to be issued in this area, it would reduce a lot of the possibilities of accidents. It would also reduce the inconvenience of pedestrians having to wait before they can cross the street.

What can we do to get a stoplight there? One thing we could do is talk to our parents and different people around town about the situation. This could get them stirred to write up a petition if our talk is persuasive enough. Then we could take it to the Chamber of Commerce to see what they think about the idea.

People in Need of 'Crutches'

By Judy Malcom

How many people, I wonder, think for themselves? Do your friends do things they know they shouldn't do because the rest of the gang is doing it? Or more important, do you do things on your own or is someone else running your life? Think about this, for it may make a difference in your future.

When you ask a person for his opinion on a matter that is important to you, do you ever think that maybe these ideas are not his, but his best friend's? If a student wishes to be elected for a class office or if he wants to be on the student council, he certainly can not let others influence him. The student body wants someone in these important positions who will make wise decisions and do things for the good of the student body; not for a few friends who have frightened him into doing as they wish.

Adults who have always depended on others' help find it hard to hold a job. If help has to be given to them at all times, the employer soon dismisses them.

Adults who have to have a 'crutch' sometimes find it hard to get along with friends and family. A wife or husband likes to look upon the other with respect and admiration. They like to be able to depend upon each other for making wise decisions and for giving good, sound advice.

What kind of student and adult do you want to be—a person who can stand on his own two feet and think for himself, or a person who has to ask for help and who can't make up his own mind? I'm sure you would rather be a person with character who is looked upon with respect.

due University has constructed a bumper and grill with an energy absorbing pad. These are for the future, but at the present, is your life worth $60?

Are You a Hypochondriac?

A good question, in this day and age of psychiatrists. I have compiled a list of symptoms that any B.H.S. hypochondriac would recognize. To determine whether you are a hypochondriac, skim down the column and see whether any are familiar. Be honest with yourself; it isn't fair if you cheat. (Incidentally, a hypochondriac is one who suffers physically because he cannot face reality.)

Don't be modest!

1. CREEPING PARALYSIS OF THE FINGERS: common among pupils just before a speed-typing test. To combat this, wear flexible rubber gloves.

2. STIFF NECK: panicked students who sit next to smart pupils suffer from this affliction. It is often accompanied by:

3. FALLEN EYELIDS: they are suddenly unable to shift their eyes from side to side. Under normal conditions, this can be caused by watching the late movie the night before.

4. RIGID SPINE: Commonly suffered by those who jump on the trampoline for the first time. Also, along with this, is a general stiffening of the ankles and knees, causing the kid, er . . . subject to land on his heels.

5. GARBLED TEETH: this is only an illusion. The teeth aren't garbled. The tongue is swollen and keeps getting in the way. Common among speech students.

6. GUT-PHOBIA: girls in biology may suffer from this if they are called upon to dissect a formerly living creature.

7. SEVERE PAIN IN THE NECK: sometimes caused by students who irk teachers. This is accompanied with:

8. PUPILSIS: an unreasonable aversion to pupils by teachers.

9. TRACHEAL CONGESTION: homemaking students are victims of this occasionally when the instructor insists that they eat their own cooking.

10. CONSTRICTION OF THE BRAIN: very serious!

This is a list of common diseases and maladies with which the average student is occasionally afflicted. If you have never suffered from any of them, SEE YOUR DOCTOR!

VOX POPULI

Do you thing that there should be a grade average restriction on college entrance or should all students be allowed to attend?

Miss Holmquist: To my knowledge, most colleges do not require a 'B' average. It would be better to have a 'B' average in order to qualify for college entrance requirements. At least a 'C' average should be required.

Mr. Roloff: No. However, chances are better of making it through college if a person has a 'B' average.

Mrs. Dalton: My opinion is that students capable of doing college work should be allowed to attend. If it is going to be based on grade average, it ought to be a 'C.' An I.Q. test given upon application to college would give a better picture of a student's ability.

Mr. Abbott: The grades are not always the most important thing. All those who are willing to work should be allowed to attend the college of their choice.

Mr. Stock: I think that only students with a 'B' average should be permitted to attend college. However, there should be training schools for the others to learn trades.

Keith Josephson: If they can afford it, they should be able to go.

Evelyn Schoff: The grade average restrictions should be different among the different colleges.

Dennis Schmickley: Everyone should have the opportunity to go to college.

Dick Wilhite: I think it would be better to have a high average because it will help the person to do better in college.

Barbara Petty: I think they should let anyone go who really wants to go.

Larry Bergloff: No. I think there are a lot of students in high school who don't realize the work there is in college and therefore they don't learn as much as they can. After they get in college, they find that they must work and study in order to get through.

Don Smith: My girl says she is going to leave me if I don't quit running around.

Dick Hicks: That's too bad!
Don Smith: Yeah. I'll miss her.

There was a little bug
Who was crawling through the hall.
R-r-r-ing went the bell—
That's all.

Psychiatrist: Are you troubled by wicked thoughts?
Patient: Well . . . no. Fact is, I kinda enjoy them.

Meeting Perry Tuesday, November 27, the Boone high sophomores, coached by Les McIntyre, shelved Perry, 31-25. Gaining the most points was Jim Moore, guard, who dropped the ball in six times for 12 points.

Leading 8 to 2 at the first quarter, the score later changed to 15-14 at halftime, then 23-18 during the third quarter, and to the final score of 31-25. Boone led all the way.

Working with precision and speed, the Boone Toreadors easily downed the Perry Bluejays with a score of 57 to 43, a margin of 14 points.

During the whole game Boone was never behind, running up 20 to 4 in the first quarter, 36 to 17 the second quarter, 45 to 25 the third quarter and 57 to 43 in the fourth quarter.

Starting the game 'Chuck' Musser, Captain Bob Musser, Jim Taylor, Larry Land, and Larry Meyers played an outstanding game with 'Chuck' Musser leading the Boone scoring with 16 points while his brother, Bob, followed with 14.

Mike Newbold displayed some fine shooting when he dropped in a few long shots with apparent ease.

For the Youthful Driver

The following editorial is reprinted from the Lakeville, Connecticut Journal. It is apparent that the editor thinks a lot of the young people in his town and wrote it as a service to them. We reprint the piece for the same reason.

"The facts are in, boys, and you just don't make the grade. You, as a group between the ages of 16 and 25 think you're the world's best drivers; but the low down is this . . . you're the country's worst. The facts are in and your insurance rate has gone up anywhere from 20% to 50%.

"Think it over, lads . . . and dads. The insurance people are no dopes. They don't care whether you're handsome and have the females in a dither; they don't care whether you have a piece of junk lovingly tuned to a raceway song; they don't care if you can name every part of every motor ever built or that you can rebuild one with your eyes closed. All they care about is poor performance on the road.

Menace to Society

"Frankly, Sons, your performance stinks. You as a group are a menace to society . . . and to yourselves. Who says so? Not us. The insurance companies say so and they know; they don't know your name and address. They don't know if you own a Ferrari or a Ford. All they care about is facts, and the facts are, you have the worst road record of any age group in the country. And getting worse!

"And getting worse! Think that over, fathers and mothers. Proof? Car insurance costs have gone up sharply this year only for boys in this age group. You are still boys, boys. You aren't a man unless you can handle cars, among other things, and you aren't handling them properly, though you have plenty of know-how to do so. So, obviously, you aren't handling yourselves. That's the real answer.

"Don't blame this on the insurance companies. They just go by the number of accidents, the number of arrests, the number of maimed and killed which you have strewn over the roads of this and other states.

"So you as a group are experts, eh? You're suckers for your own build-up. That wouldn't matter so much if only you took the rap. It isn't only you who gets killed or hurt . . . it's the girl with you, it's the guy down the street, or the lady in the next county who trusted you to act like a man. Or even like a boy who still knows he's a boy and doesn't pretend any different. Sure, you never meant that accident, and won't mean the one you're going to have. And of course, it never is your fault. You have a heart of gold and are kind to your mother . . . you go out on the highways and act like a damn fool. A real fool!

"That's the truth and the insurance figures bear it out. Maybe the fifty extra bucks this year will give you pause. Of course you may be the exception that proves the rule. Certainly every one of you isn't that bad.

"But as a group you are, and what are you going to do about it? Are you going to be one of the gang that pays homage to the hot rod artist who ought to be in jail and will be soon, or dead? Are you going to go along for the ride so as not to appear chicken and let some bragging twirp at the wheel gamble with your future? Are you going to encourage these 'buddies' of yours to keep on boosting your own cost of driving a car? What's the percentage in acting like that?

$50 Stolen

"You wouldn't let this guy hit you over the head with a hammer; why let him drive you into a post. You wouldn't let him steal fifty bucks out of your pocket. Yet he's already done that this year.

"And you, the worst offenders . . . you spoiled brats thinking you can handle 130-horsepower when you can't handle one-boypower, what are you going to do about it? Brother, get the lowdown . . . the girls in your age group have it all over you. Not only in looks, but in intelligence, self-control, in fair play, and in their ability to handle those 130-horsepower you can't handle.

"That's not our opinion; it's the considered opinion of the insurance companies. The rates for girls in your own age group have gone down, not up. They are getting to be better drivers, not worse. How does that make you feel? For all your boasting and all your showing off and all your flouting of the rules of the road, and all your reckless bravado, and all your skill (oh, yes, we know you are skillful) you just haven't got what it takes . . . and that is judgment.

Champs Not Chumps

"You haven't yet learned that the champs are not chumps. And if you don't believe the insurance companies about what lousy drivers you are, ask a champ someday . . . if you can face it. Don't fool yourself about the cheap adulation of the kids around you who don't know any better. And don't think your girl is impressed by your hot shot antics the next time you take her out. She, and most of your buddies, have you tabbed for just what you are, a chump. They're just too polite or too scared or disgusted to tell you.

"Nobody else will tell you, so we're telling you. We'll take it back when the insurance rates go back down."

Boone vs. Carroll

Friday night our Toreadors lost to Carroll 64-51. It wasn't the physical beating that spelled out Boone's loss. The 31-point firing of Carroll's forward, Tom Burns, and the inability of the Toreadors to hit on good shots were the costly factors. 'Chuck' Musser and Larry Meyers were Boone's high men with 13 points each.

Friday, November 16, the Boone Toreadorettes lost their first game of the season to the Ogden Bulldogs by a score of 50-39.

Boone Girls vs. Rockwell

Boone High Toreadorettes were led to a victory November 30 by a 40-point show by Rita Howard and great teamwork. Coach Carroll's girls pushed ahead of the opposing forces to win by a margin of 63-55.

Forty points by Howard consisted of 15 fielders and 10 free throws.

Only two days before the game Etta Mae Grady shifted to defense and made a brilliant showing. Dutton, Wilhelm, and Fetzer gave a great display of teamwork.

Freshman Sharon Jones manned the post position and aided Howard in passes and close-in shots.

Alsin and Mustapha also tallied points for the Toreadorettes and aided Boone to a victory.

Adel Game

Coach Ralph Carroll's girls' basketball team came through with a victorious 29-27 score here Monday night, November 19, in the game with Adel.

Boone's leading scorer was Rita Howard, with 12 points. Etta Mae Grady made an excellent flip from the charity line and a driving hook shot.

The score was close all the way but Boone was almost certain of a victory. The last four minutes of the game were by far the most exciting. The Toreadorettes then gained possession of the ball and stalled out the clock, for their first victorious game of the season.

Cartoonist Entertains

Jeff Hayes, cartoonist, combines cartooning with magic and his program on December 3, at 1 p.m., was highly entertaining, as well as instructive. He showed how comic strips are created and drawn. He is a member of the National Cartoonists Society and for many years has been one of America's leading cartoonists.

Mr. Hayes is one of the busiest cartoonists in the business. During his regular lecture season, September through May, he gives about 500 programs and then in the summer you find him giving his services to go overseas to entertain service men and women. In 1954 he went to Alaska with a group of famous cartoonists which included Tom Gill, 'The Lone Ranger,' Hilda Terry, 'Tenna,' and Verne Greene, 'The Shadow.' The previous summer found him in Korea entertaining the troops there.

Wherever he is in the hinterlands of our country or near the service men, Jeff Hayes meets the deadline for his cartoon. As he explained, he must draw them weeks ahead but he must be very careful to consider the season of the year when each cartoon will appear in the papers. For example, if he draws a cartoon in August that will be printed in November then he must not use swimming, summer clothes, etc., but keep in mind fall weather and clothing.

Hayes is one of the few left-handed cartoonists in the business and he told about this in his program. He also told about famous cartoonists of today and stressed how important comic strips are for children and the great influence that they have on our youth, thereby making the cartoonists ever aware of the importance of their work. This small man with the large smile warms the hearts of audiences everywhere.

Mr. Hayes is known for his cartoons, a few of which are 'Silent Sam,' 'Witty Kitty,' 'Seems Like Yesterday,' 'Pop,' 'Adamson's Adventures,' and now his latest and most popular, 'Chips,' which is syndicated by Consolidated News Features, of New York City.

Born in Newburgh, New York, Jeff Hayes became interested in art early in his life, and 20 years ago took up cartooning as a serious business. In addition to preparing daily comic strips, touring the country offering programs to service clubs, schools, and colleges, Mr. Hayes spends a lot of time entertaining service men.

New books added to the junior high library were examined.

In Medieval days many a rule had to be established for children. Here are just a few:

Children:
If you dine with your master, let him begin first; don't press up too high, but take the place assigned to you. At the table don't pare (clean) your nails. If your master speaks to you, take off your cap and stand up. Put your finger into your broth and test it before you put it in your mouth. If someone shares your dish, don't crumble bread into it, as your hands might be sweaty. Cut nice bits of bread to put in your broth, and don't sip that too loudly. Don't dip your meat into the common salt-cellar. Wipe your spoon clean before putting it down, and take care that it is not stolen. Chew no bones with your teeth. Belch near no man's face; don't scratch your head or nails; don't spit over the table; or pick your teeth with a knife. Wipe your mouth when you are through. Don't blow your nose on your napkin. Don't fill your mouth too full, or blow out your crumbs. Don't blow on your soup or drink. Cast not thy bones under the table, nor cut the table with your knife. When you are through say to your companions, "Much good do it ye," bow to your master and withdraw.

The Rev. Thomas Hulme, rector of the Episcopal Church, was the speaker at the Character Education Assembly.
