

Thespians to Present Their First Production

Senior High Officers Elected

On Thursday, September 26, the senior class officers for the year were elected.

Bob Musser, who is active in both football and basketball, was elected president of the senior class. Jack Kelly was Bob's opponent. Glen Lee, more popularly known as 'Buzz,' and Denny Elliott were candidates for vice-president. 'Buzz' came out on top. Two Karens, Trulin, who won, and Mustapha, her opponent, were up for secretary.

'Chuck' McGriff, president; Gayle Ohlman, vice-president, and Delores Hampton, secretary, were the officers elected for the junior class. Emily Grabau, Jim Cross, and Kathryn Disney were their opponents respectively.

Scroll Starts New Ad Plan

Wanda Ekland, editor of the high school yearbook, the 'Scroll,' has announced a new advertising plan to enable the staff to expand their annual and to produce a better 'Scroll.'

Advertisers for the first time may purchase pictorial ads. They may use place of business, students, or any sharply defined black and white picture. Some of the clothing stores are using students as models.

Ben Pollard and Bill Anderson, Scroll photographers, will take the pictures. Advertisers will be able to get immediate approval on photography since a Polaroid Land Camera back will be used with the conventional Speed Graphic camera. This will have the advantage of one-minute development.

Advertisers who are interested in this new plan and have not been contacted may call the Scroll office, 338, extension 6, and a student salesman will make an appointment to explain the new ads.

BHS Welcomes New Teachers

Boone High School has eleven new teachers on the faculty.

Miss Grove, junior high librarian and English teacher, comes to us from Ames; Mrs. Thompson, English, hails from Ashland, Kentucky; Mr. Olson, who comes to us from Sac City, teaches American and world history and civics; Mr. Bruns, chemistry, hails from Washington, Iowa; Mr. Parter, who comes from Keosauqua, Iowa, teaches algebra and geometry; Mrs. Noblett, algebra and trigonometry, comes from Ames; Mr. Riemschneider, who comes from Churdan, teaches typing and secretarial practice. Mrs. Dugan, junior high English; Mrs. Morris, junior high reading, science, and history; Miss Quinn, girls' physical education; and Mrs. Downey, assistant school nurse, are all from Boone.

Pep Club Holds Initiation

As is done every year on the day of the first football game, the new girls going into Pep Club were initiated on September 13. All but one of the girls were sophomores, the other was a junior.

Long underwear, swimming suits, short skirts, high heels, bobby socks, and the usual paraphernalia were the costumes for the day. The night before was spent by the initiates wrapping enough gum drops in waxed paper to make a rope five feet long which was to take the place of jewelry.

The initiates, who were accompanied to school by an older member, had to sing their song, which was to the tune of 'On Boone High,' throughout the day. They also took part in the pep assembly which was held in the afternoon.

Teacher (looking over junior's homework): "How can a single person make so many mistakes?"

Junior: "Father's not single, teacher, he's married."

Sue: "If you stay here tonight, you'll have to make your own bed."

Joyce: "That's okay."

Sue: "Here's a hammer and saw. Good night."

Tempted, Tried and True

'Dirty Work at the Crossroads' by Bill Johnson has been chosen as this year's fall play. This gay nineties melodrama in three acts will be presented October 30 at 8:00 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

The play has only one setting and cast of seven women and three men. It tells in laughable style the tear-jerking story of Nellie Lovelace, an innocent country girl; of Adam Oakhart, the stalwart blacksmith's son; and of Munro Murgatroyd, the villain from the big city. Munro, the viper, has a wife, Ida Rhinegold, the belle of the New Haven Music Halls, but that does not prevent him from pursuing the innocent Nellie and tearing her from the arms of her dying mother (who incidentally he has poisoned) nor does it prevent him from driving Adam to drink, from blackmailing the rich Mrs. Upson Asterbilt, or from bewitching her daughter, Leonie.

Tryouts were held September 26, 27, 28. The following were chosen as members of the cast: Nellie Lovelace, as true as she is tender, Jean Abbott; Adam Oakhart, as brave as he is bashful, David Otto; Widow Lovelace, as sweet as she is simple, Beth Severtson; Munro Murgatroyd, as wild as he is wicked, Robert Sharp; Ida Rhinegold, as deep as she is dyed, Betsy Lorentzen; Mookie Magaggins, as rude as he is rustic, Richard Hunter; a Madison Avenue Belle, Elizabeth Hinz; Fluerette, their French maid Ooolala! Francine Belhassen; Little Nell, who never had a father, Linda Lainson.

Admission will be by activity ticket or fifty cents per ticket.

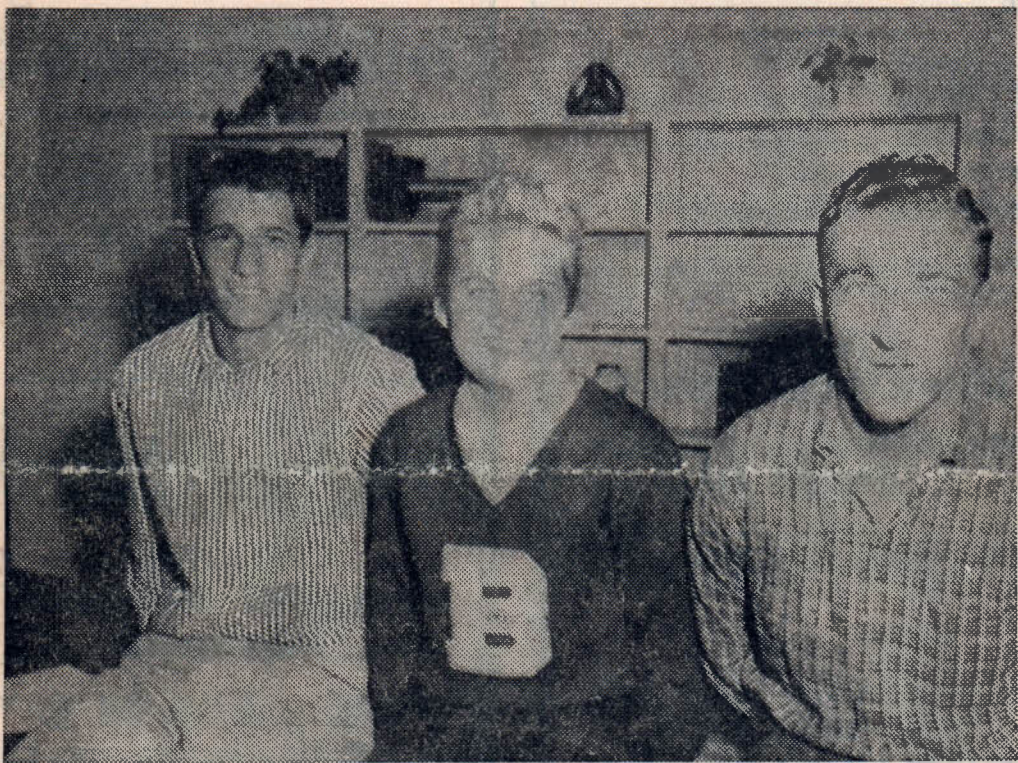

Introducing . . .

The majority of these students are either enrolled in the college preparatory course or the clerical course.

During September 10, 11, and 12, tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grade students of Boone High received a 'vacation' from their regular school routine. Those were the dates of the Iowa Basic Skills Tests, which were administered during the first, second, fifth, and sixth periods to avoid the lunch hours. Students who participated in the program were assigned special testing rooms.

The tests are designed to give teachers, parents, and students themselves some idea of the extent of the student's knowledge of academic subjects, and how they compare with other students of their level.

Students Broadcast 'School Daze' on KWBG

This year KWBG in co-operation with Boone High School and Junior College has added a new program to its schedule. 'School Daze' is the name and it can be heard on Mondays and Wednesdays from 8:30 to 9:00 p.m. The announcer for this program is Dan Corrick and the faculty sponsor is Mr. Bissell. The program features general news, interviews, surveys, the newest records, and special events.

Due to the request of several students, you may now buy a subscription to the Bum 'B' for the remainder of the issues that will be coming out this year. The price which includes one free issue, is $1.30 with an activity ticket and $1.95 without an activity ticket. Subscriptions may be purchased in room 309 before and after school.

The Future Nurses Club held their first meeting September 25 at 3:15. Karen Toot, last year's vice-president, called the meeting to order. Priscilla Chinstedt, president; Mary Wiemer, vice-president; Karen Dutton, secretary; and Laurel Rans, treasurer, were the officers elected for this year. Other business discussed was the invitation of all future nurses to attend a tea given by the Boone County Medical Auxiliary at the Holst Hotel, October 3.

It was two porcupines necking.

Q. What should you wear with a lavender dress with green pockets, yellow polka dots, and red trim?

A. An overcoat.

Teacher of the Week

A loud explosion and then huge clouds of smoke billowing through the halls, followed by a horrible smell of indescribable nature. "Help! Is the school on fire?" "No! No! Worse yet! We're being bombed! Head for the bomb-shelters." Slow down. Take it easy. There's no rush. Just go to the chemistry room and meet our teacher of the week, Mr. Bruns, who is in command of all the seeming pandemonium. Actually, he's just doing his job—teaching chemistry.

Born and reared in the small northwestern Iowa town of George, Mr. Bruns has accomplished much in the way of education. He has a Bachelor of Arts degree from Morningside College, a Master of Arts degree from Drake, and some graduate work from the University of Iowa.

The reasons Mr. Bruns decided to teach chemistry are two in number. He says, "I like chemistry, and I like kids."

Prior to coming to Boone, Mr. Bruns taught in Washington High School, Lake City High School, and Buena Vista College, all of which are in Iowa. In World War II he served as Chief Pharmacist Mate in the Navy.

When asked if he had had any amusing experiences in his teaching career, he answered serenely, "Nothing ever happens to me." But he does have a hobby to fill his time, and that is limnology. (For those of you who are as uninformed as the writer of this article was, it means simply—fishing). Also Mr. Bruns and his wife have traveled through most of the 48 states by going on camping trips.

If any of you are interested in meeting Mr. Bruns, just sign up for a course in chemistry.

yourself. The menus are planned for food value and appetite appeal, but they can't have everybody's favorite dish.

New teachers in B.H.S. this year! Welcome, new teachers! Hope you'll enjoy your stay here as much as we think we will. Maybe you'll decide you like it so much that you'll stay for good! We've had several teachers in the past who came here quite young and retired here.

Well, my fingernail is getting worn down, so I'd better give it a chance to grow out again. I don't want to miss getting my two cents' worth into the next issue. S'long!

Editorial

Every fall a group of weirdly attired girls (looking more nearly like savages than civilized humans) are seen traipsing through the halls of the high school. This is what is popularly known as an initiation. For the girls being initiated, it is often a nightmare. For the people doing the initiating, it is often a way of 'getting even' with their bosom enemies. But for all participating in the 'ceremonies' it is dangerous. Two examples of fatalities resulting from initiations can be cited here:

Last year at a college initiation a stunt took place in which the newcomer was to be gagged. That in itself wasn't bad. The sad part came when the gag lodged in his throat and strangled him to death.

A more recent incident happened this fall when a superintendent tried to have a 'safe and sane' initiation for his students. He planned to stand beneath a spotlight with a rope around him to look as if he were hanged. When teachers came to talk to him, he didn't speak. A doctor pronounced this case 'accidental strangulation.'

Now these accidents weren't planned, but they happened all the same. Suppose one of the girls in Pep Club is allergic to the goo that is sprayed on them. Or suppose in Dolphin initiation someone fell on the tiles in the swimming pool. These accidents wouldn't be planned; nor would they necessarily be fatal. Nonetheless they could be quite serious.

Besides these points, there is this question to answer: What good comes from a messy initiation?—Certainly no social or intellectual benefits. In Iowa there are very few schools (or colleges for that matter) that allow informal initiations. They have banquets and ceremonies to make it an honor to join a club. Our present initiations even help to exclude eligible people because of their timidity for the muss and fuss of initiations. On the whole it seems that formal initiations aren't dangerous; they benefit both socially and intellectually; and they encourage membership.

Do you think there should be more formal functions for the senior high other than the prom?

Carolyn Dahlin: Yes, because students need a variety of activities.

Dave Otto: Yes, because it might help create unity among the students.

Bob Dahlgren: Yes, so the people who haven't participated in previous formal functions know what they're like.

Mr. Roloff: No, because of the problems that come up in preparing for a function of this type.

Diana Caywood: Yes, because they're so much fun and it's about the only time we get to dress up other than the prom.

Judy Parisho: No, because everyone always looks forward to the prom, and having so many formal dances wouldn't make it such a special affair.

Mr. Abbott: Yes, probably one or two formals other than the prom would be all right, but not as elaborate as the prom.

Laurel Rans: Yes, maybe a dance in between the football and basketball seasons.

Mary Jo Caldwell: Yes, maybe one formal and one semi-formal other than the prom, but not so many that the prom wouldn't be a special event.

Gary Highland: Yes, because the sophomores will know what to expect when time rolls around for the prom.

Mr. Bruns: "What is the most outstanding product science has given to the world?"

Jerry Lind: "Blondes!"

Toreadors Lead at Half

One of the most disappointing and frustrating games of the season, so far, was the Boone-Marshalltown meet on Friday, September 28. A Bobcat touchdown in the fourth period defeated the Toreadors 18-14.

In the first quarter, Jack Langmade passed to Bob Musser who lateralled to Jerry Benjamin to cover 79 yards of Boone's first touchdown. Denny Ferry kicked the conversion to lead the game 7-0.

Marshalltown scored late in the second quarter on a 62-yard pass from Rod Von Krog to another of the Bobcats. Their attempt for the extra point was blocked by Doug Dodd. This enabled Boone to hold a 7-6 halftime lead.

Boone's second touchdown came late in the fourth quarter on a 6-yard thrust by Denny Ferry. Jerry Benjamin's placement gave the Toreadors a 14-12 advantage. The Bobcat touchdown of the period came on a long, straight pass from Von Krog.

On Boone's second touchdown try, the Toreadors got up to the 26-yard line. It was fourth down and one yard to go. Langmade attempted a pass, but it was batted down and almost intercepted. The ball then went to the Bobcats with 51 seconds left in the game. This wiped out hopes for the end of Boone's losing streak.

Boone Loses to Ames

In the second game of the season, the Boone Toreadors gamely fought a losing battle against the Little Cyclones.

Ames scored twice in the second quarter and once again in the third quarter. Many times Boone seemed to be on the verge of going all the way, only to be thwarted by fumbles, penalties, and pass interceptions. Milliken made Ames' first score with the second being made by Scholl. Dresser made the last score after recovering a fumble and making a 23-yard run.

Boone's outstanding players in this game were guard Paul King, injured in the fourth quarter, and backs Lee and Benjamin.

Once there were three men riding in an airplane. Unfortunately, one fell out. Fortunately, there was a haystack below him. Unfortunately, there was a pitchfork in the haystack. Fortunately, he missed the pitchfork. Unfortunately, he missed the haystack.

Bill Herman: "Whisper those three little words that make me walk on air."

Judy Malcom: "Go hang yourself."

Sophomores Drop First

Boone Sophs lost their first game of the season, 33-7, with Webster City. Boone drove deep into Webster City territory at the outset before yielding on downs. The defense held and forced the visitors to punt. But the kick was fumbled and Webster City recovered deep in Boone's land. That set up the score which came with 9:43 left.

Brad Beckett took a pitchout in the third period and ran 55 yards for Boone's only touchdown. A pass from Keith Bass to Keith Ablett brought the extra point.

Don Reeves at center, fullback Terry Ferry, and halfback Brad Beckett were the leaders in this game.

Hint: One nickname belongs to two owners.

On Friday, September 13, the Boone High Toreadors played their first game of the season and suffered a crushing defeat of 20-0 at the hands of Webster City.

Webster City dominated the first half of the game with the Toreadors trying their best to get a play in. With Boone really fighting, Webster City made only one touchdown in the first half. In favor of Boone was the fact that Webster City's passing star, Loren Burnett, received a slight back injury and was taken out of the game. This wiped out Webster City's passing game.

In the second half Boone made its deepest penetration when Jerry Benjamin made a 20-yard drive, but did not make enough yards for another first down. The ball was lost to Webster City.

Jerry Benjamin played very outstandingly for the Toreadors. He started out as tackle and was later shifted to halfback. Once in this spot, he netted about 69 yards for the game. Glen Lee's punting was also very good. He kicked four times for an average of 39.5 yards each kick. Starting his first varsity game, junior, Denny Ferry also played very well.

Superstition has it that this bad luck was because this first game was played on Friday, the 13th.

McCargar Sponsors Special Program for Freshmen

This year the Iowa High School Speech Association is sponsoring a program for all ninth grade students who are interested in speech work. If you are interested, see Mr. McCargar in room 208 before or after school.

These activities include oratorical declamation, dramatic declamation, humorous declamation, and interpretive reading.

The contests included are the preliminary, pre-district, district, and state.

The purpose of the Iowa High School Speech Association program is to interest more students in speech work.

Cheerleaders Selected

Thursday, September 19, after school the junior high cheerleading tryouts took place. Mrs. Martin, Mr. Roloff, Miss Quinn, Karen Trulin, Joy Pollard, Pat Curran, and Janet Smith did the judging. The students did T-E-A-M and Four Claps and Four Fights in a group. They also did Go Matadors and B.H.S. by themselves. The ninth grade cheerleaders are Mary Shaler, Marcia Bohlen, Pam Parrish, and Janna Weston, alternate. Sue Caldwell, Melinda Moffitt, and Helen Sinn are the eighth grade cheerleaders with Jean Beckwith as alternate.

The junior high cheerleaders took part in their first game Saturday, September 28, at Ames. A bus load of students accompanied the cheerleaders.

Some homerooms used the cafeteria as a testing room. The intercom was used for giving directions and for starting and stopping the tests.

Tests were concluded the sixth hour on Thursday, September 12. It is expected that they will be given every other year.

Junior High Grows

The population of Boone Junior High has increased somewhat since last year. The main reason is a big crop of new seventh grade students.

From out of town are George Williams, Gene Riehn, Karen Van De Woestine, Carol Hurtley, Sandra Runyan, Bonnie Gilchrist, and Sharilyn Coad. Eighth graders from out of town are Carolyn Browning, Barbara Snyder, Bonnie Ahrens, Jan Thatcher, Mary Gilchrist, Karen Dooley, Donald Lindahl, Cynthia Moore, and Audrey Nelson.

In the ninth grade are David Moeller, Collen Williams, La Vonne Rather, Ronald Ahrens, Dennis Davis, Richard Moore, Slydeen Campbell, Larry Riehn, Richard Fear, Ron Larson, Jerry Thatcher, Patricia Snowgren, Sharon Dooley, and Karen Cantonwine.

Most of today's children are descended from a long line their mother once listened to.
