Honor Roll Delayed

The honor roll list which should appear in this issue of the Bumble 'B' is not available because of the illness of Mr. McLeran and Mr. Abbott, whose grades were not available. However, it will be printed in the next issue.

Boone Grad Takes Part in Retreat

Carl Handy, a graduate of Boone High School, participated in a retreat held Saturday, November 2, on the Iowa Wesleyan College campus. Those taking part in the retreat were students who are leaders in religious activities on the campus.

Members of Alpha Theta, the honorary society for those with a special interest in religion, and members of the Religious Life Council made up the group participating. Dr. Donald Bishop, the college chaplain, heads both of these groups.

Carl, a sophomore at Iowa Wesleyan, was a member of the 1956 graduating class at Boone High. He is the son of the Rev. William S. Handy, Associate Minister of the First Methodist Church in Boone.

Boys' Bowling League Started

Thirty-six boys have reported out for Boone High's newest extra-curricular activity, league bowling, held every Monday afternoon from 3:30 to 6:00 o'clock.

The newly organized boys' bowling league will meet every week for seven weeks before and after Christmas at Johnston's Bowling Alley. Each person bowls three lines a night at the cost of 65 cents. This includes the cost of shoes.

All team averages, announcements, and other business are handled by Gary Bloomberg, the group's secretary.

Team captains and members are: Dick Eccles, captain; members Jerry Berglund, Neal Gragg, Don Pritchard, Randy Holland, Bill Gilliam, Sven Sterner. Captain, Loren Vogler; Elmer Eckhart, Kenny Shafer, Phil Nelson, 'Chuck' McCubbins, Elmo Hansen. Captain, Phil Standley; Milford Bloomquist, Herb Jacobson, Glen Forester, Tony Crandell, Larry Cook, Darrel Mestdagh. Captain, Don Dearborn; Dennis Sigler, Larry Trulin, Bob Dutton, Ted Summers, Don Reeves, Loren Gibson. Captain, Gary Blumberg; Bob Price, Kenny Swanson, Darwin Backous, Garry McVicker, Larry Siders, Fred Erickson.

Only five members of a team can bowl in a game. The team captain decides which five boys on his team shall participate in a game. Those persons not bowling in the regular scheduled games can bowl on extra bowling lanes.

The two newest members of the league are Harley McCoy and Larry Boersma. These boys have not been assigned to teams as of now. Any boy wishing to join the league may still do so by contacting Gary Blumberg or reporting to Johnston's Bowling Alley on Monday after school.

20 Prospective Teachers Visit Iowa Colleges

Prospective Teachers' Day was held Wednesday, November 13, to give all students interested in teaching as a profession an opportunity to visit other colleges. The colleges sponsoring this visitation day were Iowa State College, Drake University, Iowa State Teachers College, and Boone Junior College.

The members of the Future Teachers' Club of Boone participated in this to learn more about the teachers' training program. The day consisted of tours of the campus and panels and talks about fields and opportunities of teaching.

The students from Boone who toured Iowa State College were Irene Morello, Myra Nelson, Janice Bibbons, Joan Stotts, Joyce Peterson, Beverly Garner, Pauline Bergloff, Shelia Cattanaach, Jayne Clark, Judy Bass, and Anna Longhenry.

Six Boone future teachers went to Iowa State Teachers College. They were Sharon Crumbaugh, Diana Caywood, Janet Guenther, Lois Hicks, Mary Hagaman, and Gail Raettig.

Judy Eastberg, Sandra Suthern,

"All this talk about back-seat drivers is bunk. I've driven a car for 10 years and I've never had a word from behind."

"What sort of car do you drive?"

"A hearse."

Postponed, Play Jinxed Three Times

Play Postponed

The play, 'Dirty Work at the Crossroads,' was to have been presented October 30, but had to be postponed because three of the main characters in the play became ill with the flu.

An interview with Mr. Seaton brought out the fact that there would be no possible way to work in the plans for the play until the flu epidemic had subsided.

Car Strikes Cart

Trouble should be the name for the all-school play this year. As you know, the play has had one misfortune after another—first sickness, and then the accident which nearly cost the life of the assistant director, Dave Williamss.

Dave had hired a horse and buggy to carry the actors of the play uptown. Dressed in old-fashioned clothes they were to advertise the play. Dave was returning the buggy after dark when suddenly a car struck the buggy from behind, throwing Dave into a ditch, wrecking the buggy, and injuring the horse slightly.

Trulin Falls Through Footlights

That same week a jinx struck the play causing more damage. Karen Trulin, head of the make-up crew, was cleaning the stage after the set had been struck. As she was sweeping, she moved toward the front of the stage where she placed her foot on one of the boards that cover the footlights. It gave way, causing her to fall. She received many cuts and bruises.

Teacher: "Freddie, you mustn't laugh out loud in the schoolroom."

Freddie: "I didn't mean to do it. I was smiling and the smile busted."

and Mary Lou Doran visited Boone Junior College.

Iowa State College also invited all homemaking students from Boone High who were interested in becoming a homemaking teacher to visit their homemaking department on Prospective Teachers' Day.

Coffee Hours Held Twice a Month

On Wednesday, November 13, the third coffee hour for parents and teachers was held. The coffee hours are held alternately for the parents of senior high students and the parents of junior high students. They are sponsored jointly by the P.-T. A. and the school, and two meetings are held each month. The purpose of the coffee hour is to help parents and teachers become better acquainted socially. Visitors may buy coffee for five cents. There is a faculty welcoming committee which will contact a particular teacher if a parent wishes.

The Rev. Robert Hurty was the speaker at a character education assembly on Tuesday, November 5, during the second period. The student chairman for junior high was Philip Drumm. Philip Standley was the student chairman for senior high.

Senior High Holds Open House Nov. 12

Parents and teachers held an open house at 7:30 p.m. on November 12 at the high school. Mr. Tillson was the general chairman for the occasion, with Mrs. Engen as the social hour chairman. Mrs. Dugan handled publicity. Mr. Tillson, Mr. Abbott, and Mr. Bissell were in charge of senior high displays; and Mr. Stone, Mr. Lamb, and Mrs. Brunner took care of junior high displays.

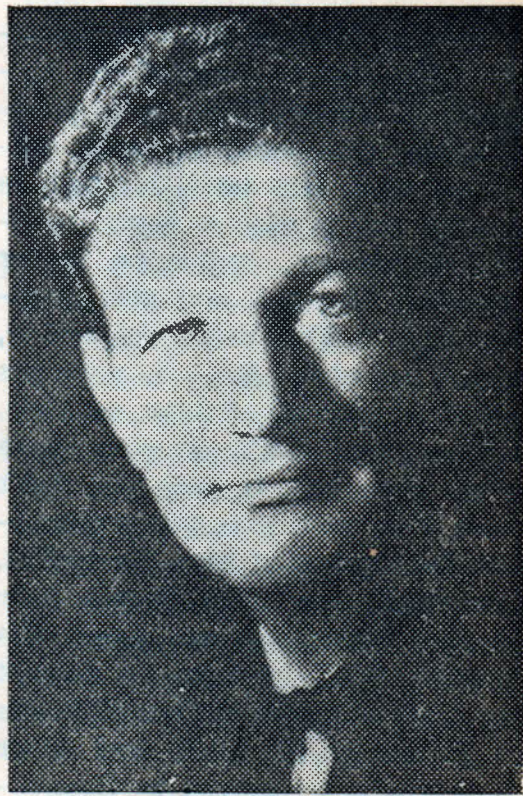

The purpose of the open house was to help parents and teachers become better acquainted, and thus to make the theme for American Education Week, November 10-16, more effective. The theme was, 'An Educated People Moves Freedom Forward.' To carry out the purpose of the open house, parents attended their child's classes which represented a typical day in the life of a student. Ten-minute periods were allowed for each class, enabling parents to become acquainted with teachers and the school. After the sixth period, the Junior-Senior High P.-T. A. served coffee in the cafeteria for the teachers and parents.

Apple-Seeking Teachers Attend Convention

Friday, November 8, school was dismissed for the 103rd annual convention of the Iowa State Education Association. The convention, which was held in Des Moines, began Thursday evening and ended Saturday, was attended by teachers from all over the state of Iowa. The theme for this year's convention was, 'Education Is Our Business.'

Among the many highlights of the convention were: an address by Herbert Philbrick, a staff member of the New York Herald Tribune, entitled, 'I Led Three Lives'; an address entitled, 'Modern Trends in the Use of Audio-Visual Materials,' by Dr. Meidhenry of the University of Nebraska; and an address by Richard Wilson, a Washington correspondent for the Des Moines Register and Tribune, entitled, 'Washington under Pressure: the Impact of the World Crisis on Our National Leaders.'

Traditionally, a school supply company provides each visiting teacher with an apple.

DR. MORTON GREENE

Thursday, November 14, at 2:00 p.m., 'Hypnotic Marvels,' a stage show including feats of hypnotism, prophecy, age regression, and adventures into the supernatural, will be presented by Dr. Morton Greene at Boone High School.

Dr. Greene, the star of the show, is a world-famous hypnotist. He holds a Ph. D. from St. Andrew's University in Great Britain, and has appeared on a number of television shows, on the stage in this country and abroad, and is considered a leader in his field of hypnotism.

Dr. Greene's program will include demonstrations of various phases of hypnosis, including control of the subconscious, extresensary perception, telepathy, pain control, catalepsy, and age regression, similar to the famed 'Bridy Murphy Case.'

The program which is being sponsored by the Boone Lions Club will be presented four times in Boone. Two performances will be given in the afternoon—one for grade school students and a second for the Boone Junior College and junior and senior high school students. This hour and a half program will be held in the gym and will cost 25 cents a student. Two complete performances will be held in the evening for adults at the high school auditorium.

To prove his unusual powers of preception, Dr. Greene will give a free demonstration at noon preceding his scheduled performances at the high school. He will drive a car blindfolded through the streets of Boone, observing all laws and street signals. His demonstration will be under the supervision of the police department.

TOOTIN' TEENS

For this week's boy and girl of the week we decided to vary from the custom of featuring athletes. Because we consider music of as much importance to students as athletics, we are this week featuring 'maestros' in the music medium.

Boy of the Week

Our boy of the week, Phil Standley, is known to most of the students of Boone High as a good-natured, good-looking, good all-around guy. His activities include singing in the church choir, bowling, swimming, orchestra, being president of band, and also president of 4-H. This looks like, and is, a busy schedule. But—he says his favorite girl is all of them; so, girls, it seems as if you'll get your share of his time, too. In case you don't know Phil, we'll give you a thumbnail description of him. He is 5 ft. 11 in. tall, has dark brown hair (almost black), brown eyes. His weight? Well, he says he doesn't know. He was born in Council Bluffs on February 27, 1940, and after three years, he moved to Boone—with his family, of course.

High on his list of favorites are: food, steaks and peach pie; popular song, 'Honeycomb'; classic, 'Twelfth Street Rag'; subject, chemistry; and time of day, 3:15 p.m. Phil's pet peeve is alarm clocks. Included in his musical talents are the ability to play the piano and the clarinet.

Every third Saturday afternoon Phil can be found at his hobby of woodworking. He says, "I fix everything that is broken or won't work (except radios)." After high school Phil plans to go into veterinary medicine at I. S. C.

TYPICAL GIRL

I'm scared most of: wolves.
I like: fun.
I despise: quizzes.
Most embarrassing moment: purse upset.
I enjoy: dancing.
My biggest fault is: gossiping.
My greatest asset is: cosmetics.
My specialty is: teasing.
My happiest moments: first date.
I love: clothes.

TYPICAL BOY

I'm scared most of: girls.
I like: hot rods.
I despise: English.
Most embarrassing moment: asking a girl for a date.
I enjoy: sports.
My biggest fault is: feet.
My greatest asset is: money.
My happiest moment was: getting my first car.
I love: food.

Apologies

To David Tucker and Don Flockhart for leaving their names off the list of Bumble 'B' sports reporters. We have corrected that mistake now.

For using the girls' restroom number 220 when actually the room was 213. The article was not meant to reflect in any way on the efficiency of the Boone High janitors—but to poke fun at those who make it a practice of writing on the walls. Actually there is only one wall in Room 213 with writing on it and that only because the wall can't be washed.

Girl of the Week

On May 31, 1940, in the Boone County Hospital, a little bundle of joy was introduced to this big, fascinating world. She has changed a little since that time and is now five feet seven inches tall, has blonde hair, and blue eyes, and is our girl of the week. As for her weight—well, that's a secret. Her activities are numerous and keep her very busy. They are orchestra, band, mixed chorus, Hi-Tri, small string groups, Future Teachers', Pep Club, of which she is president; and accompanist for boys' octette.

Our talented girl of the week plays the piano and bass viol. 'Twelfth of Never' is her favorite popular song and Grieg's 'Piano Concerto' her favorite classic.

As for other favorites, she likes 'nice, thick, juicy, T-bones,' any form of math, and a certain B. T. from Ames. People who are never prompt rate a listing as her pet peeve.

When asked what her plans for the future are, 'Peedaw' (that's her nickname) answered, "I'm still undecided, but I would like to take up some phase of business administration or home economics." By now you have all guessed that our mystery girl is none other than Joyce Peterson.

Wife to husband: "I'm going next door for a minute. Stir the soup every half hour or so."

Fashions

With winter coming on, many of the students of B. H. S. have most of their winter wardrobe chosen.

One of the various new fashions out this year that the students in Boone have 'latched' onto is crew-necked sweaters. Both boys and girls are sporting various colors—everything from a bright red to a dull grey.

Also this year, the Ivy League style is back, but more so. They not only have Ivy League trousers for the boys, they also have shoes, socks, skirts, slacks, caps, blouses, and shirts with the Ivy League look.

The girls are wearing a lot of new copper jewelry and also matching sweaters and skirts as they did last year.

More fashions from previous years that are still popular with the kids this year are Pendleton suits, jumpers, wool tweeds, quilted and felt skirts, drawstring and monogrammed blouses, bulky-knit sweaters, and a number of ring bracelets.

And So It Goes

Bell ring.
Me fling
Books in locker
Then sock 'er
Shut.
But!
Skirt caught.
Me distraught.
Me pull
Like bull.
Get free;
Then flee!
With flurry
And scurry
Me hurry
Into room!
Me sing.
Bell ring.
Ah! Made it!

—Anna Longhenry.

Future Nurses Meet November 5

Priscilla Chinstedt, president, presided over the Future Nurses' meeting held in Room 209, on Tuesday, November 5, at 3:15. The following committees were set up: program, Mary Wiemer, Karen Dutton, and Laurel Rans; publicity, Karen Mustapha, Lynn Anderson, and Kathy Disney; scrapbook, Janice Springer and Kay Loveless.

It was decided that pins would be available to members for 85 cents. Since the speaker was called to the hospital, the meeting was adjourned early.

VOX POPULI

Last week the following people were asked their plans for Friday, the day of the teachers' meeting. The following replies were heard:

Larry Stotts: "Work!"
Lois Kristianson: "I don't know yet—but something exciting."
Judy Overbeck: "I'm going to get married."

Mike Gleason: "I'm going to Webster City." (What for, Mike?)

Don Cross: "Spend the day sleeping and go to the game Friday night."

Karen Dutton: "Play basketball." (Mr. Carroll, take note!)

Gene Strandburg: "Put pipes in my car."

Kay Loveless: "I'm gonna see my granny." (For you uninformed few, this is an alibi. She doesn't have a granny!)

Doug Dodd: "Gosh! I dunno. But give me time—I'll think of something."

Howard Rogers: "Go up to Fort Dodge."

Joanne Rhinehart: "Go up to Fort Dodge with Rita and celebrate before the game."

Phyllis Paris: "Sleep 'til noon for a change, and then make peanut butter cookies."

Joe Combs: "(???) Tell us, Joe!"

Diane Ball: "Go on a hike in my pasture."

Martha Sullivan: "I'm going to get my last polio shot. Cheerful prospect, huh?"

Priscilla Chinstedt: "Oh, a whole lotta things—sleep, do housework, and then go to the game with Jerry and play football."

Denny Sigler: "Look for a car."

Well, kids, how did it go? Everything according to schedule?

Toreadors Win Conference Game

The Toreadors won their first conference game by a score of 12-0 against Newton, Friday, November 1. The two Boone touchdowns came in the first half of the game.

Just before the end of the first quarter, Jerry Benjamin ran two yards for the first Toreador touchdown. Ferry attempted a placement for the point-after-touchdown but was unsuccessful. The quarter ended 6-0 in favor of the Toreadors.

Halfway through the second quarter the Toreadors went 56 yards in 10 plays, lost the ball and regained it on the next play. Three plays later Lind carried the ball over the goal to make the score 12-0. Benjamin's placement kick failed. At halftime Boone stood over the Cardinals 12-0. In the second half the Toreadors held Newton completely in check.

Braggart Bob—Spends the whole evening telling you how great he is. Romantic Ron—Thinks he is a gift to women; he doesn't mind saying so, either.

Billy the Brain—Real 'intellectual' type. Discusses nothing but politics, world problems, etc., on a date. Jealous Jerry—This guy gives you daggers if you so much as give a friendly "Hi" to your best girl friend's boy friend.

Don the Dancer—Expects to be voted 'best dancer' but should be voted 'worse.' He is so busy thinking up some sensational jitterbug step that he doesn't care how he jerks the girl around.

Heartbreaking Harry—This one really gets you! You are crazy about him. So what does he do? He talks about how he misses Flo, his steady of two months ago.

BOYS' TEAM

The boys on Coach Bob Clifton's 1957-1958 varsity basketball team are:

Jerry Lind, 'Chuck' McGriff, Bill Monen, Jim Moore, Dick Moran, Alan Munson, Bob Musser, Tom Pestotnik, Steve Shaler, Phil Sherbon, Kent Smith, Allan Walker.

For Girls Only

Mascara Millie—The eternal primp, who uses so much perfume her date's eyes water.

Dominating Diane—The bossy type who tells her date how to drive, when to roll down the window, how to part his hair.

Forgetful Frances—Absent-minded by chance or desire, who remembers at 11:50 p.m. she has to be home at 12:00 sharp.

Catty Kathy—Who spends the evening talking about the faults of other girls, especially those her date used to go steady with.

Betty Bring Down—The belittler who makes cracks about her date's car.

Irene Iceberg—A gal who sits on the far side of the car next to the door, giving her date the impression he must have something contagious.

Boone Ties Last Game

The Boone High Toreadors tied their last football game of the season by a score of 6-6 against the Fort Dodge Dodgers this Friday night, November 8. The touchdowns for both teams were made during the first half of the game.

The Toreadors' lone touchdown came early in the second quarter. It took Boone only four plays to score. Five yards were gained by Jerry Lind, Glen Lee ran eight for a first down, then Lee picked up another four yards to the three-yard line, and Lind charged through the line to score for Boone. Denny Ferry's conversion attempt was unsuccessful. Boone had six points at the end of the half.

Halfway through the first quarter the Dodgers made their only touchdown of the game. Roger Porter returned a Toreador punt to the Boone 19-yard line. Five plays later Fort Dodge scored a touchdown on a nine-yard run by Kenny Haligan. The Dodger conversion attempt was also unsuccessful.

The score at halftime was 6-6. The remainder of the game was a see-saw back and forth down the field with neither team making any score. The Dodgers finished their season with a 4-4-1 record. The Toreadors have a 2-5-1 record at the end of their season.

Swimmers to Compete

An A. A. U. Synchronized Swimming Meet for Minnesota and outlying states is to be held this Saturday, November 16, at Stillwater, Minnesota.

Kay Wiley and Linda Boyd are entering the duet, 'In My Lady's Mirror,' that they performed in the Dolphin show last spring. Mary Wiemer and Judy Overbeck are going, also, but are not entering a number. Miss Quinn is accompanying the girls.

'So your father is crazy over his car.'

'Whenever I see him, he's crazy under it.'

The girl of the week is Lynn Clark.

What Is a Teen-age Boy?

A teen-age boy is a rare combination of many living creatures. He runs like a bear, laughs like a hyena, and makes noises like a cage full of monkeys. In reality, he's just a normal teen-age American boy, too old to be a child, and too young to be a man. The teen-age boy can be found beneath a crew-cut, behind a black eye, in front of the corner drug store, over large portions of food, and more often than not, under the stern look of his father.

Teen-age boys are positive that their fathers were never teen-agers, or else how could they possibly be such squares. Although a teen-age boy rarely is serious, he nevertheless does an outstanding job with the things he really likes to do—such as just goofing, taking clocks apart, playing records that really send him, dodging household chores, and spending money, preferably not his own. He dislikes visiting his relatives, running errands, hanging up his clothing, hats, and bathtubs.

Along with his other animal traits, a teen-age boy has the incredible memory of an elephant. He remembers his first haircut, his kindergarten teacher, the batting average of every major league baseball player, and all the words of all the current songs. Yet with this great retentive memory, he forgets to change his socks, wash his neck, close the door behind him, his Mother's birthday, and his two lines in the school play. Teen-age boys' one tricky device for getting even with their parents for such things as scoldings, curfews, forced labor, and things like that. They continually keep growing. Growing out of brand new suits, shirts, shoes, and out of hand. However, there are several methods employed by father to show the teen-age boy just who the boss is—by reasoning, by pleading, by coaxing, by threatening, by putting his foot down, by bribing, and, at the point of frustration, by dropping the whole thing and forgetting who the boss really is.

dance. Foremost in his preparation is the shaving of the two stray hairs lurking in the peach fuzz. And finally after pleading 20 minutes putting the wave in his hair just right, he's off to the dance; and there typical of most teen-age boys, he and his buddies will stand around in small groups making comments while they watch the girls dance with each other.

In the evening, in the seclusion of his room, a teen-age boy will dream of his future. He pictures himself as a jet pilot, breaking the sound barrier several times a day—or perhaps he's navigating the first rocket ship to the moon—maybe he's just broken Babe Ruth's homerun record. Basking in the glories of his dream world accomplishments, he suddenly finds himself back to reality. He has just heard the proud, familiar voice of his mother calling from the kitchen.

"For the last time, you get right down here and take this garbage out."

Parents and Teachers Confer

On Wednesday, November 6, the parent-teacher conferences were held at the school for junior high pupils.

The purpose of these was to receive report cards and to give the parents and teachers an opportunity to talk over the pupils' grades and attitudes.

Because of conflicts some of the conferences had to be scheduled for Thursday, November 7, before or after school.

"Jane, which would you like best in a man?" asked Mary, "Brains, wealth, or appearance?"

"Appearance," snapped Jane, "and the sooner the better."

"My hair is falling out," admitted the timid man to the chemist. "Can you recommend something to keep it in?"

"Certainly," replied the obliging chemist. "Here's a cardboard box."

Girl of the Week

The address of this week's girl of the week is 424 West Fifth Street. She is a four-foot ten-inch, Brown-eyed freshman with a great personality. Driving is only one of her favorite hobbies. 'Silhouettes' ranks first on her hit list. She names algebra as her favorite subject, and Mr. McLean as her favorite teacher. If you haven't guessed who the girl of the week is, look elsewhere on this page.

Daffynitions

Hang-over: where the brew of the night meets the cold of the day.

Collision: what happens when two motorists go after the same pedestrian.

Flirt: the girl who got the man you tried to get.

Dictionary: a large object used for pressing flowers.

Explain: an airplane that has no more.

A motorist on a muddy road pulled up alongside a fellow traveler who was digging his car out.

"Stuck in the mud?"

"No," came the sarcastic reply. "My engine died here, and I'm digging a grave to bury it."

Jim Stehn: "Say, Sharyn, would you like to eat with me tonight?"

Sharyn Thompson: "Would I ever!"

Jim: "Then tell your mother I'll be over about 6:30."

A comment overheard in the hall the other day:

Boy: "You unattached?"

Girl: "No, I'm just put together sloppy."

Mother: "Stop reaching across the table, Elwood. Haven't you a tongue?"

Elwood: "Yes, but my arm's longer."

Father: "Why are you eating with your knife, son?"

Little boy: "My fork leaks."

Boy of the Week

The boy of the week this week is Dave Ross. He is five feet four inches tall, and has brown hair and blue eyes.

History is his favorite as far as subjects are concerned, and Mr. Lyness is his favorite teacher. Cokes, hamburgers, and French fries rate high in the category of foods. 'Rauchy' rates as his favorite song and Jimmy Rodgers as tops among the singers.

And girls, he has no special girl friend, so you all have a chance yet.

Again this year members of the orchestra are selling candy to raise money for the orchestra fund. Nine hundred boxes were ordered and up to November 6, two-thirds of all the boxes had been sold. The money in the orchestra fund can be used for special activities or anything else the orchestra wants to do with it.

The opening of this year's basketball season finds 41 girls reporting. This is expected to be cut down to 30 before the first game. Ten letter winners are included in this group. The first game will be played here against Ogden, November 15.

Sign in a restaurant: "In case of atomic attack, keep calm; pay bill, then run!"

Tv. announcer: "We have just received a bulletin of a catastrophe, the like of which has never been known to mankind—but first a word from our sponsor."

Mary had a little lamb; her father shot it dead. And now it goes to school with her between two hunks of bread.

Breakfast menu for ghosts: ghost toasties and evaporated milk.

Prospective landlady: "How do you like the room, as a whole?"

Prospective tenant: "As a hole, it's fine; as a room not so good."

Be it ever so homely, there's no face like your own.
