Former Boone Man Chosen For "Who's Who"

Dr. Joseph J. Irwin, chairman of the English department at Albion College, Albion, Michigan, formerly of Boone, will be listed in the issue of "Who's Who in America," now in preparation for publication next year, according to information from the A. N. Marquis Co., publishers. Dr. Irwin has previously been listed in "Who's Who in the Midwest," "Who's Who In Education" and "Leaders in the Humanities."

Dr. Irwin was graduated from Boone high school, Boone Junior College, Grinnell College and received his advanced degrees from the State University of Iowa, Iowa City. Dr. and Mrs. Irwin have three children: Paul, who will be a member of this year's graduating class from Oberlin College, Oberlin, Ohio, Martha, a freshman student at Oberlin, and Jim aged 12, at home. Both Paul and Martha were valedictorians of their senior classes and both won four year scholarships to Oberlin College.

Martha spent last summer in Germany as an exchange student and Paul spent the summer studying in the Netherlands. While in high school he was an exchange student in the Netherlands.

Dr. Irwin spent a Sabbatical year in England two years ago, studying at Oxford and Cambridge.
