What is time? The shadow on the dial, the striking of the clock, the running of the sand, day and night, summer and winter, months, years, centuries -- these are but arbitrary and outward signs, the measure of Time, not Time itself. Time is the Life of the soul.

Custodial Head Explains Summer Tasks

Mr. Bob Larson, building superintendent for Boone schools, explained new construction done around high school during the summer.

The principal's and vice-principal's offices were both paneled and the principals' secretaries' office and Mr. Mosman's were both painted burnt orange. Workers laid brown tweed carpet in both offices and lowered the ceilings, installing new lights.

In the gym custodians refinished the floor and put up two new scoreboards with a special section of one scoreboard to designate which match is in progress in wrestling. The school also installed two new exhaust fans in the gym.

Mr. Larson moved his office from the loading dock to where the wood-working office was. The woodworking office was moved from just inside the first floor of the 1955 addition to the western end of the woodworking room.

Summer laborers also expanded the audio-visual (AV) room.

Other summer projects included erecting new doors for the home economics department and taining new lockers that have not yet been installed.

An outside firm finished the window project during the summer, although at least five classrooms have reported their windows opening and closing improperly.

Juniors Meet August 29

The Junior class met August 29 to discuss calendar sales, the Kenneth Samson memorial, and to elect a new treasurer.

Dave Briley, class vice-president and acting president, called the meeting to order, and the Juniors elected Mike Nineman to fill the treasurer's post, which was left vacant by Kenny Samson. The meeting also covered the topic of Boone High calendar sales, and the calendars were distributed in 11th grade homerooms on August 31. Juniors traditionally sell school activity calendars to finance the Junior-Senior Prom.

Also brought to attention was the existence of donation jars, set up around the high school to raise the needed $6,000 for the Kenny Samson project. Students are involved in constructing a tennis court dedicated to his memory. The Juniors are taking the lead in the project since Kenny would have been a Junior this year. He was killed in an accident August 19.

Student Editorial

This year the Junior class is really an active one. They are doing something no other class has ever tried in Boone. The juniors are building a tennis-basketball court in memory of Kenny Samson, a classmate who was killed just before school started in a motorcycle accident.

They need around $6,000 and have been collecting in the high school and around Boone.

Last weekend some juniors went downtown to collect from the businesses. The students planned on raising at least $1,000 from the merchants alone. The merchants, however, were not so generous. Some kids at school gave more than the merchants.

This project is already started. We can't back out now. We, the juniors, need all the help and money we can get.

This tennis-basketball court is not just for the kids alone; it's for the people of Boone. We, therefore, urge both students and adults of Boone to support this memorial project.

BHS GETS 'HEAVY'

Last summer Boone High School purchased a weight training machine called a Universal Gym. It has some sixteen exercise stations plus a 'Real Runner' for simulated running.

The stations consist of bench press, pull-up and sit-up equipment, curls, shoulder press, leg press and hang-and-stretch. There is a separate machine on which one can work his neck, legs, hands, and grip.

The 'Real Runner' is designed to build speed, strength and endurance in the legs.

The Universal Gym will be used by boys' and girls' athletic squads and physical education classes and faculty members.

Coaches hope the weight program will result in better conditioned athletes and as a result reduce the number of injuries.

Students who use the machine will be taught to lift weights correctly, so as to cut down the possibilities of their being injured.

BOONE ENROLLMENT REMAINS STEADY

Enrollment at Boone High and at the six grade schools in Boone is about the same as last year. Enrollment statistics deny reports of sharp decreases of students in lower grades.

The kindergarten and first grade enrollment, for example, has increased from last year.

The junior high enrollment is considerably higher than that of last year attendance office statistics show. Some persons have speculated the rise is a result of increased grade school enrollment.

Senior high enrollment is down slightly from last year for two possible reasons. Many students drop out or get married while in senior high, and secondly some students graduate at the end of their junior year.

No sharp change in the enrollment of students at Boone High or the grade grade

No sharp change in the enrollment of students at Boone High or the grade schools is foreseen for the future.

7th Graders Mix

What is the seventh grade mixer party? It is mixing all the seventh grade students together to become one class, instead of being separated as they were in elementary school.

The purpose is for everyone to get to know each other, and in general just to have a good time.

This year the new seventh graders met at the shelter house of McHose Park, on Wednesday evening, September 12. The night's activities started with group games, mainly consisting of kickball.

After working up what appeared to be a good appetite it was time to eat. This year, food was provided by the school cafeteria at a cost of 60¢ a student, and was served by the seventh grade homeroom teachers and parents who attended.

After supper the junior high cheerleaders acquainted the Boone Junior High newcomers with some of this year's cheers and the school song.

This is the fourth year for the mixer which yielded a turnout of 200 new seventh graders.

Ulli Lunacek Is 73-74 AFS Student

Ulli Lunacek, this year's American Field Service student, comes to Boone High from Vienna, Austria. She leaves behind her family of one brother and her parents. Her mother is a housewife and her father manages a dairy.

Ulli's Boone parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Hays of 310 South Boone Street. Here she has three sisters and one brother: Thya, Marla, Johna and John.

Skiing is one of Ulli's

Parents Attend Open House

The seventh grade open house was held on Thursday, September 13, at 7:30 p.m.

The reason for having an open house each year is to acquaint the parents with the teachers and the school.

In their homerooms, the seventh graders filled out their schedules for Thursday. The plan for the evening was for the parents to meet in their son's or daughter's homeroom. After an introductory homeroom period, the parents followed their youngsters' schedules in a shortened, simulated school day.

favorite hobbies, but she also likes just being in the mountain country. Her other hobbies include swimming, reading dancing and listening to all sorts of music.

Ulli said that she wanted to be on the basketball team or swim in the Dolphin club. She decided to try the test for entry into the Dolphin club and passed.

The Austrian school system, according to Ulli, is quite different from our own. Ulli goes to school six days a week, six hours per day (Saturdays Austrians attend only four hours of school, though.).

In Vienna, one would go to elementary school from age six to age ten. Then he would pass to Gymnasium, the latter part of which is equivalent to our high school.

Ulli is 16 and upon her return to Vienna she must complete her last year at the Gymnasium. Her future plans are to attend a university and study languages.

She can speak German, Latin, and has studied two years of French. Ulli has also taken English for six years, as it is a required subject in Austria. She said English was easiest for her to learn, but people in America speak too fast for her to understand.

Are clothes, dating, etc. the same in Austria? Ulli said that the style of dress is just about alike in both countries, but that dating is different in her homeland.

A person can't get a driver's license until he is 18, and very few young people have their own cars.

Ulli's school has no student council as we in America know it. Their form of government consists of electing two representatives from each class. These representatives meet with the administration and decide on things.

When asked why she wanted to become an AFS student, Ulli responded, "The idea of it is good. I like to travel and I want to get to know more people. If you want peace in the world, start with yourself." #

September is a month of beginnings.

Students, eager or weary, begin school again with its usual pressures of classes and studies.

Fathers and mothers, back from vacation, begin the daily routine again with its usual pressures of making a good living and living a good life.

And autumn, after a long hot summer, begins a new season with its pressures of harvest and the preparation for winter.

All make a new beginning.

Begin, then, boldly, courageously. Begin with the joy of being alive.

That's the kind of pressure worth keeping.

Marching Band Performs At Half Time

The Boone High marching band under the direction of Mr. Dave Darnell performs at halftime for all home football games.

The band features 'God Bless America' and 'The Star-Spangled Banner' for the pre-game activities. Then, at halftime, they perform a ten to fifteen minute show.

The first show, September 7, contained songs such as 'Another Openin' Another Show,' 'And Then There's Maude,' 'Mack the Knife,' and 'Broadway Salute.'

This year the band includes 43 sophomores, 19 juniors, and 20 seniors. The new drum majorette is Terri Criner and new twirlers are Regina Dittmer, Carol Lindahl, and Lori Paris.

There are usually two weeks between shows. The first week, the band practices at the football practice field fifth hour every day. The second week, they practice at Goepfinger field last half of fourth hour and all of fifth hour. The time spent last half of fourth hour is taken from everyone's lunch period. Also, Mr. Darnell sometimes calls rehearsals at eight o'clock in the morning.

Some plans for the year include performing selections from 'Paint Your Wagon' for the homecoming show October 12 and competing in the state marching band contest.

When some of the band members were asked what they thought of marching band they said:

'It teaches the principle of discipline. It also makes me thirsty for milk.' Another said, 'It's hot,' while another remarked, 'I love yelling at the sophomores.' But most agree with this opinion: 'It's fun. It's quite an experience.'

Something Else to Do on a Saturday Night

Saturday!

School's out. And in the words of one particular character known to all, "Got nothin' to do."

For this character and others with a similar problem, read on, particularly if you're bored, broke, or beside yourself.

*Listen to classical music for a change.

*Clean up your room, your closet, the refrigerator, or Dad's car. Then, revive your parents after they have fainted.

*Shine everybody's shoe. Then, revive your parents, etc.

*Design a crossword puzzle and provide the answers.

*Write letters to friends of long ago.

*Visit an ill friend or would-be friend.

*Think of something you like or hate and create a poem with a specific rhyme scheme and meter.

*Walk to the park and begin sketching. Be friendly to those attracted to your artistic efforts.

*Phone someone in your class you don't know too well and admit you just want to rap.

*Buy a magazine you never heard of dealing with something you have never done, and read it carefully.

*Select a poem you like and memorize it.

*Prepare some way out dessert for tonight's dinner.

Still "got nothin' to do?"

Close your eyes, point to one of the above, and let your finger guide you to an activity.

Try it. You may like it.

Use Your School Facilities

As school sets in, and everyone begins to get back in the swing of things, teachers begin giving assignments and reports. To help with these assignments, students may need some information.

The places to go to for help here in Boone High School are the senior high library, the English resource center and the history resource center. The Ericson Public library, 702 Green Street, is also available.

The senior high library on second floor has a large amount of information for any use. Approximately 100 magazines of all types are available, besides six regular newspapers and an unlimited supply of reference books. There are both the vertical file and vocational files; the vocational file concerns job opportunities while the vertical file contains various information on topics people are interested in.

Besides all of this, the library also has audio-visual equipment. There are 8 mm films which cover topics in these areas: physics, math, art, science, and physical education. Along with the audio-visual equipment are microfilms. They can be found in a file in the library. And be sure to look into the library's film-strip kits and tapes.

Now, how about the resource centers? First, both the English and history resource centers are combined in room 210. Both English and history films and tapes are there, as well as current news magazines and newspapers.

Now everyone should be able to find some kind of information for his reports and assignments.

FRENCH FAMILY VISITS BHS

Miss Heaps' seventh period French class recently had some unusual visitors from abroad. They were Professor and Mrs. Dubois Johnson and sons from Paris, France. Professor Johnson is a graduate of Boone High School and is now teaching American Literature at Rheims University. Rheims is a few miles outside of Paris. Mrs. Johnson is a native of Paris. The two met while she was teaching French at Cedar Falls, Iowa.

The Johnsons and their three sons, Pierre, eight years old; Nicola, six years old; and Antoine, four years old, were back in the United States through a summer exchange program. They made the trip from France to the United States by ship. Mrs. Johnson said that they didn't get to see the Statue of Liberty and the boys were quite disappointed, so they had definite plans to tour it before going home. So far, they have visited Connecticut, Cape Cod, New Hampshire, Washington, D.C., Indiana, and Iowa.

When the little boys came with their parents to the high school, they were dressed in cowboy outfits. Nicola (sometimes called "Cola" or the "Coca-Cola Kid") said that in France, Lucky Luke is the big cowboy hero. Cola boasted of owning 12 Lucky Luke books.

All during the first part of the interview, the two oldest boys spoke in French (which this reporter had fun trying to translate!) Later, Professor Johnson asked Pierre to say something in English. "Yeah, sure, but what do you want me to say?" was Pierre's matchless reply. Antoine, the youngest, also speaks a little English, although mostly only bits and phrases he picked up from his baby sitter. His favorite expression is, "Are you kidding?"

Pierre said that he found the houses here in the United States a little strange. In France, all houses are made of either stone or cement and Pierre keeps expecting our wooden ones to fall down.

In France students attend school all week except for Wednesday, Sunday, and Saturday afternoons. School lasts from September 15 to June 30 with two weeks vacation for Christmas, two for Easter, one in November and another week in February.

Just before leaving the Johnsons stopped in to watch the pep assembly (September 7). Cola and Pierre entered right into the spirit of it all, clapping and even picking up a little of the cheers.

The boys hadn't seen a football game before and wanted very much to stay and watch it. But their parents couldn't stay, so both boys left in tears, promising to return someday soon.

get, get, get, get, get, get on up.

Hey, you in the red,
Go! Go!
Hey, you in the white,
Fight! Fight!
Hey, you in the red,
Hey you in the white,
Go, fight, tonight, right!

The Bow Tie Is Back!

Popularity of the bow tie is stronger now than ever before!

Bow ties are not something new. They have been a favorite since the 1890's. In the early 1900's they were worn for both casual and formal wear. But in the 1940's the trend was changed to the string tie.

This year the bow tie has really bounced back. But there are going to be some new looks. First, the bow tie will be much wider than before. It will also be worn formally and not so formally and in all colors, prints and checks possible.

John Leland, junior, models one of the dressier bow ties seen today. His is made of a soft velvet material.

Shoes! Shoes! Shoes!

Sock-hoppin', foot-stompin', the never stoppin' saddle shoe is back and here to stay. This year's styles break from the traditional black and white to an assortment of colors. Leather and suede make the saddle something to look at. Heels of all sizes are worn with these shoes and the look may go dressy or for just knockin' around. No matter who wears them, boys or girls, the saddle shoe is definitely the biggest shoe this year.

The big trend for the '50's has brought back not only pinstripe suits, bow ties, grandma's old dresses, but the high platform shoe. Like all shoes this fall, it is making it big in a variety of colors, textures, and assortments of style. The big trick to platform shoes is how to walk in them. With soles that measure in depth from 1" to 2½" high, along with heels that go anywhere from 3" to 7" high, a lot of people just shuffle along. This year we look for the platform shoe to become one of the biggest trends yet.

Guys don't need to worry about their girls being taller than they are with all the new types of shoes out for men. Raised heels, wild col-

Recipe of the Month

Peanut Butter Pie

Attention, peanut butter lovers!

Here it is, gang, our fantastic recipe of the month. Peanut butter pie appears to be not only a favorite of peanut butter lovers the world over, but it also made a hit with some not-so-peanut butter lovers.

Kim Stoll, the recipe contributor gave a sample of the pie to each member of the Bumble 'B' staff and these were some of their opinions.

Betty Bushore: It's peanut-buttery, only better because it doesn't stick to the roof of your mouth.

Tammy Gordon: It's great, but rich.

Sue Gates: It's really sweet.

Julie Edgington: It makes you thirsty.

Scott Linn: It's good if you take little bites. You need something to drink with it.

Mr. Stock: It was delicious and surprisingly so because peanut butter pie just didn't sound too good.

Peanut Butter Pie

1 cup corn syrup
1 cup sugar
½ tsp. vanilla
3 eggs (slightly beaten)
1/3 cup creamy peanut butter unbaked pie shell

Blend filling ingredients. Pour into unbaked pie shell. Bake at 450 degrees for 15 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 degrees, bake 30 to 35 minutes longer.

The filling should appear slightly less set in the middle than around the edges.

If you have a favorite recipe you would like to submit for publication, please bring it to room 308.

ors, and that little something extra that adds all that class is bigger and better than ever. Many styles give an extra plus to the guy's garb, whether he be formally or casually attired. In all, this year's man is going to have a bigger selection of shoes than ever before.

SPORT SPECTACULARS

Mr. Foor Finds Fouling Fun

"As a referee, I am further away from the spectator," explained Mr. Robert Foor, eighth grade football coach and high school football official. "The people don't always agree with a call because of a different angle of view. The calls are hard for the spectators to see because of the distance."

"To become a referee, there were two tests I had to pass: (1) open book, and (2) supervised rules and regulations. To pass, I had to get at least 70 of 100 correct."

The four types of officials and their jobs include: (1) Referee--stands behind the offensive team and has control of the offensive backfield. He blows the whistle to declare the ball either in play or dead. He also distributes penalties; (2) Umpire -- stands behind the defensive team and watches for fouls on the line; (3) Head lineman -- stands at one end of the line of scrimmage. He marks the forward progress of the ball and supervises the marking crew; and (4) Field judge -- stands at the opposite end of the line of scrimmage from the head lineman and defensive secondary.

Mr. Foor is a lineman in a three man crew and a field judge in a four man crew, depending on the size of the school. Boone High School uses a four man crew.

The average pay for a referee is $22 to $25 a game. Mr. Foor added "Most officials don't officiate the game for the money, but mostly because they enjoy the sport."

Boone High Begins Girls' Track

This year at Boone High School there is a Toreadorette track team. Spring and fall track programs are being started for girls in grades nine through twelve.

During practice sessions, some of the girls are learning the basic track skills they will use while competing in the spring. The remaining members of the squad were selected for cross country team.

The cross country team will have meets over the mile and a half course in McHose Park this fall. The Toreadorettes will take part in a district meet and probably in a conference meet. Some dual meets will be scheduled after four or five weeks of practice.

The Toreadorettes have three coaches helping them learn the fundamentals of track. The head coach is Harry Robinson. Assisting him are Marge Julius and Don Howard.

Coach Julius is working with the girls in field events, and Coach Howard has the sprinters and hurdlers. Coach Robinson handles the middle and distance runners, along with the cross country team.

"You'll break her heart, coach. She spent six weeks knitting them for me."

GIRLS TRACK

'On your mark! Get set! Go!'
This is what it sounds like on the track every night after school since school started. Even though this is the first year for our girls' track team we are determined and dedicated.

There is something for everyone who is interested. We have sprinters, high jumpers, long jumpers, shot putters and cross country runners. Our coaches are Mr. Robinson, Mr. Howard and Miss Julius is in charge of field events and Coach Robinson is in charge of cross country and the over-all coaching.

The junior high members of the fall track team are Brenda Abrahamson, Chris Adreon, Patti Aspengren, Shelley Bertsch, Chris Bishop, Chris Brown, Vicki Brown, Lisa Burkhead, Tammy Carlson, Peggy Crooks.

Mary Chelsvig, Luann Franklin, Julie Fritz, Pam Harrington, Kalen Hester, Julie Kracht, Terry Ott, Teri Prillhart, Terry Ryan, Debbie Simmons, Jenny Shafer, Janna Teagarden, Chris Thoren and Vickie Thompson.

The Asking Years

Children are unusually brilliant at 5 years of age and at 16.

At 5, they know all the questions. At 16, they know all the answers.

Past that, they start asking questions again.

PSYCHEDELIRIUM TREMENS

by Jane Goodsell

Remember when HIPPIE meant big in the hips
And a TRIP involved travel in cars, planes, and ships?
When POT was a vessel for cooking things in,
And HOOKED was what Grandmother's rug might have been?
When FIX was a verb that meant mend or repair, and BE-IN meant simply existing somewhere?
When NEAT meant well organized, tidy, and clean,

And GRASS was a ground cover, normally green?
When lights and not people were SWITCHED ON and OFF,
And the PILL might have been what you took for a cough?
When CAMP meant to quarter outdoors in a tent,
And POP was what the weasel went?
When GROOVY meant furrowed with channels and hollows.
And BIRDS were winged creatures, like robins and swallows?

When FUZZ was a substance that's fluffy like lint,
And BREAD came from the bakeries, not from the mint?
When SQUARE meant a 90 degreee angled form
And COOL was a temperature not quite warm?
When ROLL meant a bun, and ROCK was a stone,
And HANG-UP was something you did to a phone?
When CHICKEN meant poultry, and BAG meant a sack?

And JUNK trashy cast-offs and old bric-a-brac?
When JAM was preserves that you spread on your bread,
And CRAZY meant balmy, not right in the head?
When CAT was a feline, a kitten grown up,
And TEA was a liquid you drank from a cup?

When SWINGER was someone who swung in a swing,
And a PAD was a soft sort of cushiony thing?

When WAY OUT meant distant and far, far away,
And a man couldn't sue you for calling him GAY?
When DIG meant to shovel and spade in the dirt,
And PUT-ON was what you would do with a shirt?
When TOUGH described meat too unyielding to chew,
And MAKING A SCENE was a rude thing to do?

Words once so sensible, sober and serious,
Are making the FREAK SCENE like PSYCHEDELIRIOUS,
It's GROOVY, MAN, GROOVY but English it's not,
Methinks that the language has gone straight to POT.

Want to test your I.Q.? Simply read the following sentence in the box below and follow the instructions:

FINISHED FILES ARE THE RESULT OF YEARS OF SCIENTIFIC STUDY COMBINED WITH THE EXPERIENCE OF YEARS.

Now count the F's in that square. Count them ONLY ONCE; do not go back nor count them again. If you think you're right, look at the answer.

ANSWER

There are six F's in the sentence. One of average intelligence finds three of them. If you spotted four, five, you can turn up your nose at most anybody. If you caught six, you're a genius and almost too good to be wasting your time on foolishness like this.

Psmart Pstudent Psurprised

Junior read this problem on his English quiz: Write the one word synonym meaning the science of mind, spell it correctly and (hint) briefly explain why it begins with a "p".

Junior wrote the synonym — psychology — and completed his answer this way: Pcertainly pseems pscrewy, pstupid, and psenseless to pstart psychology with a "p".

The teacher read Junior's paper and gave it a passing grade with this comment: Psurprise!
