Rocket Launchers in Our Midst

Three Boone High sophomores have sent up over 350 homemade rockets. (Ranging in size from three inches to three feet long.)

These boys are: John Tannehill, 15; Dave Moeller, 15; and Verne Lyon, 16. All three are taking college preparatory courses, while Dave and John's schedule for next rear includes 'special physics.'

Their highest rocket went up 9,500 feet and was three feet long with a diameter of 14 inches. The rockets are made of steel or aluminum tubing and have a wooden nose cone. A battery is used to fire them.

They fired their latest rocket on Saturday, April 25, at Mickey Cornelius's, where the boys have constructed a launching pad. John, Dave, and Verne have not disbanded the idea of 'rocket launching' but for the present are not working on the project.

The Bumble 'B' staff wishes to thank Mr. Stock for his advice, help, and patience luring the year of 1958-1959. Without his help the Bumble 'B' would not have been pos-

Therefore, the Bumble 'B' staff of this year wants to dedicate the final issue to not only the seniors, but to the staff's advisor as well.

Tillson Leaves Boone High

Mr. Jack Tillson, who has been the high school librarian for a number of years, has been appointed to the position of director of the Boone Public Library, where he will direct all of several workers.

Miss Grove, who is now the junior high librarian, will relieve him of his position, and Mr. Lyon will become the new junior high librarian.

Mr. Tillson, who has lived in Boone for the greater part of his life, attended Boone High School.

He attained his B.A. degree from Cornell College and earned his B.L.S. degree from the Western Reserve University in Cleveland, Ohio.

Mr. Tillson worked as reference librarian in Fort Wayne, Indiana, a year, returning to Boone in 1945.

Band's First Trophy Won at Pella float.

The Boone High School band received a first place trophy in band competition at Pella's Tulip Festival on Friday, May 8. The band presented an arrangement of the appropriate tune, 'Tiptoe Through the Tulips.'

Seven Iowa bands participated in the Pella parade. The Boone band was honored twice.

It was the first time that the Boone High band had ever participated in the Pella Festival, and equally important was the fact that this was the first trophy ever won by a Boone band.

The band left Boone at 8:45 Friday morning and arrived in Pella at 11:00 a.m. Band members were allowed to view the scenic grounds of Pella between 11:00 a.m. and 1:15 p.m.

The parade commenced at 1:30 p.m. and the Boone band was honored by preceding the queen's and future queen's

At 3:15 p.m. all the bands congregated at the reviewing stand for the awards. After the presentation of the 1959 Tulip Queen, the judges announced Boone as the winning band and awarded Mr. McLean the trophy.

In judging the participating bands, the judges considered the following qualifications.

Marching (alignment and precision) 30%. Music (intonation and quality)

50%. Originality (fancy steps, music, etc.) 20%.

The trophy was presented to the Student Council on Award Day by Jim Cross, the band president. It will be exhibited in the trophy case on second floor.

GOOD LUCK, SENIORS!

Class Day

Seniors Perform

Keith Ablett and Ann Senholz, president and secretary of the junior class, led the processional, played by the band under the direction of Mr. McLean, in the annual class day festivities, held Wednesday, May 19.

Denny Ferry, senior class president and head of the Student Council, welcomed the group, and presented Keith with the Senior Key. Keith, in turn, passed the Junior Class Spoon to the sophomore class president, Gary McLeod.

The skit which followed made use of senior class members to portray the past, present, and future world of today's seniors. The class will and prophecy were included in this part of the program, also.

Concluding the program was the singing of the Class Song, which was sung to an old tune with the lyrics below:

Now we leave the halls of Boone High, with our memories true. Firm we stand today and ever in our love for you.

When the shades of life shall gather, dark the heart may be. Still the ray of youth and love shall linger long o'er thee.

Chorus:

Lift the chorus, speed it onward, loud her praises sing. Hail to thee our Alma Mater; let our praises ring.

Commencement Wednesday

The 78th annual Boone High School Commencement exercises will be held Wednesday evening, May 27, at 8:00, in the high school auditorium.

The traditional 'Pomp and Circumstance' by Elgar, will be presented by the high school orchestra under the direction of Mr. Konrad Scholl. Following the invocation, to be given by the Rev. La Rue Jensen, Donald Josephson will play a violin solo, 'Andante' from 'Symphonie Espagnole.'

Superintendent of Schools, Mr. Seaton, will present the speaker, Mr. Ian Stuart, Director of Public Florists Telegraph Delivery Association. Mr. Stuart will speak on 'The Miracle of America.'

An overture for a brass sextet will be presented by Phil Knudson, Dave Gisvold, John Poyzer, Jim Mylenbusch, Richard Lamb, and Arnold Hilsenbeck.

Principal Moore will then present the 1959 graduating class, followed by presentation of diplomas by J. Boyd Pestotnik, president of the school board.

Only graduating seniors and their guests are invited to attend the commencement exercises.

Awards Given at Assembly Monday

The annual Award Assembly was held last Monday during the fifth period. Following are some of the presentations:

Shorthand Awards

To qualify for a Gregg Shorthand Speed Award, a student is required to take new-material dictation prescribed by the Gregg Awards Department of New York for a period of five minutes.

This material cannot be previewed, nor can it be dictated more than once to qualify for an award. Each speed level has a maximumerror restriction and a minimum transcription time limit.

First-and second-year shorthand students who have earned the Gregg 60-Word-per-minute Award are as follows: Barbara Anderson, Lynn Anderson, Jerolyn Dixson, Jo Ann Grasso, Betty Long, Karen Madden, Gerry Raettig, Rose Marie Schell, Carol Schroeder, Judy Thacker, Marijo Tannehill, Joyce Thrap, and Charlotte Walters.

Second-year shorthand students who have qualified for the 80-Wordper-Minute Award are: Barbara Craun, Danielle Hartsell, Lelia Kemmerer, Barbara Krahl, Doris Lundstrom, and Christie Thede.

The Gregg Shorthand 100-Wordper-Minute Award went to these second-year shorthand students: Joyce Alsin, Sharon Bartlett, Donna Deal, Delores Hampton, Glenda McCambridge, Jacqueline Miller, Jacqueline Moran, and Karen Schwien.

Math Awards

Math awards were presented by Mr. Anderson to the top scoring B.H.S. students who participated in the Math Contest last winter.

Receiving the plaque were the two top juniors scorers in the Math Contest, Jon Gustafson and Karen Bennett.

Don Josephson, Alan Munson, and Jim Hartley were the three winners in the senior class, with Don Josephson winning a pin, recognizing his top score in the test held in Boone.

Art Awards

Miss Osborne, head of the Art Department in Boone High, presented the following students with gold keys for their art achievements: Richard Moore, Nancy Hicks, Jerry Bechtel, David Tracy, and Elmer Eckhart.

The place winners were Sue Peterson, Beverly Christian, Jane Young, and Bernard Weber.

The Poppy Poster Art Awards, presented by Mrs. L. B. Hamilton, President of Arthur Lantz Unit No. 56, were given to: Beverly Christian, Elmer Eckhoff, and David Tracy.

Honorable mentions went to: Fern Ahrens, Sandi Suthern, Ron Sorber, Carolee Varak, Mary Hagaman, Richard Moore, Sharon Garvey, Martha Jensen, and Mary Jo Caldwell.

Cheerleading

Cheerleading awards went to Gayle Ohlmann, Gerry Raettig. Dee Eldien, Mary Jo McLeod, Janet Smith, Mary Shaler, Pam Parrish, and Jann Weston, for their leadership of the fall and winter sports.

Prizes

Janet Carter received the $10 first prize in the essay contest conducted by the Boone County Medical Auxiliary and the third prize in the state contest. Ruth Pearson was awarded the second prize of $5 in the city contest.

It is the time. It has been six years now here. Good years. There was laughter, studying. There was disappointment and victory. There were friends.

The studying, the tacts form patterns ideas we will carry for the rest of our lives. Some of the friendships too will last. Some forgotten.

For some looms large the world of work, for others colleges, universities. Ahead are long years of work, joy, rich full life with periods of doubt, dullness, ecstacy.

The years closing now have been fun for some. Others say that they have not enjoyed them. Others say that they did not work as hard as they would have liked to. There are others, too. Their words are mixed. They say that the future will be different.

Perhaps.

But after you close your locker door for the last time, accept the diploma, walk down the stairs and out the door of Boone High, there lies a world of people, ideas, things, as this Boone High was made up of personalities, ideas, things. It is not stepping into a great, new unknown world. It still is life. It is wider. Some rules are changed.

I've got an emperor and his name is Julius,

He's my guy and I love him trulyous.

He's not good looking, heaven knows,

What I like about him is his Roman nose.

The Playground

by Leslie Schroeder

Damp, dreary, drizzling, and in one word 'miserable,' was the way the April day looked from my bedroom window.

The playground below was left in the same cluttered mess that it had been the day before. There was the familiar old swing set, dingy, rusty, and as dilapidated as a swing set could be after years of being played on by the neighborhood children.

Its paint had now vanished in places, and the reddish-orange color of rust had replaced it. One of the swings was short in links and was considerably shorter on one side than on the other.

The seat boards of the swings were warped and even chipped in some places, and on the left one you could still decipher the name 'Doug' scratched into its surface.

Under the swings were the muddy, reeking pools that always accumulate during a rain.

By now the drizzle had stopped, and the flies and mosquitoes had gathered into their traditional places under the swings. Just behind the swing set, on the right side, was the small sand pile. The sand no longer remained, although the weeds and worms had replaced it as well as they could.

You could still see the remnants of days gone by-the old shovel sticking out on the right side, the sand sifter partially covering the weeds. This was my view and this completed my misery.

Heap of the Week

by Bill and Ben

This week's bomb belongs to Stephen H. Krasean. It is a 1949 Oldsmobile with hydromatic drive. In order to keep his valves working, Steve has to use two quarts of upper cylinder 'lube' to every tank of gas. He has every reason to believe that his car is an old taxi cab, because the speedometer reads 115,000 hard miles.

Steve's engine has six hard working pistons that are fed by a single two-barrel. In experimenting he has found that his crate runs—with only two spark plugs. In working out his own code for the different ranges, he has come up with the following: N. for normal driving; Dr. for dragging; L. for lunge gear, and R. for racing.

Fashion Finds

At this time of year many new styles and types of clothing are being introduced into the spring fashions.

Variations of the shirtwaist blouse are very popular this season. Blue and pink floral designs and blue-green plaids are at their height of glory.

What's new in shoes? Nationwide it's pumps that don't match, such as a pink and red pair of shoes. They sell for about $14.95.

Tribute to the Editors

Have you ever heard the old saying that our loss is your gain? That's how the Bumble 'B' staff feels about their editor, Carolyn Dahlin. The loss the staff suffers will be Iowa State University's gain, for that's where you plan to attend after graduation, Carolyn.

Oh, yes, many things are known about you (other than the fact that you have blue eyes and blond hair). Your birthday is June 1, and your birthplace is Fort Dodge, Iowa; you lived near there until 1954 when you moved to Boone.

Green is your favorite color, while chicken rates as your favorite food. People who tend to talk too much seem to be your pet peeve. You joined the Bumble 'B' staff in your junior year and became editor at the beginning of your senior year. You have maintained a 'B' average and are in National Honor Society.

This is a tribute to you, Carolyn Dahlin. The staff wishes you nothing but the best in the years to come.

Last February the Bumble 'B' staff wrote a letter to Mr. Iyer, a teacher from India who visited our school last winter. We asked him various questions concerning the welfare of India, such as: 1. Is the caste system still prominent? 2. What is her financial position? 3. Are the new methods of farming and industry well accepted? and 4. Are educational standards improving?—L.H.

His Reply

Rajah's High School, Kollengode, Kerala State, India

Dear Lynne Hohenshell,

I was really thrilled to receive your letter a few days back. I am so sorry I have delayed a little in sending this reply.

What delightful, sweet and exciting memories rush into my mind at the utterance of the word Boone! How often have I recalled them and enjoyed the experience!

"For oft when on my couch I lie In vacant—or in pensive mood They flash upon that inward eye Which is the bliss of solitude."

"Boone High School shall ever remain high in my thoughts;" these were my parting words to you, if you would recollect. It has, I may assure you, remained so.

What intrigues me is the thought whether I would get an opportunity to revisit your delightful town. How tremendously exciting that would be!

Reconstruction of India

India is passing through a great period of national reconstruction. It was only 12 years back, on August 15, 1947, that she won her independence and took over the administration of her own affairs.

The British had, no doubt, done some good to India (and India remains grateful for that), but she had not given serious thought to the improvement of the living conditions of her teeming millions.

The British administrators lived away from the people, in their ivory towers, and that was perhaps why they lost the Indian Empire. Now in these 10 or 12 years there have been big strides of progress in all fields-industrial, agricultural, and educational.

Caste System

Let me answer your questions. The caste system in this country has a 2,000-year history and therefore, it is deeply rooted. But all are united in the feeling that go it must; and it is going, though perhaps gradually.

Its rigours have disappeared totally and communal animosities are gradually vanishing. It is a question of time, somewhat like the Negro problem in the States. We are moving toward abolition, though moving slowly.

As regards the financial position and new methods of farming and industry, as I said, we are passing through a period of scientific and national planning. Your country has given immense financial aid and loans too, to provide for the funds for these plans, and we are grateful for this.

We know that Americans feel that unless India prospers and the great democratic experiment (India is the biggest democracy in the world) and her five-year plans succeed, the onward march of Communist aggression in Asia cannot be stopped.

If democracy fails in India, the whole of Asia would succumb to Communism. It is, therefore, in America's interest and in the world's interest that India should prosper.

Offers Aid to Pakistan

One thing about your country that has distressed all Indians is the enormous military aid given to Pakistan, a country that remains hostile to India. Though America explains that is to stem Communism, India feels Pakistan may use the aid for other purposes too, against India herself.

A word about myself. I have swung myself back to work as the principal of my school which as I said is as big as yours.

My experiences there are heard with great thrill by the kids here, as well as others. Often I give talks on education in America, about life in Boone, and these are listened to with great interest.

The days I spent there are so rich in experience and learning that I could draw on them in unending manner.

Yours truly, P. R. Subramania Iyer.

CONGRATULATIONS CLASS OF 1959

Mrs. Carlson Retires

Mrs. Joel Carlson, better known as the School Nurse, has announced that she will retire this year, after 35 years in Boone High School.

She was born in Chicago, but later came to Des Moines, where she enrolled in Iowa Methodist Hospital and was trained in the profession of nursing.

Upon graduation in 1924 she came to Boone, where she has since held her present position in the faculty.

Extensive travel of the United States has been a proud acclaim of hers, not to mention her vacations to Canada, Mexico, the Panama Canal, and a tour of the Latin American countries. While these pleasures may seem like a prelude to a peaceful life, she has had many frightful experiences as a nurse. Her greatest fear, however, is that she would sometime have a case in which she could not stop the bleeding in time.

Her most serious accident, other than hemorrhages and broken bones, she relates, is that of a boy who while doing sitting-up exercises at Goeppinger Field in a physical education class, sat back at the wrong moment and hit his head on the knee of a boy sitting behind him. Trifle as this accident may sound, the boy suffered a serious brain concussion and remained in the hospital for several days.

Mrs. Carlson has seen phases of several serious epidemics invade our town, among them smallpox, diphtheria, scarlet fever, and a typhoid epidemic in which she helped vaccinate over 1,800 people.

This serious epidemic caused 10 deaths, and over 60 cases of the disease were recorded.

And of course she has many exciting memories and tales in connection with her relatives, the Eisenhowers. Because of her contact with them, she received probably the biggest thrill of a lifetime, that of attending the Inaugural Ball when Ike became President. She said, however, that the most interesting visit she has ever had with Ike and Mamie, took place before he became so famous as a general and government leader; it was when they went to visit the Eisenhowers when he was President of Columbia University.

When asked about her future plans, Mrs. Carlson said, "I hope I will be somewhere next winter where I can just think about the cold weather in Iowa."

It is rumored that the Russians are going to put seven cows in their next Sputnik. This will certainly be the herd that was shot around the world.

Farewell from Benji

Hi ya, fans! Well, the school year is about over, leaving you lots more time to spend with your honey (meaning that in both the human and insect sense of the word). I suppose all of you are planning something exciting for the summer months, but I think I'll just loaf and find a few choice humans to land on.

Things seem to really BEE buzzin' around the halls; everyone seems so busy with tests and daydreams, and homework, and daydreams, and assignments, and daydreams, why I think spring fever has really hit hard this year.

If you notice a loss of personality, a want-to-play-hooky-but-Iknow-I-will-get-caught-look in the eyes of your best friend, keep away from him entirely, or BEEfore you know it you will catch the feeling too. One thing about the spring fever-it spreads like wildfire.

I will hate to leave this good old hive for one of those stuffy-smelling ones; I guess, however, I could attend summer school, but I know I would fall asleep in class . . . no offense to the teachers.

Was I ever shocked the other day when I lit on the shoulder of Millie Stutzman, then wondered if I had made a mistake; Can you imagine my shock after riding around in her 20-inch pony tail?

I always thought banquets were formal affairs, but the other night I flew into one in which some of the kids were barefooted and wore togas and stolas-later I heard it was presented by the Latin Club.

Spring must really BEE the time a young man's fancy turns to more romantic thoughts. Alan Munson and Emily Grabau, and 'Chuck' Mc-Griff and Gayle Ohlman, are BEEautiful examples. I see both those girls' hands are sporting class rings. Darn these boys! At the rate they are going there won't BEE any girls left for me.

I see there is an intellectual among us. Dave Otto is enrolled in Harvard this next fall. MayBEE I will go with him and see if I can find any more of my own kind among the ivy covered halls of that college. Can't you imagine an intellectual, bespectacled BEE?

I hate to leave all you seniors, but you others will be returning, so I can see you again next year. This is just an old BEE sayin' 'bye.

BENJI

P. S. Remember when you are sitting at the pool this summer, don't sit on me. I seem to lose more friends that way!

Congratulations from the Governor

[Nancy Westfall recently received the following letter from the Governor of Iowa, recognizing her honorable mention award for editorial writing.]

Dear Nancy:

It has come to my attention that you have recently received "honorable mention" in the Editorial Writing Contest sponsored by Sigma Delta Chi at Iowa State College. Please accept my most sincere congratulations.

In view of the large number of contestants who participated in this contest, your receiving honorable mention is certainly an honor and an accomplishment in which you may be justly proud.

I sincerely hope that you will continue to achieve distinction in the future.

JUSTICE?

Who's winning the battle of the sexes? Men, draw your own conclusions:

A housewife in North Carolina, arrested for assault with a deadly weapon, won an acquittal and the court's hearty congratulations for swatting an aggressive bill collector with a baseball bat.

A girl in Iowa won a $6,000 judgment for 'breach of promise' when her fiancé died before the wedding.

A girl in New York, suing a man for insulting her, asked so persuasively for $4,000 in damages that the jury gave her $4,500.

William, with a thirst for gore, Nailed the baby to the door. Mother said, with humor quaint: "Careful, Will, don't mar the paint."

Common Sense ...

Once again most of us have survived a violent epidemic of 'spring fever' because school will soon be out. Many of us have exciting plans for the summer, which we have been looking forward to for so long. Let's make good use of our time this summer. Boone has given us so many facilities— Babe Ruth League, the recreation center, the swimming pool, golf course, etc.

We should, however, benefit from our annual epidemic and resolve that next year we shall try to keep the teachers and our grades from suffering.

Happy vacation!

Rookie of the Year

This book concerns the Brooklyn Dodgers, their player-manager, and rookie pitcher.

The Dodgers had an uphill battle all year long, although their best pitcher, a rookie, was always breaking rules. He drank and stayed out too late at night. Finally the manager, Spike Russell, had to send the star rookie pitcher back to the minors.

With one game left in the season, the Dodgers and Cardinals were tied. The Dodgers sent for the rookie pitcher, who had cured himself of night life. He won the pennant for the Dodgers and was voted rookie of the year.

DO NOT DISTURB

I stayed up all night, For finals were near. I got none of the sleep Which I hold so dear. I knew all the answers; This grade would be my best. But I flunked anyway, 'Cause I slept through the test.

A first grade girl burst into my office one noon and told me that several first grade boys were catching the girls and kissing them as they left the school. When I suggested that she might use another exit, she cried, "Oh, no, they might miss me!"
