Volume II, No. 6 Published by and for the Students of Boone Junior College, Boone, Iowa February 27, 1958

We're Growing!

The 22 new students bring the enrollment of Boone J. C. to 111 students, an increase of eight over last year. The men outnumber the women 71 to 40. There are 64 freshmen, 42 sophomores, and four part time students.

Of the courses offered, liberal arts has the largest enrollment with 55 students. In the other two courses offered there are 29 elementary education students, 22 pre-engineering, and five who are unclassified.

The statistics compiled on the number of students working their way through school show there are 27 men and 11 women earning all their expenses; 15 men and six women are earning half their expenses to attend school.

With the increase of high school graduates going on to college there should be an increase at Franklin Hall next fall.

Potluck Supper

The second annual potluck supper was enjoyed by members of the Delta Tau and their guests on Wednesday, February 19th, in the lounge.

The guests at the meeting were the second semester students who plan to enter the field of teaching.

A report was given by representatives to the delegate assembly at Des Moines.

Nancy McCambridge.

College Life

The person who thinks he is going to college and just have a ball all week and then go home on week-ends and lie in bed for two days is absolutely right. He or she will probably attend three or four classes a day, that is if

THE BEARDED MAN

'The Children'

The adult film for March 17th will be 'The Children.' This movie is held in the Boone J. C. Building.

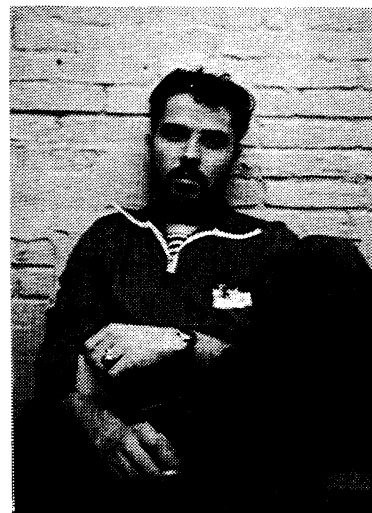

'The Children' is produced by S. Baumann; directed by Rold Husberg; adapted from the novel, 'Children of the Moor' by Laura Fitinghoff; featuring Hans Lindgren and 'Golden Horn,' the goat.

The deep humanity and gay, earthy humor of the book are fully realized in the film of this charming and sensitive tale of seven orphaned children and a pet goat trudging along the Swedish countryside in search of a home. Not the least of 'The Children's' charm is its scenic grandeur, its marvelous depiction of the four seasons—but, most of all, the film's universal appeal lies in the unforgettable faces of the children themselves. "... has a natural charm that's wholly moving, should please audiences of every age."—National Board of Review.

"It is a natural tale... to make women weep and strong men reach for their handkerchiefs."—New York 'Herald-Tribune.' "Wholesome picture... vivid story... handled with ingenious candor. Refreshing outdoor simplicity... children and adults will find it fascinating. All the people in this picture, and the goat, are genuine."—New York 'Times.'

There will be two showings of this film: 7:00 p.m. and 9:00 p.m.

The way to get at the merits of a case is not to listen to the fool who imagines himself impartial, but to get it argued with reckless bias, for and against.—G. B. Shaw.

Introducing one of our bearded students at the college. His name is Garold Stevens, a sophomore. He is sporting the beard for J. C.'s thirtieth anniversary celebration coming up February 26th and is aiming for the contest title for the best looking beard.

Garold is from Boone and also graduated from Boone High School in the class of '51.

His future plans are as follows: Work this summer in Arizona and then continue his education at Arizona University.

Garold's comments about the beard were: it saved him time by not having to shave and that it kept his face warm.

Lois Stetzel.

Lincoln's Day Coffee

A coffee in honor of Lincoln's birthday was held Wednesday, February 12th, in the J. C. lounge. The coffee was sponsored by the Social Science Department.

The table was appropriately decorated with a bronze bust of Lincoln, and candles of our national colors.

Newcomer's Viewpoints

As a newcomer to this city and college, my viewpoints are naturally limited, but what I have seen of this city certainly has impressed me and made me feel warm and welcome.

What appealed to me most was the friendliness as I strolled down the street. Even the little guys would speak as they went to school.

I thank all of the students, teachers, and people of this city for their thoughtfulness to a stranger. And I am sure that the rest of the new students agree with me on this point.

As school progresses, I hope I can prove myself an asset to the college. It certainly is a challenge for a newcomer and I hope to meet each obstacle with a sincere effort and hope that I can conquer some of my uncertainties.

they are not too tired from being out the night before, which doesn't really make much difference because there might be a couple of subjects that are boring.

After classes you can usually catch a couple of hours of sleep to be sure you're not too tired to have a little social life for the evenings. As far as social life goes there are movies, dances, parties, and other entertainments too numerous to mention.

Tv. is no good because that doesn't cost anything. Speaking of costs, it doesn't usually cost a student over five or six dollars a week to go to school; of course, if you run short you can always write a check on Dear Old Dad for a buck or so. Sounds good, doesn't it? Well, it can be done, but the most the student can ask out of the school is to learn how to be stupid intelligently.

From the Editor

This semester marks the second that 'Bear Facts' will be a printed issue. Our paper is now something of which to be proud. And for all of this, we of the student body can be thankful and proud of our first staff, the staff of 1957. They broke the ice for us and now we have the printed 'Bear Facts.'

In any publication there are costs which can't be avoided. The way by which a publication can make itself independent is through its advertisements. Without the advertisers, there could be no publication. Remember, these people who advertise are the people who make 'Bear Facts' possible. They care enough and are intelligent enough to see the potential buying power in this school, and so they advertise with us. So let's help those who help us, and do your buying with the people who advertise in 'Bear Facts.'

Boone J. C. Drops Thriller, 77-74

Boone lost its fourth game of the season to Webster City on the local court Friday, February 7th. This was the first game of the season that Webster City had won. The shooting averages of the two clubs were very even. Boone shot at a 44% clip and Webster City shot 47%. The Boone J. C.'s couldn't overcome the 10-point advantage held by Webster City at halftime. The leading scorers for Boone were: Jay Peterson with 23, Rich Byerly with 19, and Bill Johnstone with 14. Dale Boes.

Fort Dodge Edged Bears 84-82

The Boone J. C. Bears were edged out in the Junior College tournament by Fort Dodge, 84 to 82. The Bears led by a score of 11-8 at one time in the first half. One of the key baskets of the game was a desperation shot from 70 feet by Roy Anderson, of Fort Dodge. Jay Peterson was high point man with 27, and Jack Robertson dumped in 19 for the Boone Bears. Peter Pitsor was high point with 22 for the Fort Dodge team. The loss of this game was the end of Boone's tournament hopes, but we'll try again next year. Dick McCoy.

Dean Heyen Heads Cancer Drive

Mrs. Harold Honohan, general chairman of the Boone County Chapter of the American Cancer Society, announced that the chairman for the 1958 Cancer Drive would be Robert Heyen, Dean of Boone Junior College.

Mr. Heyen has been Dean of the Junior College since 1955. He is married and has three children.

He is a member of the following state and national organizations: American Humanist Association; Iowa Association for United Nations; American Civil Liberties Union; American Unitarian Association; Iowa Education Association; National Education Association; and the Pi Gamma Mu.

The school is proud to have a dean who is so active in civic affairs.

The Piano Is Back in Mr. Bissell's Room

After a lengthy battle, the administration finally returned the piano to Mr. Bissell's room. Mr. Bissell is quoted as saying, "It surely is nice to have it back after all this time." Mr. Bissell is also quoted as saying, "In the near future a pianist will be engaged to play rock and roll music during journalism class on Friday morning." So if our articles have a slight rock and roll touch to them, it is because our new pianist is playing high class music during journalism.
