The Student Council

The purpose of our student council is to promote friendship, fellowship, sportsmanship, and school spirit among the students of Boone High. By serving on the council, a student can learn the basic principles of parliamentary procedure and the function of student government. It is a valuable asset to any student of government to be a member of the student council, for there he will probably gain his first experiences in the proposal, discussion, and revision of regulations.

Each home room is allowed to send one voting representative to the Senior High Student Council whose duties are to be present at the bi-weekly meetings of the group, and to take an active part in the discussing, revising, and voting. The council member may then report such activities to his home room.

In addition to these members, one voting representative from such organizations as Hi-Y, Hi-Tri, B-Y-Ettes, and National Honor Society is received into the council.

Recognizing the advantages of having as many capable leaders as possible, the council agreed to admit the three class officers as voting members representing their respective classes and then to select two additional voting members at large from the student body.

On September 25 the annual meeting of the Iowa Association of Student Councils was held here with our student council as host. Over two hundred and fifty students, representing seventy-two member student councils from all over Iowa, attended the meeting. They revised and passed the proposed constitution and discussed problems relevant to phases of efficient student government. Election Day, November 2, was the scene of much ballot-casting in Boone High, too, as a mock presidential election was sponsored by the student council. It was more than interesting to find out that Boone High agreed with the nation in choosing Mr. Truman. For many, the mock election meant learning more about the methods of voting used in national elections, and for others it increased interest in government.

To replenish a dwindling treasury, the student council members undertook the sale of pencils carrying printed schedules of football and basketball games.

In January, a week was devoted to an exhibition of famous paintings. Tickets were sold in home rooms and each 100% home room was allowed to leave school for one hour to examine the paintings, which were hung down town because of lack of space in the auditorium. With the profit derived from the sale of tickets, new paintings were purchased to replace the older ones in the home rooms contributing most to the cause.

Other accomplishments of the student council were suggestions for good behavior of spectators at games and the sending of a CARE package overseas. The fitting climax of the council's activities was the "city official day" late in April, during which the students of Boone High actually took over the city government.

The student council is grateful to Principal D. F. Seaton, adviser, for his aid in parliamentary procedure and his help in making out the agenda.

Quill and Scroll

To reward individual journalistic achievement, Quill and Scroll initiates new members at the end of each semester. Those who met the society's requirements at the end of the first semester were Normagene Cole and Mari Jo Olson from the advertising staff of the Bumble "B," and Gayle Manges from the sport's staff of the same publication.

Miss Jane Ealy as Bumble "B" adviser, Miss Marilyn Otis, president, and Miss Jo Ellen Lane, secretary, initiated the inductees after the informal initiation and covered dish dinner held in the high school home economics room.

At the end of the school year there was a formal banquet and initiation at which time the following members of the Scroll staff were initiated: Nancy Grimes, Dorothy Zagel, Dorothy Stevens, John Duffy, Richard Schultz, Ruanne Martin, Joanne Parks, Mary Lou Peterson, Jenet Johnstone, and Marilyn Curell. From the Bumble "B" staff the following were chosen: Barbara Briley and Nellie Siders. Advisers for Quill and Scroll were Miss Jane Ealy and Mrs. Zoe Stevens.

National Honor Society

"Act well your part; there all the honor lies." This might well be the motto of the National Honor Society, for its members are those who have acted well on the stage of school life. Their job was no easy one, for it included the portrayal of scholarship, character, leadership, and service.

New members chosen on the basis of these four qualities were Lois Murken, Joyce Stephenson, John Linderblood, David Diehl, Marilyn Otis, Marylene Shadle, Bonnie Lou Brown, Viola Handschin Morris, John Blanshan and Norma Peterson. At the induction ceremony on January 14th Alice Fisher spoke on service, Virginia Parker, on scholarship; Virgil Byerly, on character; and Joseph Krenz, on leadership. Gayle Manges acted as warden. Miss Vaughn Thornburgh was sponsor for the society.

On the 25th of March four of the membership Alice Fisher, Virgil Byerly, Gayle Manges, and John Linderblood—took a competitive examination for the National Honor Society scholarship. At the end of the second semester another group of students was to be initiated.

Music...

Do you hear those strains of music? They are probably coming from the band room or from Miss Downing's music room. From early fall until mid-summer the musicians of Boone High are hard at work. The year began with the fifty-six piece band marching each day to Goeppinger Field in preparation for the football season. With the addition of new multi-colored lights for their hats, the band presented their usual spectacular half-time shows at the four home games. When the Ames-Boone game rolled around again, the combined bands of both towns presented their annual marching maneuvers with new zip and vigor.

With the marching-band season over, work began in earnest in preparation for the coming concerts. During Thanksgiving vacation, "All-State" took place in Des Moines with thirty-seven students attending. The seniors were Dale Bellairs, Kenneth Bloomquist, Loyd Settle, Joyce McIlvain, Lorna Hunter, Shirley Preston, and Joanne Smith. Those eligible to take part in the All-State contest had been chosen by auditions the month before.

On December 14 the Music Department presented the annual Christmas Vespers with new lighting effects blending with the melodies to make the effect pleasing to both the ear and the eye. The Vesper Service was presented in the auditorium which was trimmed with appropriate Yuletide decorations. The performance started with the processional of the chorus and glee clubs with their lighted candles. Following their carols, the orchestra played the "Largo" from Dvorak's "New World Symphony." The Girls' Glee Club then sang "Christmas Bells" and "Noel," and the High School Choir blended their voices in "Beautiful Savior" by Christiansen and "Sun of My Soul." The High School and Junior College Choirs then joined in "Psalm 150." The finale was presented by the concert band in the numbers "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" by Bach, Debussy's "Reverie," and March from "Folk Song Suite" by Vaughn-Williams. Thus the Christmas season started with the sound of fine music in everyone's mind.

The first concert was presented by the high school symphony orchestra on January 7. The first half of the program consisted of the following selections: the chorale, "Come Sweet Death" by Bach, "Scherzo in B Flat" by Schubert, and the "New World Symphony in E Minor" by Dvorak. This famous symphony is filled with tunes that closely resemble Negro spirituals. The finale, which the orchestra played, is constructed in a manner that displays the capabilities of all sections of the orchestra. During the last half of the evening Lorraine Murken played a piano solo, "The Dream of Olwen" by Williams. The program ended with the popular "American Salute" by Gould, "Nocturne" by Mourant, and "Hillbilly" by Marcelli. This concert was acclaimed by many as the "most outstanding" orchestra program yet given.

One month later on March 7, the concert band presented their concert. Opening with "El Abanico," a Spanish march by Jacaloyes, the band next played the finale of Saint-Saens' "Symphony No. 1 in E Flat." This was a double fugue that has been interwoven beautifully and developed to the utmost. The other selections were as follows: "Die Fledermouse" by Strauss, "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes" by Kern, "Sanctuary of the Heart" by Ketelbey, which was directed by Loyd Settle, "Carnival Day in New Orleans" by Morrissey, and "Concerto for Clarinet, Opus 26" by Weber, played by Marylene Shadle. The concert closed with the familiar "Stars and Stripes Forever." Thus the band scored another success under the fine direction of Mr. John Green.

The third and final concert was given on April 1 by the Vocal Department. The program opened with the choir singing "Thank God for a New Born Day," "Bless the Lord, O My Soul," "Now Thank We All Our God," and "Roll, Jordan, Roll." After these sacred numbers the Girls' Glee Club did "Let My People Go," followed by the tenor solo "The Old Road" by Scott and sung by Richard Hughes. The rest of the numbers were "We Sing Thy Praise" and "Suabian Folk Tune" by the Girls' Sextette, a piano duo, "Russian Rhapsody," by Lorraine Murken and Lorna Hunter, "May Now Thy Spirit" and "De Animals A-comin'" by the Boys' Quartet, a soprano solo by Jean DeHoet, and "At Parting" and "Ride the Chariot" sung by the Boys' Glee Club. The evening ended with the choir singing "Deep River," "Old Joe Clark," an American folk song, and the finale, "Battle Hymn of the Republic." This year something new was tried with a trumpet fanfare and drums used in one of the numbers which proved to be a great success. The concert series closed with this enjoyable program and a successful season was ended. The new director, Miss Marian Downing, who took the place of Mrs. Green, proved herself to be an outstanding pianist, as well as an excellent director.

As spring came, so did the music contest with the rush of last minute practicing. The preliminary contest was held at Gowrie on March 12. Boone received thirty-four "firsts" with eight of these being in the vocal division, twenty in the band, and six in the orchestra; of these, eleven were small groups and twenty-three were solos. These winners then went on to state contest at Mason City on April 30. The 26 winners in this contest went to the state finals at Perry a week later.

Speech Department

The curtain descends on another year for the Boone High Speech Department. It has been a year marked with success after success. Under the direction of Mr. Pinkham, a new instructor in Boone this year, and with the aid of Mrs. Isabel Taylor, a very extensive program was carried out.

Three new phases of speech work were added to the usual course of study in the department. These were forensics, beginning public speaking, and beginning drama. Through speech correction, carried on in the classes, students were taught to express themselves well before a group.

One of the opening events of the year was the contest, "I Speak for Democracy," which was sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Those who gave their views on this subject before a senior high assembly were Luene Hartsell, Viola Handschin, Kenneth Bloomquist, Kay Honohan, Donald Headley, Avis Cline, Ruanne Martin, and Betty Cooper. The winners in the competition were Luene Hartsell, Viola Handschin, Kenneth Bloomquist, and Avis Cline, rated in that order.

On November 12th the all-school play, "Growing Pains," was presented to an enthusiastic audience. The cast was as follows:

George McIntyre . . .	Thomas Fangman
Terry McIntyre . . .	Kay Honohan

Mrs. McIntyre . . .	Gretchen Hall
Professor McIntyre . . .	Charles Duncan
Sophie (the maid) . . .	LaVonne Jacobson
Mrs. Patterson . . .	Marilyn Brown
Elsie Patterson . . .	Beverly Jay
Traffic Officer . . .	Milo Davis
Dutch . . .	Kenneth Bloomquist
Brian . . .	John McEntaffer
Omar . . .	Dale Bellairs
Hal . . .	Fred Hartman
Pete . . .	John Blanshan
Prudence Darling . . .	Marilyn Otis
Patty . . .	Mari Jo Olson
Jane . . .	Jo Ellen Lane
Miriam . . .	Barbara Bennett
Vivian . . .	Patricia Sandell

Party girls were Jill Johnstone, Beverly Peters, Ruanne Martin, Beverly Craven, and Virginia Parker. Those who were party boys were Gayle Manges, William Mickle, Kenneth Lindmark, and Jerry Smith.

In February two students, Shirley Barnes and Alice Herman, entered the American Legion contest, speaking on the Constitution. Shirley received a "two" rating and Alice, a "one." On March 5th Alice won a "third" in the state contest at Fort Dodge.

Also in February the home elimination speech contest took place. Of the thirty participants in the various fields nine advanced to the preliminaries at Ogden. These were Kay Honohan, Joan Standley, and Mari Jo Olson in interpretive reading; Evelyn Benshoof in original oratory; Luene Hartsell in dramatic and Kenneth Lindmark in radio speaking. Luene Hartsell, Mari Jo Olson, and Kenneth Lindmark stayed in the competition after the preliminaries at Ogden.

These three represented Boone in the pre-district contest on March 7th at Manson, where they once more earned "one" ratings, thus enabling them to go to Estherville. In this pre-state competition on March 25th Mari Jo Olson and Kenneth Lindmark were able to proceed to the state finals held in Boone on April 22nd. Besides Mari Jo in humorous and Kenneth in radio speaking, Nancy

Grimes in interpretive reading and Kay Honohan in dramatic were participants in the finals. The latter two had automatically advanced to state after the Ogden contest. A one act play, "Lawd, Does Yo' Undahstan?" was also entered with the following cast:

Aunt Doady . . . . .	Mary Lee Vickery
Jim . . . . .	Thomas Fangman
Epsie Lee . . . . .	Jo Ellen Lane
Fruit Cake . . . . .	Mari Jo Olson
Lucy . . . . .	Marilyn Otis
Tom Moore . . . . .	Milo Davis
Negro Women .	Marilyn Brown, Gretchell Hall
Negro Men:	Donald Headley, Gayle Manges, Kenneth Bloomquist, Charles Duncan, James Fangman.
Rieley . . . . .	Kenneth Lindmark
Miles Chambers . . . . .	Jack Blanshan
White Man . . . . .	Marion Strickler
White Woman . . . . .	Barbara Briley

It was impossible to record the results of this final contest because of the early date of publication of this volume.

On April 8th the senior class play, "Sorority House," was presented by the following capable cast:

Lew Wychoff . . . . .	John McEntaffer
Nell Wychoff (his wife) . . . . .	Marilyn Crary
Alice Wychoff (his daughter) . . . . .	Jo Ellen Lane
Bud Loomis . . . . .	Gayle Manges
College Boys:	Kenneth Lindmark, Frederick Hartman, Richard Chance, Jack Blanshan, John Linderblood, James Fangman, Milo Davis, Kenneth Bloomquist.
Omicron Chi Sorority Girls :
Helen Ferguson (president)	Joan Cunningham
Laura Hancock (rush captain)	Alice Fisher
Louise Marshal (secretary)	Shirley Core
Sally Lawton . . . . .	Delores Schulz
May Dobie . . . . .	Joan Standley
Neva Simpson . . . . .	Marilyn Otis
Members:	Darlene Maddux, Beverly Jay, Eileen Nickerson, Helen Pounce, Ardyce Kading, Lorna Hunter, Barbara Barnard, Marilyn Doran, Joanne Smith, Mary Hile, Shirley Heitkamp, Beverly Canady, Phyllis Martin.

Freshmen Girls:

Betty Van Groot . . . . .	Virginia Parker
Dottie Kratke . . . . .	Jacqueline Johnson
Merle Harris . . . . .	Marilyn Brown

Other Freshmen: Avis Cline, Elizabeth Davis, Irene Rountree, Helen Hagaman; Lorraine Van De Woestine, Ruth Jones, Joanne Parks, Joan Wills, Beverly Craven, Rita McBirnie.

Lillian (her daughter) . . . . .	Evelyn Benshoof
Messenger . . . . .	Virgil Byerly
Bell Hop . . . . .	Richard Dugger

Stage Managers: Donald Headley, David Diehl
Properties: Marilyn Quinn, Annabelle Nelson

The dramatic program closed with a series of three one-act plays in May.

Hi-Tri and B-Y-Ettes

This year the two Y groups have engaged in many worthwhile activities.

Both groups have visited the Eastern Star Home where they conducted worship services. Packing a complete outfit for a boy or girl in Europe was another project in which both groups participated. Hi-Tri also sponsored Junior High Religious Emphasis Week.

At Christmas Hi-Tri went caroling, while the B-Y-Ettes gave a party for the children at the Crawford Home.

Educational topics, such as travel and vocations, were used as themes by speakers in the Hi-Tri meetings during the course of the year. The members of the B-Y-Ettes were benefited by talks concerning intolerance, "teen life," and various subjects of interest to homemakers.

The advisers of Hi-Tri, Miss Vaughn Thornburgh, Miss Margaret Turner, and Miss Rebecca Stone gave their assistance in directing the activities.

The officers were Joanne Smith, president; Joan Cunningham, vice-president; Avis Cline, secretary; Barbara Barnard, treasurer; Jo Ellen Lane, publicity chairman; Beverly Canady, program chairman.

The B-Y-Ettes were directed by their advisers, Mrs. Helen Henry, Mrs. Harriet Williams, and Miss Rebecca Stone. Acting as officers for this group were Mari Jo Olson, president; Mary Lou Petersen, vice-president; Patricia Mallicoat, secretary; Beth Hudson, treasurer; Zelda Cline, program chairman.

Hi-Y Club

"To create, maintain, and extend high standards of Christian character"—this is the purpose of the Boone Hi-Y Club. To accomplish this, the Hi-Y Club sponsored Religious Emphasis Week.

Better citizenship was encouraged throughout the year by several civic leaders who spoke to the club. The annual hayride and dance at the "Y" camp was an outstanding success, as was the Hi-Y Club joint meeting with a representative group from the Ames Hi-Y.

The members of the Hi-Y pledged a sum of $50 for overseas relief. The splendid work and success of the Hi-Y can be largely attributed to the hard-working officers and the capable sponsorship of Mr. Jack Tillson.

First semester officers: President, Kenneth Lindmark; vice-president, John Linderblood; secretary, Gayle Manges; treasurer, Donald Houser; chaplain, David Diehl.

Homecoming...

Virginia Parker

Enthusiasm for Homecoming was mounting long before the actual day arrived. Committees from Pep Club had already begun to plan the parade, and various school organizations were at work on their floats. A week before the big day Shirley Core, Jo Ellen Lane, Marilyn Otis, Virginia Parker, and Elaine Shafer were chosen by the football squad as candidates for Homecoming queen.

The night before the game hundreds of shouting, dancing boys and girls paraded from Story Street to Goeppinger Field where they held a rousing pep meeting around a huge bonfire.

October 15 dawned bright and clear. The whole school hummed with activity. Interest in the game was coupled with speculation as to the identity of the queen, which was finally revealed at the coronation assembly where Virginia Parker was crowned Queen of Homecoming. After this ceremony the Queen and her attendants were escorted to convertibles to lead a parade of sixteen colorful floats. The Scroll float, bearing the caption "For Whom the Bell Tolls," won first prize of ten dollars.

After a tough battle with Carroll ending in a 6 to 6 tie, two hundred students enjoyed the annual Scroll dance in the high school gymnasium.

Pep Club

"ARE WE GOING TO BEAT?" "YEA, BOONE!" That's the answer the fifty members of Pep Club give. Be it football, basketball, swimming or track, these girls get behind the team and try to push them over the victory line with yells, songs, and plenty of school spirit. To try to unite the student body in supporting the teams is the main purpose of Pep Club, but to give service to the school and to the community is another object of the club. Let's look at the Pep Club schedule for 1948-1949. School opens, and a few weeks afterward strange creatures with blackened faces and queer attire are seen running around the halls. This is the informal initiation into Pep Club. It is followed by a formal banquet when the girls become active members.

During the football season Pep Club sponsors the homecoming activities. The night before the game an all-school snake dance ends up at Goepinger Field for a huge bonfire, with yells and cheers for the team. Homecoming day there is a parade of floats led by the queen and her court and escorted by fire engines, jeeps, and sirens.

Throughout the football and basketball seasons the girls charter buses to go to the out-of-town games. Of course the main games of the year are with Ames, and the club displays the most pep and enthusiasm then. Signs and streamers are put up in the gymnasium, and new pep chants and songs are learned. To arouse the school spirit the Pep Club girls put on pep skits showing Boone as the victor, and invite speakers and the coaches to assure the team and the student body that the Toreadors will surely win.

The girls give service by collecting funds for polio, cancer, and heart drives at the local theatres and at games; by acting as ushers at the games; by taking charge of concessions at local events; and by selling articles made by war veterans in the community.

Much credit for the success of the Pep Club should go to the three sponsors, Miss Rowlison, Miss Swenson, and Miss Carney.

We Work... Boring? No, it's a lot of fun to find out new things. We used to fuss because we had to study. (We still let out an occasional moan just for effect.) Even though we wouldn't admit this to our teachers for the world, we are beginning to value knowledge and even enjoy classes!

We Play...

Looking forward to our parties and back on them is half the fun. They are the frosting and spice which make school extra special instead of just interesting. Our social season began with Homecoming in the fall, which was followed by the Sadie Hawkins Dance. There was the Christmas Formal during Christmas vacation, besides many private parties. The Quill and Scroll covered dish dinner was held after school started in January; then came the Valentine Formal and in May the Quill and Scroll formal banquet. Of course through the year there were the pep assemblies, the dances in the gym after the basketball games, and the Grid Club. But the biggest event came last—the Junior-Senior Prom—a fitting ending for a senior's social life in Boone High.

And to Sum Up...

It was nearing the end of August, and "Back to School" signs were in all of the stores. In spite of the heat, we were at our desks on September 7th, 8th and 9th taking State Tests and thinking about the first football game with Roosevelt High. Although the game was to be in Des Moines, many Boone students looked forward to going. The first home game was with Webster City, and it was on that day that the Pep Club girls sported their new red corduroy jackets. The "Y" groups began their meetings in September with Hi-Y installing officers on the 15th and Hi-Tri on the 22nd. We noticed some rather queer looking characters wandering around the day of the Oskaloosa game. These were the Pep Club initiates, and the afternoon was enlivened by an assembly in which they did stunts. The whole school was proud of our Student Council when they were hosts to the State Student Council Conference on September 25th. Boone High celebrated the last day of September by electing class officers.

In October the B-Y-Ettes welcomed their new members with a covered dish dinner at the Y. W. C. A. There was real trouble the Saturday night the Hi-Y Club had their hay ride. A broken axle, a flat tire, and a broken wheel left the boys $15 in debt. Everyone had fun, though, except a few hay fever sufferers. Dr. Olson entertained us in assembly with his program, "America the Beautiful," which renewed our appreciation of this scenic country. Other noteworthy events in October were Homecoming Day (which was celebrated in the usual bang-up fashion), and the Scroll campaign.

School elections November 2nd proved that Boone High agreed with the rest of the nation because we, too, elected President Truman. Characters stepped right out of Lil' Abner comic strip when the girls escorted the boys to the Sadie Hawkins dance. Those with the best costumes were rewarded with brightly colored lollipops. On Armistice Day an address by Mr. Lant Doran helped us "to remember." After weeks of rehearsals a capable cast presented the all-school play "Growing Pains," to a large audience. Then there was an interesting assembly program on liquid air which was explained to us by Dr. Brown. But best of all was the opening of the basketball season. The girls got a head start when they played Gowrie, November 16th. A victory over Perry on the 19th started the boys out with a bang. Just before Thanksgiving vacation Hi-Tri sponsored a Junior High Religious Emphasis Week with devotionals each morning.

In December C. E. Jones, who succeeds in interesting us in some phase of science every year, returned for a lecture on sound. Working for better international understanding, the Hi-Tri Club sponsored an assembly featuring three foreign students from Iowa State College. December 18th was a red-letter day for the girls' basketball team, as they defeated Ogden in the finals of the county tournament. The Christmas season was heralded with the usual gaiety. However, a solemn note was furnished by the impressive Christmas concert given by the band, orchestra, and chorus. The halls of Boone High were quiet during the next two weeks while the students and faculty enjoyed their Christmas vacation.

In an impressive candle-light ceremony on January 13th, the National Honor Society initiated new members. It was a grand day for some people. Our team played against Newton on the evening of January 13th. To our disappointment we were defeated. The week from the 24th to 28th was Religious Emphasis Week sponsored by the Inter-Church Youth Council. Rev. Lacour spoke at a series of senior high assemblies on subjects of interest to high school students. On January 26th a marionette show, "The King of the Golden River," was presented to both junior and senior high.

Music filled the air in February, when the high school symphony orchestra presented their annual concert. Since Hi-Tri had outgrown the Y.W.C.A. they moved to the city hall for the first meeting of the second semester. On the 9th and 16th of February preliminary speech contests were held. Another contest, the state swimming meet, was held in Iowa City on February 19th. Now you see it—now you don't. That's exactly what happened on February 21st when the Arnolds, well-known magicians, entertained us.

March got off to a bad start when we lost to Webster City in the District Basketball Tournament on March 3rd. The Y. W. groups sponsored a service in observance of "World Day of Prayer" on March 14th. Our high school concert band gave a program on March 7th. A second musical treat during the month was a concert by the Iowa State College Chorus. Small groups and soloists from the music department met their first competition at Gowrie on March 15th. Recognition was given to the winners of major awards in sports when they were initiated into the "B" Club on March 27th. Football, basketball, and swimming letters for this year were awarded at an assembly on March 24th. On March 25th the Ritz Trumpeteers presented a varied musical program to the combined junior-senior high assembly.

April was ushered in by the last 1,000 Club concert presented by the high school vocal department. "Sorority House," the senior class comedy, appeared on the stage of the auditorium the following Friday, April 8th. The wings of time sped on to April 15 when the school clocks were stopped for two wonderful days of vacation—Good Friday and Easter Monday. Following fast on the heels of spring vacation was the opening of the student political campaign on Tuesday, April 19th. The victors took office April 28th and governed Boone for a day. The new faces seen in Boone High on April 22nd and 23rd were students entered in the state speech contest. This year the Hi-Tri decided to make the club's annual banquet a mother-daughter affair, April 26th.

The Dolphin Club chose the four seasons of the year as the theme for their water carnival on May 4th and 5th. Boone High musicians trekked to Mason City on April 30th for district contest, and the winners there went to Perry to participate in the state contest on May 8th and 9th. For students who had worked hard all year and had done outstanding work, induction into the National Honor Society on May 12, proved to be ample reward. Also reaping the fruits of their labors were those journalism students who had met Quill and Scroll's requirements. On May 23rd the Senior Class Day Exercises were held and the senior picnic was held the afternoon of the same day. Doctor Lister, pastor of First Methodist Church, gave an impressive sermon at the baccalaureate service, May 29th. The halls were quiet again on Monday for the observance of Memorial Day. Tuesday, May 31st, was that crowning day—Commencement! Ah, at last—a diploma in hand!!
