Looking back...having NO REGRETS

IF ONLY RE-CHANCES WERE GIVEN...SOME WOULD CHOSE TO UN-DO WHAT WAS DONE. WHAT TYPES OF REGRETS DID THE SENIORS HAVE?

•I regret missing so much school. I had too much make-up when I did.

- ALICIA COBB

•Screwing around too much.

-JEREMY FRANK

•Not trying everything that came up. I wish I would've tried everything so there would be no way to wonder what could have happened.

-RACHEL GOULD

•Not putting forth full effort because I know I could have done better if I had tried.

-BILL WILCOX

•Not being in more extra-curricular activities, like the paper, yearbook, etc.

-ANDY PEDERSEN

•I regret getting bad grades until my senior year.

-SARAH ROLL

•I skipped my band lessons and always talked in Miss Reideler's class.

-LEAH HENRY

PUNISHMENTS TOLD

REMEMBERING PUNISHMENTS FROM THE PAST, SENIORS SHOW THAT THEY WEREN'T THE PERFECT ANGELS THEY WANTED EVERYONE TO BELIEVE. SENIORS STATED THE WORST PUNISHMENTS THEY'VE EVER HAD.

• Having to scrub the kitchen floor with a toothbrush.

-JENNY BACKOUS

• I was called an ultra-conservative jerk.

-CHRIS MURPHY

• I wasn't allowed to watch cartoons for a whole week.

-ZACH KAPFER

• I got detention in 5th grade because the teacher said I rolled my eyes at him but I didn't so I started crying.

-TIFFANY HASSTEDT

• In seventh grade I had to go in Mr. Cox's room after school to talk to him because I was playing tic-tac-toe with Laura Burdette while we were correcting a worksheet.

-JODI DAIGH

• I cheated on a spelling test in second grade. My teacher put my name on the board and made me stay inside for recess. Needless to say, I never did it again.

-MOLLY NASH

• In first grade I laughed when Dani Norton tickled me so the reading aide made me go into the classroom and sit while the rest of the class went to lunch. She forgot about me and I missed lunch and recess.

-KIM IRONS

↑ WAITING for the bell to ring, Kristen Krumhardt ('99) has her bag packed and is ready to go.

Students tended to get anxious at the end of class periods and were usually ready to leave before the bell rang.

↓ SHOWING off her ability to get more paint on herself than on the street, Kristy Harris ('99) flaunts her messy self. Street painting was a great time for each class to get together and have fun while breaking the rules.

*"Mr. Pott's

being able to make stuff and not be told how

Jess Jones

•WORKING away at the computer, T.J. Terrell ('99) looks up his needed information. Computers became very important to the students year by year because of the need to find information.

Looking back sometimes brings OLD MEMORIES

RECESS WAS THE TIME OF THE DAY THAT EVERYONE SEEMED TO LOOK FORWARD TO. FRIENDS MET ON THE PLAYGROUND AND FILLED THEIR TIME WITH THEIR FAVORITE ACTIVITY.

•I liked ball tag because you could throw a ball at someone you didn't like and it was all right.

-NICK SCHROEDER

•I loved the piano slide at Lincoln Elementary because we could sneak behind it and kiss the boys.

-SARAH MUSE

•I liked standing next to the wall because I was always in trouble.

-JASON BAUER

•I would swing upside down on the red bar doing flips. I thought it was the cool thing to do along with all the other little girls.

Putting sweet thoughts and ideas into FUNNY VALENTINES

FROM THE DAYS OF HOMEMADE HEARTS TO THE DAYS OF FINE PROMISING GIFTS OF AFFECTION, THE MOST EXPENSIVE VALENTINE GIFTS WEREN'T ALWAYS THE FAVORITES. WHO GAVE YOU THE BEST VALENTINE AND WHY WAS IT SO SPECIAL?

• In 4th grade, I got a big red heart made of wax from Cindy Grundstad. It was special because it was my first REAL Valentine from a girl!

-JOEL HITSMAN

• I got a Valentine from T.J. Terrell that said, 'You're better than Iowa State'.

-EMILY BROOKS

• Randy Johnson gave me a Valentine just this year. It was very unexpected but it was really sweet of him. It was special because I never thought that Randy really knew who I was and it really made my day at work.

-KRISTIN MATTSON

• I got one from my mom. Every year she makes the day special.

-DANI NORTON

• Tiffany Hasstedt gave me my first and only Valentine from anyone.

-PAUL REESE

• My mom and dad gave me a nice card and.....it had money in it.

-JEFF FITZGERALD

↓ DURING a time out at a volleyball game, Heather Behn and Erin Baker concentrate on the fans while the coach explains a game plan. The number of volleyball fans increased during the season due to the improvement of the team.

HALLOWEEN OUTFITS

REMEMBER THE EXCITEMENT WHEN THE END OF OCTOBER ROLLED AROUND. IN THE ELEMENTARY DAYS STUDENTS CARVED PUMPKINS AND WENT TRICK OR TREATING. THE PROBLEM WAS FINDING THE RIGHT COSTUME.

- I was a big butterfly and I painted my own wings and wore all black. Annie [twin sister] was the same thing and we stood out together.

- KRISTEN KRUMHARDT

- I wore a camoflauge suit because I could sneak around in the bushes and trees and really scare people.

-NATHAN PEEBLER

- I went as a transparent man, but I forgot to drink the radioactive goo so everyone saw my he-man underwear.

-TYLER STEVENS

- I went as a red crayola crayon one year. My mom made the costume.

-JOE RHODD

- I went as Rainbow Brite.

-KAREN MYERS

- When I was 5, I dressed up as Boy George! I was so in love with him.

-SARAH WIKERT

- I went as a dinosaur.

-JOHN HOWELL

- Volleyball and the awards I received.

- ERIN BAKER

- Being kind and generous to others.

•ENJOYING some hallway fun, juniors take a break outside the athletic office. Because students were not admitted to the building during the noon hour, they tended to congregate in the commons area.

I am the King of the World!" Those words from Titanic became one of the best known lines of the year. On September 1, the movie that made it famous was released on video.

When the movie was released to the public, several had difficulty in getting a copy. Some merchants couldn't order enough to satisfy customers, others had computer troubles.

"When we went to the check-out, it wouldn't ring up right. Then when we were walking out the door, we got beeped," junior Jamie Dawkins said.

The original projection had the copies of the video flying out the doors. The first few days of sales proved that prediction to be correct. However, many decided that they were satisfied seeing it once in the theater or they just were not impressed enough to buy it.

"Even though Kate Winslet gets naked, I'm not going to buy it," sophomore Allen Philo said.

As for the difference between predicted numbers of sales and actual sales...Titanic sunk.

Balancing IT OUT

•WAITING for Mrs. Karen Hesser to begin her English class, juniors relax a minute after struggling in the crowded halls.

•HANGING out before the school day starts, juniors discuss what they have in store for them for the day.

MAN! The halls are too small! The time for passing is too short! The teachers just don't understand!

"It's really hard to go from one side of the school to another side of the building in just four minutes," junior Erin Anderson said.

Because of the increase in student population, people felt that the administration needed to consider changes that would adjust to the chaos in the halls.

"The passing time is too shot and it should be longer so that we can get to our classes on time. The teachers complain and we get in trouble when it isn't even our fault," junior Ryan Logan said.

Most teachers understand the situation. "If students have to come from the locker rooms to third floor, they need more time," history teacher Mr. Bud Smith said.

TAKING TESTS

A skill of a lifetime

SNAP! As the pencil broke in two, the test taker began to panic. The testing time would be over in 15 minutes and no talking was allowed. Just how was anyone supposed to find another pencil?

Tests were always frustrating to take, but semester tests seemed even more frustrating. Too much was at stake in some classes to treat them like a joke.

"I always seem to get my hardest tests on the same day. It's nice to get them out of the way, but it's frustrating because I want to do my best," junior Katie Howe said.

Students felt that the tests should be optional. Some districts reward students for good attendance by not requiring them to take the tests.

"We used to have the semester test option tied to attendance, but the school board felt that students needed to take the tests so they would be prepared in college," Mrs. Jeanne Duffy said.

Some grades were based on projects rather than actual tests.

"I like the fact that we could work on a project that would show what we learned rather than just answer questions," junior

Sarah Riesberg said.

WHAT'S THE WORST THING ABOUT STUDYING FOR TESTS?

"I never know how to study because the stuff usually comes to me pretty easy....I have been known to bomb a test though!"

•Robert Wetzeler

"I hate tests and refuse to study for them!"

2 1/2 WORTH: It seems that everytime we try to do something that is a little different, everyone makes fun of us!

•Sophomore

"I'm not sure if I was really embarrassed, but this incident will be memorable. Normally I have privacy in my home, but you never know when you have sisters around. I was changing my clothes and my sister's friends walked in on me. Now they all call me buns."

•MATT WICKMAN '00

"I was walking out of the school with my brother when we got out early one day. He slipped on the ice and started falling. As he was on his way down, he decided to pull me down with him. I was so embarrassed because everyone was watching."

•ALWAYS knowing they have an adventure ahead of them, juniors Allison Hockett, Holly Hampton and Kerry Ballantyne head for their next music class. Students found that memories were created during many of their extracurricular activities such as music.

•RELAXING as they work on their homework, Linda Wood '00 and Cody Bowers '00 use the chorus room for study time. Students found a variety of places to study during open campus.

•VISITING and solving problems of the work, Jill Thieben '00 and Jeanna Garvey '00 take advantage of their free time. Students involved in many activities found spare time limited.

Ask anyone who cares: Matt Banford has a scar caused by Nathan Buckingham shooting him with a paintball gun.
