One Hundred Thirty-two Seniors Receive Diplomas

Senior Class Play Pleases Audience

Back to the Days of King Arthur

Mark Twain's "Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court" was presented by the senior class on May 18. The play centered around a shrewd and clever Yankee who found himself in King Arthur's Court and who developed all the miracles of the twentieth century to baffle the court of King Arthur. Barbara Diehl, who played the role of Queen Guinevere, gave an excellent characterization of a domineering queen who practically "ran" the good-natured and somewhat discouraged King Arthur, played well by Earl Thompson.

Queen Morgan LeFay, the scheming, black-hearted woman, was excellently portrayed by Imogene Kruse, and her villainous partner, Merlin, was played by Irvin Lanning. Betty Wiernsberger as Sandy and Catherine Myers as Elaine were two very charming young ladies of the court. Marion, Hank's sister, was breezily portrayed by Phyllis Main; and the harassed mother of Hank, was handled expertly by Marilyn Downey. Clarence, the mischievous page boy, was played with a great deal of vigor by Laverne Babbitt, while Kenneth McIlvaine and Gayle Thornton were excellent knights in the roles of Sir Sagamor and Sir Launcelot.

Miss Sybil Lamb directed the play, with Gladys Youll as student director. Others on the production staff were: properties and business manager: Miss Louise Linderblood; properties committee: Phyllis Wheeler, chairman, Louise McVicker, Rosemary Parks, Mary Lue Shafer, Gloria Smith; stage crew adviser: Mr. A. H. Lein; stage crew: Bill Orr, manager, Don Beasley, Jim Littrell, John Monroe, Harry Echtenach; art adviser: Mr. Holland Foster; scenic design committee: Ruth Buechler, Naomi Folson, Birdell Kruek, Pat Olander, Delores Woodworth; make-up adviser: Miss Helen Thomas; make-up committee: Alida Eamer, Virginia Herron, Mildred Lyon, Betty Morrissey, Audrey Moore; costume committee: Jackie Reid, chairman, Lovey May Budd, Clarice Coan, Joan Fitzgerald, Marilyn Minson, Glenice Pfimmer; business staff: Doris Verchio, chairman, Lois Jones, Doris Rogers, Betty Anderson, Iris Sanders, Ella Mae Kuhl, Ruth Strand; programs: Miss Jane Ealy, chairman, Lenore Zelle, Roseanna Haleen.

Paper an Innovation C'est la Guerre

They say there is nothing new under the sun. But to substitute a newspaper for the customary annual is certainly something new at Boone High.

When the staff learned that, due to shortages of film, it would be difficult to get the necessary pictures for an annual, they cast about for a substitute. The idea was to produce some sort of record of the year's happenings. This paper is the result.

Class Day Assembly May 24th

On May 24 the annual class day assembly was held in the high school auditorium.

The setting of the skit, written by Phyllis Wheeler, Virginia Herron, George Sovereign, Charles Willis and Betty Wiernsberger, was a sultan's palace. The sultan, Charles Willis, was to choose for his wife the girl who would bring him the most pleasing gift.

Beautiful girls, members of the senior class, came to offer the sultan their gifts. However, the "girl" who brought the most satisfactory gift turned out to be that captivating lad, Morrie Christofferson.

The rest of the program consisted of the greeting by the salutatorian, Patricia Carlson, and the farewell speech by the valedictorian, Phyllis Wheeler. The traditional key was given by the senior class president, John Engler, to the junior class president, Jacques Welin, who in turn passed on the spoon to the sophomore president.

Special music was furnished by the music department. At the close of the program as the high school orchestra played the recessional, the 132 members of the senior class marched from the auditorium, led by the junior class officers.

WHAT IS A BOND?

That bond you buy is Freedom Paper,
A glorious kind of Victory-shaper;
It means more tanks, more guns, more shells,
And the speedier ringing of V-Day bells.

Good Luck Seniors!!

Senior Class Picnic A "Howling" Success

The senior class picnic was held at McHose Park Monday, May 21, at 2:30 p.m. The seniors reached the park by various modes of transportation — some rode in cars, a few (?) piled in Ray Muller's Ford, and some even rode bicycles.

They spent an enjoyable afternoon hiking, playing ball, playing horseshoes, and just generally wearing themselves out.

Toward the end of the afternoon they began to feel that it was time for the food committee to show the results of their efforts. The committee deserves honor, because they provided enough food for the hungriest individual (even Delbert Dickey). No one knows how they managed to do it, especially with rationing, etc., but everyone admits they did a grand job.

The seniors wish to thank the sponsors and committees who planned and carried out such a successful picnic.

The Rev. Clarke to Give Baccalaureate Sermon

Sunday, May 27, at 8:00 o'clock the senior class, their parents, and friends will assemble in the high school auditorium to hear the baccalaureate address which will be given by the Reverend A. M. Clarke of the First Baptist Church of Boone.

The title of the address will be "Geometrical Development." Reverend Clarke will stress the point that the graduates must be developed in many ways to solve the problems facing them at this time. First, they must be developed in health, emotions, and self control. Second, they must develop moral integrity and a sense of social obligation. Last, there must be proper spiritual valuation.

Dr. Briggs will give the invocation, the Reverend Brown will read the Scripture, and the Reverend Spong will give the benediction. Music will be furnished by the high school music department.

Junior-Senior Reception May 29

The annual junior-senior reception will be held in the high school gymnasium on May 29. Promptly at 8:45 the presidents of the two classes will lead the grand march into a beautifully decorated gym.

There a program will be given, consisting of a vocal solo by Phyllis Dunnerman, a novelty act by the boys' quartet, and a dance by talent from Betty Mae Harris' studio. Dancing to the strains of Sam Campbell's orchestra will fill the rest of the evening.

The chairmen of the various committees who will help make the affair a success are: decoration, Maxie Erickson; program and invitation, Don Carter; chairs, Emerson Wirtz. The advisers are Miss Hicks, Miss Carmody and Miss Thornburgh, with F. E. McIntyre as general chairman.

Chaperones for the reception will be Mr. and Mrs. John Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Grimes, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Schroeder.

Quill and Scroll Chose "Teen of the Week"

Jim Fitzgerald, a junior, was chosen as Boone High's outstanding teen-ager by the members of the Quill and Scroll Society at their April meeting. This selection of a "teen" from our student body was made at the request of Sheila Daly, a well known teen-age columnist who writes for the Chicago Tribune.

A letter received from her stated that our school paper had been selected to help find one of the nation's outstanding teen-agers to be chosen as "Teen of the Week" for the Chicago Tribune and syndicated papers. She explained that one motive of the search is to find a teen-ager who might be of interest to other teen-agers of the nation, such as someone with an unusual hobby or out of school job, or someone who excels in doing something. She said that each "Teen of the Week" will be featured with picture and story.

She also pointed out that another possible motive of the plan might be to shift the emphasis from the bobby sox fads to smarter and smoother teens.

On May 31, at eight o'clock, the 1945 commencement services will be held for this year's graduating class of 132 members. Opening the ceremony the high school orchestra, under the direction of Konrad Scholl, will play the traditional "Pomp and Circumstance," written by Sir Edward Elgar for the coronation of King George V of England; the graduating class will be ushered in during this processional. After the invocation the high school Girls' Glee Club will sing "Oh Word of God Incarnate," directed by Miss Florence Anderson.

The general theme of this graduating service is "Our Responsibility." This timely topic concerns the past, present, and future, and is in keeping with the interests of the people; it offers indeed, a great challenge to the graduating class of this year. Since it has been the custom for the past years to choose speakers from the graduating class, three representatives from this year's class were chosen. George Sovereign will speak on "Winning the War," Doris Verchio on "Building on the Past," Betty Wiernsberger on "Working Toward the Future."

At this same service Dean J. R. Thorngren will present the S. R. Dyer Scholarship Award; Mr. Fisher will present the H. J. Van Ness Valedictory Award.

The Senior Class will be represented by Superintendent A. Grimes, after which Mr. Jam Morris, president of the Board of Education, will present the diplomas to the graduates.

Of special interest is the fact that three of the members of this graduating class completed their education through the United States Armed Forces Institute. They are Raymond Heaps, Richard R. Leaverton and Harold R. Sas. The remaining 132 seniors are graduating in the various courses as follows: 19 in Arts and Crafts; 33 in Social Science; 38 in Scientific; 3 in Language and 39 in the Commercial Course.

Quill and Scroll Mid-Year Initiation

The Quill and Scroll held its annual initiation January 31 at the Holst Hotel. Dinner was served at 6:30 at appropriately decorated tables, the centerpiece being a large quill and a scroll with place cards for each girl carrying out the same motif.

Much merriment was caused when the new members were required to eat every course of the meal with tablespoons. Also during the informal part of the initiation, the new members were asked to do various stunts, such as roller skating down the street, pantomimes, debates, and both vocal and instrumental solos.

The impressive formal initiation, conducted by Miss Early, was performed by candle light.

Mrs. Zoe Stevens, Miss Doris Shaler, Miss Violet Wernli, and Miss Jane Ealy were faculty members of Quill and Scroll who were present.

New members initiated were Ella Mae Kuhl, Marilyn Downey, Betty Morrissey, Isabel Canakes, Clavonne Dahlien, Catherine Myers, Dona Kading, Gerry McCullough and Mary Ann Herman.

Committees for the banquet were: informal initiation, Phyllis Wheeler, Ella Mae Carlstrand, and Marilyn Fibikar; decorations, Maxine Erickson, Imogene Kruse and Jackye Reid.

Informal Initiation

Realizing the great honor of being a member of Quill and Scroll, the older members deemed it only fair that the initiates should be "set apart" from the other students during the school day. Consequently, each girl was ordered to wear the following:

High heeled shoes and anklets, a skirt hanging about six inches below the knee, a man's shirt turned wrong side out, hair piled high upon the head, and a homemade banner head-line across her back. "Don't Fence Me In," "War Cuts Crib Sheet Supply," and similar headlines caused smiles in the dullest classes. In addition to this, the initiate carried her books in a paper bag and wore eyebrow mascara applied very neatly (?).

Some of our glamor girls were very de-glamorized. To be certain they would be noticed, another ritual was added. Whenever coming in contact with an old member, the new member would immediately drop her books, take a few exercises, and loudly shout, "I'm getting stronger every day."

A great many students were amazed at these sights and stood in crowds to catch a glimpse of the humiliated member. However, all fun aside, these new members felt that belonging to the Quill and Scroll was worth the initiation ceremony.

Formal Initiation

Formal initiation for Quill and Scroll, National Honorary Society for High School Journalists, was held at a 6:30 dinner at the Lincoln Tavern Friday evening, May 11.

The three-course dinner was served at a table appropriately decorated for the event. A May pole of pastel colors served as a centerpiece. From the pole were streamers to each place. Each member identified his place by his picture which was on the place card.

After dinner Miss Ealy conducted the formal initiation.

Those initiated were: Patricia Carlson, Donald Carter, Jean Halverson, Charlene Jennings, Barbara Laub, Phyllis Main, Mary Lue Shafer, Lee Ann Smiley, and Betty Wiernsberger.

The informal initiation was during the morning, when the initiates were dressed in the usual unique costumes.

National Honor Society Takes in New Members

Twenty-one seniors attained the greatest honor of the graduation season Monday, May 7, when each received an invitation to become a member of the Boone Chapter of the National Honor Society. Of 132 seniors these twenty-one were chosen: Helen Borland, Patricia Carlson, Ella Mae Carlstrand, Merna Collis, Marilyn Fibikar, Marilyn Downey, Joan Fitzgerald, Janis Grimes, Imogene Kruse, Ella Mae Kuhl, Irvin Lanning, Donald Maffett, Marilyn Minson, Catherine Myers, Kenneth Nelson, Robert Patton, Iris Sanders, Mary Lue Shafer, Doris Verchio, Phyllis Wheeler, and Betty Wiernsberger.

Friday, May 11, a formal initiation was held in the auditorium. The Boone High school orchestra played the processional as the initiates entered. The procession, led by five society members clad in robes and carrying lighted candles, marched solemnly down the aisles to the stage. Strains of soft, melodious music could be heard throughout the program.

Seated in a semi-circle, the twenty-one seniors listened attentively as Wanda Wallace, the chairman, introduced the speakers. Ruth Ann Puckhaber gave an inspiring speech on service. Dayle Manges' speech centered upon scholarship. Gwendolyn Carlson spoke on leadership in the future. Last, a short talk on character was given by Yvonna Mae Tingwald.

Miss Tingwald then read the pledge, repeated in unison by the new members. Following this, each member was presented with his pin and a lighted blue candle.

The orchestra played the recessional as the National Honor Society members, holding their flickering candles, walked up the aisles of the dimmed auditorium.

Hobos' Frolic

Hobo Day, an annual event, will be held on May 25. During the day old clothes will be the fashion; school will be dismissed in the afternoon, and all active participants will meet at McHose Park at 2:00, where the traditional junior-senior baseball game will be played. Later in the afternoon the usual sand bag fights will be staged, in which only juniors and seniors are eligible to participate.

After all bruises and scratches are patched up, the students will leave for home to prepare for the Hobo party which will be held in the gym at 8:00 p.m. The Hi-Y boys, who are sponsoring the party, have arranged for dancing and various other types of entertainment. Refreshments will be served at the close of the evening.

In class I try to concentrate, Though my books I cannot find. And things I did not contemplate

Keep crowding into my mind. Yesterday was just as bad; The day before was worse.

The state of things is very sad, When I resort to verse. After vacation is over again, I wonder if I'll remember

To keep up with my work each day, When I return in September. —Bones.

Tombstone dealer: "How would just a simple 'Gone Home' do for an inscription?"

Widow: "I guess that will be all right. It was always the last place he ever went."

WITH THE ARMED FORCES

Boone High School Seniors in Service

Everywhere one looks he sees an honor roll posted, listing the names of Boone boys who are serving their country. The contribution of the senior class may seem small in comparison, but to us it means a great deal since these boys are our classmates. May God bless them all and bring them back safely.

The army took Bob Patten, who is stationed at Camp Robinson, Arkansas; Ivan Buechler, Jack Higgins, Jack Harker, Jim Mikesell, and Bob Whitaker at Camp Hood, Texas; and Bill Modeland at Camp Walters, Texas. Also in the army are: Lloyd Ades, Edward Finger, and Ray Heaps.

In the navy are Don Maffett at Radar School in Hawaii; Maurice Mondt and Charles Piper at Great Lakes. Richard Leaverton has completed over one-half of his training at the Armed Forces Institute. Bill Thayer is in the marines and Edward Shearer in the coast guard at Brooklyn, N. Y.

Senior Girls Join Cadet Nurses' Corps

Although many seniors have no definite plans, there are also those whose future is awaiting their graduation. Among these are the girls who have joined the Cadet Nurses' Corps; for instance, Clarice Coan, Barbara Diehl, and Alida Eamer are going to train in Des Moines, at the Iowa Methodist Hospital. Doris Verchio plans to go to Ravenswood, in Illinois, and Lois Jones and Thelma Green will leave for Omaha. Others who have Cadet Nurse Corps plans are Ella Mae Kuhl, Gladys Youll, Lovey Mae Budd, Rosemary Parks, and Janis Grimes. Here's wishing these girls much luck in their chosen careers.

Highlights in the News

Excitement Plus

Sometime when you find life dull and void of excitement call up Birdell Kruck and say "Let's go to Ames tonight." Birdell has a way of turning a lifeless evening into a hilarious variety of everything. Her main sport is chauffeuring a taxi cab and getting into places where we ought not to tread. Yes, "Birdie" can pile it all into one night. But always remember to keep her away from innocent grocery shoppers. Isn't it amazing what a person can do with such a simple item as two dozen eggs? It was all very harmless, but loads of fun anyway.

Philip "Sinatra" King

Hollywood can have its Bing Crosby, for Boone High will be satisfied to retain Philip "Sinatra" King. The resemblance is somewhat marked between the two, especially when Philip dons his bow tie and his sandals. Besides this second-hand claim to fame, Phil is also a member of the Civil Air Patrol and a most likeable fellow in our graduating brigade.

Betty Wiernsberger: "Are you in favor of indoor sports?"

Mairlyn Minson: "Yes, if they don't stay too long."

Highlights

Our Adviser

She's a quiet, demure little lady, who ranks high in the eyes of all students. Her patience, her smile, and her charm have been an inspiration to all who know her. She's the genial librarian at Boone High who willingly gives aid to the students who desire her help. Mrs. Stevens will remain in our minds as one of our fondest memories of Boone High.—The Scroll Staff.

Assistant Adviser

Assistant literary adviser on the Scroll Staff is Miss Doris Shaler. Her humorous outlook on life is one of her most outstanding characteristics. Besides her ability to "parler Francaise," she also teaches English and takes an active part in all activities carried on in the school. Orchids to both Mrs. Stevens and Miss Shaler.

Learning and Lanning

The quiet little figure seen gliding down the halls the past year has been Mary Lue Shafer, who always appears pre-occupied with some work that just has to be done. The question of whether her mind is filled with book learning or Irvin Lanning is still an unanswered question. Mary Lue accomplishes her work quietly and efficiently. She is one of our seniors who will leave a pattern of "work well done."

Advertising and Teaching

The task of being advertising supervisor has been Miss Wernli's responsibility besides continuing her classes on social studies. Her job has been to supervise her student staff on writing ads, soliciting for them, and publishing them in our Bumble "B" and Scroll. Her neatness in appearance and her efficiency in business organization are two of her many fine qualities.

The Pep Club

The Pep Club is an organization which has been our main morale builder during our memorable years in Boone High. Sponsors for the club have been Miss Pagel and her assistant, Miss Skilling. Both of these teachers have proved to be successful in providing the student body with the type of entertainment they all enjoy. May we extend our thanks to them, and may the good work continue in years to come.

Don Carter

It would take both a photograph and a phonograph to capture even a few of the talents of Don Carter. He is a musician, playing the saxophone, bassoon, and accompanying the chorus, a dancer, an actor, and a sports writer for the Bumble "B." But perhaps Boone High knows him best for his distinctive style of boogie-woogie. Don has a magnetic hold over his audience when he sits down at the piano and commences to make the place jump.

Pat Carlson

Perhaps we shall remember Pat Carlson most vividly with her violin placed under her chin. It is easy to recognize her regular features and the grace with which she plays. But no vision can capture the friendly twinkle in her eye or the sonorous strains of her violin. Her grades are tops, and she is so-o conscientious about her school work.

Coach Fisher: "Would you like to come out for football?"

Skinney Anderson: "I don't know enough about the game to play, but I'm willing to referee."
